Special Session Of Senate Convenes At Noon Today

QUORUM IS PRESENT AT ROLL CALL

TO TAKE UP TREATY

Presence of 58 Senators Is Surprising and Assures Immediate Pact Debate

WASHINGTON, July 7.—(UP)—Failure to ratify the London naval treaty would plunge the world backward from its progress toward peace, President Hoover told the senate in a special message today opening the session for consideration of the treaty.

Speedy action was urged upon the senate in the 1800-word document setting forth in detail Mr. Hoover's interpretation of the treaty and answering arguments which have been made against it by the comparatively small senate group which is fighting its ratification.

58 Are Present

Nine more senators than the 49 required to obtain a quorum answered the roll call today when the special treaty session summoned by President Hoover met at noon. This made certain the treaty debate would open at once.

Vice President Curtis appointed Senators Watson, Republican, Indiana, and Walsh, Democrat, Montana, to inform Mr. Hoover the senate was ready to receive any communications he might desire to make. The senate recessed for 15 minutes awaiting the president's message.

"This treaty does mark an important step in disarmament and in world peace," the president declared. "It is important for many reasons that it would be dealt with at once. The subject has been under discussion since the Geneva conference three years ago.

"The only alternative to this treaty is the competitive building of navies with all its flow of suspicion, hate, ill-will and ultimate disaster," the president declared.

SOUTHERN CROSS AT SANTA MARIA TODAY

SANTA MARIA, Calif., July 7.—(UP)—The Southern Cross, famous plane of the trans-oceanic flyer Major Charles Kingsford-Smith, will make its final landing here tomorrow morning to become a permanent exhibit at the Hancock Foundation School of Aviation, it was learned today.

The English pilot and his companions are to be guests of the city at a luncheon at which Kingsford-Smith will be presented with a silver chest.

The Southern Cross is to remain at the Hancock school as a gift of the major to Captain G. Allan Hancock, who backed his first flight to Australia.

HUSTON PLANS TO RESIGN AS G. O. P. LEADER

Resignation As Chairman of National Committee to Come in Few Days

WASHINGTON, July 7.—(UP)—Claudius Huston will resign as chairman of the Republican national committee this week, the United Press learned from a responsible source today.

This information was disclosed following a conference last night between President Hoover and Huston, the first they have had in weeks since the disclosures before the senate lobby committee revealed Huston had temporarily diverted Muscle Shoals lobbying funds to his personal stock market margin account.

Chairman Huston, when told by the United Press of this information, said he could "neither confirm nor deny a report of that nature."

He said he had no statement to make.

Meet Thursday

Officers of the Republican National committee will meet here Thursday, the meeting having been postponed from today by Huston. It was learned Huston's resignation will occur before or at this meeting.

Republican leaders have been trying for weeks to displace Huston. Disclosures of the senate lobby committee concerning Huston's activities in connection with the Tennessee River Improvement association, which was interested in Muscle Shoals legislation, created an unfavorable reaction among party leaders. They reported it was difficult to raise party funds for the congressional campaign so long as Huston retained control and Democrats were prepared to make what political capital they could out of the situation.

However, Huston rejected all hints from party leaders and insisted he would retain his post until President Hoover himself requested his resignation.

Hoover Is Host

The president had several party leaders including senate majority leader Watson, Assitant Leader McNary and Senator Fess, Republican, Ohio, at his week-end Rapidan camp. Fess had been mentioned as a possible successor to Huston. He denied the Huston affair was discussed with the president over the week end but Mr. Hoover, after arriving back at the White House Sunday night, summoned Huston for a long conference.

When the meeting here this week first was called, there were rumors Huston intended to announce his resignation at that time, but when it was indicated he had no such intention, President Hoover was represented as decding to take a personal hand in the matter.

The conference last night was regarded as the outgrowth of this decision.

Corruption Of Reporters To Be Probed

CHICAGO, July 7.—(UP)—State's Attorney John A. Swanson took cognizance today of insinuations of corruption within the ranks of Chicago newspapermen, which have become numerous since the murder of Alfred J. Lingle, Chicago Tribune reporter, and annoucned that he would ask the Cook county grand jury to investigate.

"I expect to call Harry T. Brundige, St. Louis Star reporter, before the grand jury to try to get at the truth of the charges he has written," Swanson told the United Press.

AVIATOR LOSES LIFE IN CRASH NEAR LAGUNA

Plane Goes Into Tail Spin at Emerald Bay Sunday Killing Flier

M. RICHARD (DICK) DODDS, 29, wealthy Beverly Hills aviator, and well known aircraft race enthusiast, was instantly killed at 2:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon when his bi-plane, in which he was riding alone, went into a tail spin and fell into Emerald bay, at Laguna Beach.

Although the cause of the accident is not definitely known, experienced aviators who witnessed the crash and others who heard about it, declared that they believed that the ship failed Dodd when he suddenly turned "down wind," in trying to make a landing at a small field owned by Florence Barnes, famous woman flyer, who lives at Laguna Beach.

When the ship was turned with the wind, it did not have the velocity to keep it upright, resulting in a tail spin, in the opinion of Eddie Martin, Santa Ana aviator, who was present a short time after the crash, and who landed on the field that Dodd was trying to reach.

Body Recovered

An hour and a half later, Dodd's body was recovered by deputy sheriffs who had been called to the scene. He was still strapped in the plane, showing that any effort he made to free himself from it had failed. There were several persons on the beach who said they saw him attempt to jump from the plane.

Dodd's plane fell a distance of 200 feet. He had endeavored to make the landing at the Barnes home and missing his distance, went out over the bay and turned around. It was on the turn that the ship failed and was seen to plunge into the ocean.

The ship stayed on top of the waves for the fraction of a second and then sank underneath. Later,

BOULDER DAM WORK STARTED THIS MORNING

Government Engineers Get Busy on Orders From Secretary Wilbur

WASHINGTON, July 7.—(UP)—Government engineers today began work on the giant Boulder dam project on the Nevada-Arizona state line, authorized by congress to provide flood control, irrigation and water power for the southwest and a water supply for Los Angeles, the interior department announced.

Beginning of construction on the dam, to be the largest in the world, was made possible by enactment of the second deficiency bill, which carried an appropriation of $10,660,000 for this purpose. Total cost of the dam and accompanying works will be $165,000,000.

Work Is Started

The project, which was authorized by congress two years ago in the Swing-Johnson bill, is to control floods in the Colorado river, to produce power for hundreds of communities in the southwest, to provide irrigation water for reclamation of thousands of acres of desert land and to give Los Angeles a domestic water supply.

Work was begun on order of Secretary of Interior Wilbur, who telegraphed the engineer in charge, Walter R. Young, immediately after Mr. Hoover signed the second deficiency bill. Young and his assistants already were on the ground awaiting Wilbur's order. Chief Engineer R. F. Walter of the Reclamation bureau is in Denver.

Launch Railroad

First work on the project consisted of beginning a railroad and construction roads, surveys of which already had been made. A complete town will be constructed for the use of men working on the dam and surveys for a water supply system also will be made.

Secretary Wilbur's order, directed to Elwood Mead, commissioner of reclamation said:

"You are directed to commence construction on Boulder dam today."

Wilbur said plans and specifications are being completed as rapidly as possible looking to the advertising for bids and the awarding of construction contracts at the earliest possible date.

Following completion of the work begun today on the railroad, construction roads, town site and water works, the money appropriated will be used to begin construction of the coffer dams and diversion tunnels, Wilbur said.

Wilbur, in announcing beginning of actual construction, said:

National Conquest

"Boulder dam will signalize a national conquest over the great American desert.

"With dollars, men and engineering brains we will build a great national resource. We will make geography and start a new era in the southwest.

"With Imperial valley no longer

Candidate for District Attorney Addresses Men's Bible Class Here

SPEAKING before a large audience at the service of the Men's Community Bible class yesterday morning in the Fox West Coast theater, Harry Westover, Santa Ana attorney pointed out the way to secure enforsement of law and declared that if citizens of Orange county were satisfied with conditions as they were the thing to do was to retain the present office holders in power, but that if they were not, they should elect qualified candidates who were sincere in their efforts and who would give better law enforcement.

Endorses League

Westover, who is a candidate for the post of district attorney in the coming primaries, also forcefully endorsed the formation of the Law Enforcement League of Orange county and declared that he favored the things they were trying to do, regardless of what action they took. He averred that the church people of the county were being aroused and were going to play an important part in the approaching elections. Members of the class showed their approval of his remarks concerning law enforcement by interrupting his address at several points by hearty applause.

Following the address, W. B. Martin, class president, stated that he was very glad Westover had been present and stated that the class would follow its policy of continuing with a program of law enforcement and Christian citizenship, regardless of how the elections turned out. He pointed out that Westover appeared as a speaker in a series of monthly discussions by outside persons on good government and Christian citizenship.

Volunteers Wanted

Prefacing his address with the remark that the fight was on and that volunteers were wanted, Westover asserted that the biggest question before the American people today is prohibition. "It is the biggest question before the public since the days of slavery," he declared. Some have said that prohibition was put over while the soldiers were out of the country and the result would have been different if they had been here. That is a lot of poppycock, for congress and the state legislatures put over the matter and the voters were not called on in the matter. And besides, I was in the army and I know that there were many who favored its adoption just as there were those who opposed it.

"Many drys, after passage of the amendment took the attitude that the fight was won and were inclined to sit back and rest. They met disappointment, for the fight was not won, the battlefront had just been changed. Before passage of the amendment the wets were in power, authorized by law and entrenched behind the battlements

GOVERNOR YOUNG TO DECIDE ON MOONEY'S PARDON PLEA ON TUESDAY OR WEDNESDAY

LOS ANGELES, July 7.—(UP)—The decision of Gov. C. C. Young on the pardon application of Tom Mooney probably will be made either Tuesday or Wednesday, it was said at the governor's office here today.

The governor spent considerable time over the week-end studying the report in which the state supreme court acted unfavorably on the plea for pardon made by Warren K. Billings, who was convicted with Mooney or having participated in the San Francisco Preparednes Day bombing in 1926.

Governor Young halted his perusal of the review long enough to deny that the supreme court's action in the Billings case necessarily meant a denial of the Mooney plea.

"I have never said I would not pardon Mooney if the supreme court justices did not recommend a pardon for Billings," Governor Young stated. "I have said, however, that the report would have a strong influence on the Mooney application."

The court's decision left the governor powerless to act in the Billings case since Billings stood twice convicted of felonies and under the state law a person twice convicted must get the supreme court's approval before the governor can act.

Money, however, has only one conviction against him which leaves the governor free to act as he wishes.

It is said at the state offices here that Governor Young already was at work drawing up his decision regarding Mooney.

He has given no indication of his course of action.

CROWBOROUGH, Sussex, England, July 7—(UP)—Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, creator of Sherlock Holmes, died today at 71.

The author whose fictional detective has thrilled millions for more than 40 years succumbed to heart disease at his home, Windlesham, at 9:15 a. m. after an illness of about two months which left him utterly prostrated since Saturday.

Sir Arthur left the world still a devout believer in spiritualism and life after death. Undoubtedly he hoped to "return" and communicate with friends from the other side of the grave. Whatever his hopes, it was certain that Conan Doyle would continue to live through his undying detective character, whom he once tired of and "killed" in a book, only to be forced to bring him back to life because of the demands of readers who never tired of the marvellous Holmes.

Over-taxed Strength

Sir Arthur was believed to have over-taxed his strength during a lecture tour of South America which ended eight months ago. When he returned from the tour, which was devoted to discussions of spiritualism, he was forced to remain in bed for some time and since then had not been able to leave his residence. For the most part he was confined to his room but occasionally was able to walk slowly on the veranda.

Although some concern was felt for him two months ago, his condition was not believed to be serious until Saturday when the heart attacks returned and prostrated him. His breathing became difficult and he sank steadily. Toward the end he was semi-conscious.

He had continued writing in recent months but was able to do little because of his weakness. Some of his last efforts were deted to spiritpuoTnamhenuptocwgh voted to spiritualistic subjects.

Revives Character

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's career as doctor, journalist and spiritualist was overshadowed by a figure he built up in the minds of fiction-lovers throughout the world—Sherlock Holmes, the detective, and his ever-faithful Watson. Sir Arthur created Holmes with his peaked cap and pipe in "A Study in Scarlet" which was an instantaneous success. Before the shrewd detective had run his course the author confessed that he was sick of his famous character and killed him

HOOVER NOT TO TAKE PART IN FALL BALLOTS

WASHINGTON, July 7.—(UP)—An unusually extensive campaign to sell the accomplishments of President Hoover's administration to the country is being inaugurated this week by the regular Republican leaders, the United Press learned today. The campaign is to be conducted via the radio, the press and the political stump.

Mr. Hoover has decided against taking a personal part in the campaign, his leaders having been informed he will not make his anticipated tour of the west's national parks and the farm belt. He will make no speeches of a political nature during the summer recess of congress, these leaders say.

That job has been turned over to two Indiana Republican stalwarts, Floor Leader Watson of the senate and Rep. Will Wood, chairman of the Republican congressional campaign committee.

Watson will start work Thursday with a speech over a national radio hookup. His subject will be "The Achievements of the Hoover Administration." A statement on this topic was issued today through the Republican National committee by Rep. Temple, Repn., Pa., newly appointed chairman of the house foreign affairs committee. Temple, however, confined his encomiums to the international field, asserting the administration had to its credit to major achievements since Mr. Hoover became president 16 months ago.

Negotiations of the London naval treaty headed the list.

18 PERSONS ARE INJURED OVER SUNDAY

Long Beach Man Passes As Result of Accident in County Saturday Night

ELEVEN ACCIDENTS

Prominent Santa Ana Resident Hurled from Sedan When Hit By Car

TWO PERSONS were killed and 18 others injured in a series of 11 automobile accidents reported in and near Santa Ana over the week end, the accidents being of a more serious nature than at any week-end during the past six months.

J. Edmund Snow, 55, prominent Santa Ana realtor, residing at 407 West First street and a pioneer Santa Ana citizen, was instantly killed at 7:30 o'clock last night when the automobile he was driving was struck by a car driven by Herman Millerat, 19, of Anaheim, Route No. 4, at the intersection of Haster street and the Katella road.

Snow was knocked from his sedan and the wheels of the Millerat machine pinned him to the ground. A crushed chest was said to have been the cause of death.

Mrs. Snow, who was riding with her husband at the time, was slightly injured. She was taken to the Orange County hospital, given first aid treatment and then taken to her home.

Didn't See Car

According to a report made at the sheriff's office by young Millerat, he was traveling on Haster street, on his way home, when he reached the Katella intersection. He said he saw no other machine and did not see the lights from the Snow car, if they were on. Suddenly, the car sped across the intersection at a rate of speed that he estimated to be 50 miles an hour. Before he could apply his breaks, his machine had crashed into the side of the Snow machine. Snow was pitched out and thrown under the wheels of the Millerat roadster.

22 CADETS ESCAPE IN AUTO ACCIDENT

GIANT FOREST, SEQUOIA, Calif., July 7.—(UP)—An investigation was being made here today of the accident Saturday night in which 22 cadets from the Urban Military academy of Los Angeles barely escaped death. A preliminary probe revealed the driver of the bus the boys were in had probably applied his brakes while making a sharp turn and had caused the heavy machine to topple over. Only one member of the party, William Summerland, was still under doctors' care at the Sequoia hospital at Woodlake, where the injured were taken. He was suffering from brain concussion and a possible skull fracture.

POSITION OF REGISTER ON PERSONALTIES OF CANDIDATES

Orange county is in the beginning of a political contest which is stirring the interest of its citizens to their profoundest depths. There has been a knowledge on the part of many that from the standpoint of law enforcement, Orange county does not enjoy in the state and elsewhere, the enviable reputation which the character of her citizens would warrant.

This is undoubtedly due to the neglect of many of her people, of their civic duties on the day of the primary, or at least not exercising a discrimination and an interest that would warrant candidates for important offices to believe that they would have support if they came out strongly for law enforcement.

That condition is entirely changed. Through a questionnaire, which was submitted to the candidates by the Women's Christian Temperance Union, the attitudes of candidates for sheriff and district attorney have become known. And there is a lineup of the forces in the county in respect to this issue which will undoubtedly be heard from in no uncertain way on the day of the primaries.

That some people are interested primarily in men and in candidates and secondarily in issues is a fact that may be deprecated but it is nevertheless true. Through personalities and individuals organizations are built up and loyalties of a personal character are effected. It is more interesting and appealing, possibly, to emphasize candidates rather than principles for which the candidates stand. We as individuals may be for candidates, but representing an institution as this paper is, we feel that we should hesitate about insisting that one candidate and one candidate only represents the ideals for which the paper stands. The same spirit undoubtedly dominates those men and women, who speak in an official manner, for any organized groups. It does become necessary sometimes in order to give success to a cause to unite upon one of the candidates who represents that cause, in order to insure the defeat of one of the opposing candidates. We feared that that condition might arise in Orange county, and so we declared sometime ago that we were going to stand for those candidates who stood right, and we would stand for one of them against the other providing the leaders of the movement designated one as against the other.

A group of such met at Anaheim sometime ago, and announced themselves for two of these candidates—Mr. Logan Jackson for sheriff and Mr. Harry Westover for district attorney. We believe these two men are estimable men, but we did not come out on their behalf as against the other candidates, and we do not propose to do so editorially, and for the following reasons:

First, because to do anything against any one of the candidates who is right as against any other would be manifestly unfair, as we have said above, unless it was necessary to do so in order to win for the cause which is larger than the individual. This is not true in this case.

We believe we can assume that 50 per cent of the total vote of Orange county is favorable to President Hoover's position, to the attorney general of the United States' position, to the enforcement of law. If this is not true, then we couldn't win at election time in the county with any candidate, and there wouldn't be any sense in selecting one as against the other. If this be true, and the law enforcement people deposit into the ballot box on primary day a majority vote for their two candidates for district attorney, one of them is bound to be one of the candidates who will appear on the ticket in November. It cannot be otherwise, mathematically.

Let us assume that 1000 is the total number of votes cast. Granting that our candidates receive 500 and the other candidates receive 500, one of our two men must receive 251 votes or better, and if either one of the other two receives more than that, his companion must receive less, so that one of our candidates would be bound to be in the run-off, for two high men will be in the finals.

The same is true in respect to the sheriff's race. Two candidates for sheriff have qualified, as representing the spirit of law observance, but there are seven candidates running, so that if 50 per cent of the vote of the county is cast for the two candidates, the other 50 per cent must be divided among five candidates. It would be utterly impossible for more than one candidate among the five to receive as many votes as one of the candidates of the two.

The consequence is if 50 per cent of the vote of this county is cast consciously for both law observance and for individual candidates, one for sheriff and one for district attorney will represent this group in the final run-off. For those of us who contend that we are standing for the principle, this certainly is sufficient. If the names had not been filed; if they did not have to appear on the ticket; if it were long enough before the filing so that active work could be done to have one of the candidates voluntarily agree to not run, the situation would be entirely different, but they cannot withdraw themselves even if they should want to.

Their lives, their records and their desires square with the principles which are espoused by The Register. We will be for the candidates in the primaries and all of them who have so qualified, and after the primaries we shall naturally support the ones who are so qualified, whom the majority of like-minded people have placed on the ticket. This is fair and right to the candidates, true to the principles and in harmony with our own purposes.

Sixteen Year Old Boy Rescues Two From Drowning

LAD SWIMS TO CAPSIZED BOAT OUT 600 YARDS

Two Los Angeles men, Edward Tarantino, 21, and W. L. Williams, 30, on the verge of drowning in the ocean, off the shore between Newport Beach and Huntington Beach, yesterday afternoon, were saved miraculously when 16-year-old Charles Butler, also of Los Angeles, swam out to where their fishing boat had overturned and, with the aid of a life guard cylinder, which he took with him, managed to bring both men to shore, while a large crowd stood on the beach and cheered him.

The rescue was declared to be the most spectacular witnessed at the beach in Orange county this year and stamped young Butler as a hero.

Butler swam out 600 yards from the beach before reaching the overturned boat.

After the men were brought to the shore, Newport Beach life guards worked over them for some time before they were resusciated. Both had suffered from cramps while in the water and their condition was serious for some time afterwards.

Tarantino and Williams were thrown into the water when their smal boat was struck by a ground swel it was reported

LATHROP BIDS ARE ASKED BY SCHOOL BOARD

Plans and specifications for improvements and additions at the Julia Lathrop Junior High school were advertised today by the Santa Ana board of education. It was hoped that contracts for the work at the new Frances Willard Junior High school plant could be advertised at the same time, but plans were not ready in time to permit this procedure.

Work at the Lathrop school covered by the advertised plans includes erection of a new unit with eight class rooms located at the rear of the main building, construction of a new cafeteria at the north of the main building, and remodeling of the present cafeteria to provide an adequate music room. The work is estimated by the architects at approximately $130,000, it is reported.

Plans for the new Willard plant are expected to be presented to the board of education for final approval of that body at its session tomorrow evening in the school administration offices.

Regular summer repairs to buildings of the city school system are being carried on now under the direction of R. H. Drake, superintendent of buildings and grounds. Desks at the Poly High school are being refinished as part of the summer rehabilitation program.

PUT DRY MEN IN OFFICE IS URGENT PLEA

of law and public opinion, with the drys making assaults against them. Now it is just reversed. But if those in favor of the dry movement are content to rest on their laurels they will discover they are losing the attainments of many years of struggle.

Must Be Enforced

"Some people seem to think they have the right to pick out the laws they like or dislike and determine to observe them on this basis. Recently a man told me that the law should be enforced or repealed, and I am nearly of that opinion myself, for if it is enforced it will either cause a great wave of approval and support or a like wave of dissatisfaction and its repeal. It is as much a part of the law of the land as the law against slavery and should be equally respected and observed. People have no right to say what laws they will not observe, and those who say that they don't obey it are striking at the very foundations of America.

"Others criticising the amendment are saying that it is unjust, undesirable and should not be enforced. The answer to them is if they have any better method, let them advance it. The trouble here is that they have nothing to take its place. It is all right to make a change if we have something better to place in its stead. We don't say that the 18th amendment is a perfect law—there will always be criticism against any law. When Moses brought the Ten Commandments to his people there were doubtless some who didn't like them and said they wouldn't obey them. Yet they have stood the test of the ages and are recognized as good now as when they were written.

Those who are most seriously criticizing the amendment are criticizing the wrong thing. They say it is no good and what they are talking about is probably enforcement. Failure of enforcement is the topic of discussion all over the country. When they are asked to point out failures they find it is not the law itself, but enforcement.

Elect Dry Officers

"There are a lot of hypocrits on the matter, and I have no sympathy for those who vote dry and drink and act wet, from congress down to the lowest voter. Investigation of records of many officials will show that they vote dry and drink wet. The law cannot be enforced as long as they are in power. The man in charge of enforcement who seems to be dry, yet drinks, is one of the greatest obstacles to enforcement. If you want the law enforced, place in office men whom you know to be—after investigating — are really, as well as professedly, dry.

"The W. C. T. U. in this county early in the campaign sent out a questionnaire on the matter, stating that those who failed to answer would be regarded as being on the other side of the fence. Some candidates have answered this and taken an out and out dry stand. They are in absolute sympathy with strict enforcement. Those who have not answered have just as definitely lined up with the other side. Voters have a right to know if the candidates vote dry and act wet.

"There, I believe, is the big issue. If you can place people in office who believe in prohibition and enforcement, then you will get it. If you elect those who are on the other side they will feel that you don't want the law enforced, and it won't be.

Much Dissatisfaction

"Voters in San Clemente recently told me they were satisfied with the way things were going and don't want a change. If the voters of this county as a whole are satisfied with the way things are running, then the thing to do is to return men to their offices. There has been throughout the county widespread dissatisfaction with the way laws are enforced and the way things are handled. I believe the people of the churches and Sunday schools this year feel that it is time for them to take part in the political situation. They are becoming aroused and have come to the conclusion that they must get busy and see that those who favor enforcement must be elected. If the law is ever enforced in this county, it will be because the church people, the W.C.T.U. and other like organizations get behind a dry program and see that the right candidates are placed in power.

"Several days ago there met at Garden Grove a group of people from all over the county, about seventy-five in number, who formed what is called the Law Enforcement League of Orange County. I did not know of the meeting and I was not present. I know only a few who were present. I do not know who the League is going to endorse for office, if any one, and I do not know whether they are going to endorse my candidacy. Regardless of whether they endorse me or not, I wish to say to you, and to the citizens of Orange county as well, that I endorse the thing the Law Enforcement League is trying to do."

"It is necessary for those who believe in law enforcement to get together in a well organized group and throw their united strength behind the candidates who stand for law enforcement. If the people of Orange county are satisfied with the manner in which law enforcement has been handled, then the thing to do is to return to office those who are now in office. However if the people of Orange county believe that there should be more strict law enforcement then it is up to the voters of the county to make a change. If no change is made, then the citizens of Orange county will place their stamp of approval on the way the affairs of the county have been handled, and will commend those who are now in charge of law enforcement for the manner in which they have been handling their officers."

off, only to be forced by popular demand to revive him.

Later in life—after the death of his son in the World war—Sir Arthur turned to spiritualism and became one of its foremost advocates. He devoted himself to intense study of "spirit" messages and was a firm believer in the ability of mediums to communicate with the dead. On several lecture tours to the United States spiritualism was the main theme of his talks.

Sir Arthur was born at Edinburg May 22, 1859, and inherited from his father, an artist who contributed to Punch, and his uncle, a writer, a certain talent for literary things. He took medical examinations at Edinburgh university, however, and went into a hospital. The family resources were small and he was forced to undergo many hardships.

One of the most unusual cases connected with his life was the actual experience of Oscar Slater, who was imprisoned for murder. Sir Arthur heard of his protests that he was not guilty soon after the man was convicted at Glasgow in 1909. He set about collecting evidence to free Slater, who had convinced the author that he was not guilty of killing an aged woman. After 18 years Slater was released and the government paid his $30,000 compensation, chiefly due to Sir Arthur's efforts in the role of a real Sherlock Holmes.

Sir Arthur was knighted in 1902. His first wife was Louise Hawkins whom he married in 1885 and they had one daughter.

In 1907 he married Jean Leckie and two sons and a daughter were born to them.

Report New Case Of Paralysis To Health Officer

One new case of infantile paralysis appeared on the records at the office of Dr. K. H. Sutherland, county health officer today. The latest victim, Betty Dyckman, eight years old, of Rochester street, Costa Mesa, was quarantined at her home Saturday.

Dr. Murray Bates, of the health office, is investigating several suspected cases today. Additional information at the health department revealed the fact that Imogene Stone, 22, who was quarantined July 4, left Claremont college June 17 and was a resident at Cottage City, Laguna Beach.

Health officials are continuing to issue warnings against permitting children to congregate in groups and are urging that they be kept at home.

it came to the surface. Several boats in the bay at the time almost reached it, before it went down.

The boats and the number of volunteers from the beach dragged the ship through the water to the shore, where Dodd's body was found in the cockpit. The body reached the shore at 4:46 p. m. Dr. Mason pronounced Dodd's death from a broken neck.

Dodd, with a number of friends, including E. R. Cheeseman, Lt. Col. in the quartermaster corps, U. S. Army, and a party of five, which also included Mrs. Barnes and Gladys O'Donnell, well known woman flyer, left Clover Field yesterday morning. They stopped at Long Beach and had lunch and the party were enroute to Mrs. Barnes' home at the time.

Alone In Plane

Dodd was in one ship and the remainder of the party were in another. They witnessed the tragedy from the air, circled, went back to Long Beach and then drove in an automobile to Laguna, where they identified the body.

Among eye witnesses to the accident were Dana Lamb, life guard at Laguna Beach, Fred Steegar, Los Angeles, a bather, and several others whose names were not taken.

A coroner's jury, in an inquest over the body at the Minter Undertaking parlors at Laguna Beach this morning, returned a verdict of accidental death, caused when "the plane he was flying went into a tail spin and fell into Emerald Bay."

Dodd was well known in Santa Ana. He had landed at the Eddie Martin Airport here a number of times and was a friend to employes of the airport.

Martin Searches

Martin, hearing of the accident flew to Laguna for the purpose of aiding in the search of the plane, but the body had been recovered when he arrived.

"The airport there is much too small. I had warned Dodd about it and he told me that he would not try to land there. He missed his mark and in my opinion lost control of the ship when he turned "down wind" in turning back to try to make another landing," Martin said.

Dodd was well known in aviation circles as a race enthusiast. He had assisted in arranging a number of airplane races in and around Los Angeles, and himself won a cup at Los Angeles on Memorial day in a race. He was an experienced flier.

No funeral arrangements have been made.

DEATHS

A WORD OF COMFORT

When your heart cries out to know of the welfare of your best beloved and you try to imagine what it must mean to be with God, think of Jesus Christ as men and women knew Him when He walked this earth—for God is like that.

The Master, as they called Him, forgave and comforted and consoled. He healed the sick and the broken in heart. He always understood and was touched by human need. He suffered with those who sorrowed because He loved them. He bestowed the power to triumph over all that would fetter and limit a soul. He triumphed over all weakness.

Then realize that you too may have all this, if you will hold close to Him, to fit you for a life of eternity with the one you love the best.

SNOW—July 6th, 1930, J. Edmund Snow, of 407 W. First St. Notice of funeral will be given later by Smith and Tuthill.

ALL CONCRETE WORK FINISHED BY CONTRACTOR

With the Griffith company today completing the pouring of concrete, indications pointed to the possibility of Santa Ana boulevard being thrown open to public traffic on Friday, July 25, according to Clyde Jenken, city engineer.

It is possible Flower street will be made available to the public within a month, as the Griffith company was scheduled to start concrete work on that street at noon today, following completion of the cement work on the new artery into Santa Ana from the north.

The concrete bridge across San tiago creek and the wooden structure across the Santa Ana river are ready to carry the burden of traffic that will develop on the new thoroughfare when it is opened, the engineer said. The Flower street bridge also is complete. It is a concrete structure.

The chamber of commerce is planning an event for celebrating completion and opening of the highway, but as yet nothing of a definite character has been developed. George Raymer, secretary of the chamber, said that the committee would meet Wednesday to discuss and develop plans for the celebration.

Opening and improving of the boulevard was the cause of the first and only recall election ever held in Santa Ana, and failure met an attempt by opponents of the improvement to have the five members of the city council removed because they provided for the improvement by creation of an assessment district, the boundary lines of which are co-incident with those of the boundaries of the city.

The contract price for the improvement, including Flower street, is $282,900. Opponents responsible for the recall election declared that the council should have submitted to the voters a proposition involving such a large sum of money.

The new highway parallels the Southern Pacific tracks from a point near the county hospital to North Main street, and offers a more direct entrance to the city than the present highway by way of Orana.

An ornamental lighting system and planting of ornamental trees are included in the program. The street will be paved 56 feet between curbs, the width being the same as that obtaining on the reconstructed state highway between Santa Ana and Anaheim.

FIRST MEETING HELD TODAY ON EQUALIZATION

Convening for its annual session as the board of equalization the county board of supervisors at noon today met in the court house to consider the matter of valuations on the assessment rolls which might be subject to protest from tax payers throughout the county.

The group, acting as the board of equalization, has the power to raise or lower assessed valuations as placed on property holdings in the county by the County Assessor James Sleeper, upon protest or applacation of interested taxpayers. The board will be in session for the next two weeks, maintaining a constant quorum in order to take care of business that may be brought before the body, according to members of the board.

Only individual cases that are brought up before the board for consideration, can be changed on the assessment rolls, and the county board of equalization is not permitted to make horizontal increases or decreases in the amounts of the valuations, according to county officials.

County Assessor James Sleeper and his chief deputy, Morris Enderle, delivered the 33 books containing the assessment rolls of the county to the supervisors' room shortly before noon, together with the index whereby the assessment of any tax payer may be located in the cumbersome records. There are some 70,000 names and assessments on the rolls, Sleeper indicated.

The total assessed valuation of property in the county is the subject of speculation among county officials, who are questioning as to whether it will exceed or fall below the figures last year, which was $179,460,750, including $5,468,715 of intangible property. The staff of the assessor's office is working to get this figure totaled and expects to have it ready to be announced tomorrow.

The force in the office of County Auditor William Jerome, is hard at work making preparations to add to the assessment rolls the amounts due for city property improvement assessments as determined by the various cities in the county for whom the county collects taxes along with the county tax. These include Santa Ana, Seal Beach, Fullerton and San Clemente. The force of employs is preparing these additional items so that the task of placing them on the rolls after the board of equalization has released the books may be facilitated.

Another heavy task that faces the auditor's office is that of preparing the totals of assessed valuations for the various county subdivisions, such as city, school, road and special districts, cemetery, drainage, fire, library, lighting, protection and water districts. Each one has to have listed and totalled the assessed valuation of property within its particular confines.

In view of the general re-appraisement of the county that has been proposed following the recommendation in some quarters that there is anticipation of the last grand jury, ters that the business of the board of equalization this year may be unusually heavy.

Catch 1400 Pounds Of Smelt In Hour

HANOVER, N. H., July 7—(INS)—However true, it's still a fish story.

About 1400 pounds of smelts in one hour by means of a small net is some catch—but so goes the story of E. M. Allan, "Roll" Lewin and the writer of a local newspaper, upon their return here recently from a week-end fishing trip.

In an article, the writer relates his story of the trip but does not reveal the position of the lake from which the trio netted their huge haul other than to state it was ninety miles from Hanover. This may seem to exceed the the legal limit, but in this particular pond there is no limit, except that six quarts to a dip in broad daylight was the minimum.

The local scribe goes on to state the distribution of the delectable fish to residents of this city. There follows a list of the recipients beginning with the name of a local cafe having received one bushel of the prize catch and continuing on through a large section of the Hanover directory.

VAN BARON GETS PRISON SENTENCE

George Van Baron, who was found guilty of a charge of forgery last Tuesday by a jury trying his case, appeared before Judge James L. Allen in superior court today and started proceedings to secure freedom. A motion of arrest of judgment was filed first in behalf of the prisoner, which was denied by the court. He then filed a motion asking for a new trial. This also received an adverse decision from the bench.

Von Baron then was sentenced by Judge Allen to San Quentin prison for the term prescribed by law, which is one to 14 years. The prisoner stood mute during his interrogation preparatory to sentence, refusing to answer the questions. Von Baron's trial and conviction grew out of his alleged act in forging a check for $36 last May. He was arrested by Anaheim police on June 20.

The second star boat race in the Independence day series was sailed on the ocean course Saturday, starting at 2:29 p. m.

A good full sail breeze from the west was blowing at the start, and the fleet of 12 were sent away to port, around the irregular shaped diamond of the official course. This made a course of somewhat over six miles almost four of which were to windward.

The start was down wind and Webster, in Tom Robin, went over in the smoke of the gun, closely followed by Keith and Beardslee.

A luffing match developed at once and over half of the boats were apparently headed for San Clemente. As in the previous race, all the starters overlooked the opportunity to take the leeward end of the line for the start, but Keith and the old 297 laid off to leeward, and went on about their business heading for the mark.

The boats presented a beautiful picture as they hauled up to round, the entire fleet pointing up almost as a single boat. On the first long leg on the beat, all the boats but Temple Murphy elected to swing down the coast on the port tack. Hubbard slowly but surely opened up a gap so that when he rounded the bouy off Newport pier, he was a little over a minute to the good.

As the boats approached the Balboa pier, it was seen that Hubbard was a boat's length ahead of Webster, while Keith was a cose third. Webster took a leg out and stood out too far into the current so that when Keith came about and stood off the land Webster was forced into third place. The current was running strong down the coast off shore and the boats standing out had an additional amount of drift to overcome. The race was sailed in the exceptionally short time of one hour, 58 minutes and eight seconds, considering the course used.

Hubbard sailed his usual dependable race, while Keith did exceptionally well, and Bartholmae, with three seconds in five races, is looking up among the fast ones.

Sunday's race was the third and last of the Independence day series and the final results of the series are as follows:

1	Tempe IV	735 Hubbard	45
2	Tom Robin	296 Webster	38
3	Vega	742 Lyons	36
4	All Star	628 Keith	35
5	Turtle Star	568 Bartholmae	33

12	Sirius	428 Murphy	12
13	Intrepid	348 Modisette	5
14	Tempe I	328 Merriman	4
dnf	Pleiades	429 Garner	..

The breeze was moderate at the start and throughout the first round of the triangular course off Newport, but freshened during the second lay until the rail was under and the sails showed wet along the foot. The Intrepid carried away a jib stay and was three minutes late for the starting gun.

Tommie Webster again got the start, but was so crowded on both sides that he was hindered somewhat in shaking himself loose. Hubbard passed the windward mark 45 seconds in the lead, but Lyons gained 18 seconds on the run before the wind. On rounding the home mark Keith stood out to sea far enough to keep to windward of the approaching fleet, but got too far out in the current and lost almost two minutes, just like Webster did yesterday. On the last beat out Lyons split tacks with Hubbard, but lost a little instead of gaining, but it was figuring right, for he did not carry on far enough to jeapardize his position, and he might have gotten a slant which would have enabled him to catch Hubbard. Keith's consistent work is being commented on, as this is his second season, and third, fifth and fourth in the series just finished, with fourth place, just one point behind third, is good work. The finish and standing in the elimination series are:

No.	Name	No.	Skipper	Pts.
1	Temple IV	723	Hubbard	14
2	Vega	742	Lyons	13
3	Tom Robin	296	Webster	12
4	All Star	628	Keith	11
5	Turtle Star	568	Bartholmae	10
6	Moira	526	Beardslee	9

9	Estranino	767	C.T.Murphy	6
10	Mart	591	Rice	5
11	Intrepid	348	Modisette	4
12	Tempe I	328	Merriman	3
13	Pleiades	429	Garner	dnf
14	Sirius	428	Murphy	withd'n

In rounding the weather mark the first time round, Murphy followed Bearslee around a little too closely, and had his jib stay tipped by the boom of the Moira when she jibbed. No harm was done but Murphy, like a good sport, pulled out for home and threw up his chance of the elimination series. I won't say with a smile, for those things hurt too much to laugh at, but there is a kind of good feeling that comes over one after the first disappointment scatters, that rather relieves the sting.

Our flawless record through the good times and bad of 41 years is a matter of common knowledge. Our present conservatism, liquidity and strength may be gauged by such factors as these:

Voluntary cash and bond reserves of over five million dollars, exclusive of other cash on hand . . . no bank indebtedness . . . invested capital totaling three million dollars . . . furniture and fixtures and real estate accounts carried at $1 . . . a loan rate of 7%, bringing to us the choicest first lien collateral being offered to any California building and loan association.

STEADFASTNESS IS SUBJECT OF PASTOR'S TALK

In his sermon at Broadway and Walnut Street Church of Christ yesterday morning, James H. Lewell, minister, spoke on "Steadfastness," taking for his text First Corinthians 15:58: "Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye steadfast, unmovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labor is not in vain in the Lord." He said in part:

"I believe that is one of the most difficult commands be have to obey, steadfastness being one of the rarest of virtues. The word carries with it the same idea as the word 'steady,' as opposed to the spasmodic, hap hazard way of doing things. Most of us have the ability to rise to the occasion in times of emergency and meet the demand upon us. In family life we can make sacrifices of our comfort and convenience in times of sickness or trouble, but the test of human love and affection is the ability to meet, with unfailing patience and kindness the petty annoyances of daily life. It is fine to observe Mother's day by some special token of affection for mother—a gift, a loving message, a card or a letter—but the test of our devotion to mother is the care and consideration we show her 365 days in the year.

"The same is true of our church life. It is an easy matter to serve the Lord for a season, when crowds are present and enthusiasm runs high, but the test of our love and loyalty to the Lord is our ability to be regular and faithful and diligent in serving the Lord when the special occasion is past, the crowds disappear and the enthusiasm has died down. The test is not spasmodic, spectacular service, but regular, steady work in the service of the Lord month in and month out, year in and year out. When we can work this way, we are approaching the Bible standard of steadfastness."

Mexicans Sought After Battle In Talbert Region

Deputy Sheriffs today were seeking three Mexicans, said to have been the ring leaders in a disturbance reported at Talbert on Saturday night, when a window was broken and a woman was hit in the head.

Sheriff Sam Jernigan and several deputies rushed to the town, on receipt of a riot call, but could not find the offenders, who were believed to have been drunk on marijuana, it was reported.

Marie Marquis, of Talbert, reported that one of the men hit her over the head in the skirmish and tried to rob her. A window was broken in the restaurant operated by Martha Benaviades, Sheriff Jernigan said, reporting that one of the men threw a brick through it.

AIR MALES 'TAKE OFF'

Here's what the well-undressed males will wear this summer for dives through the clouds. This picture shows how Johnny Kytle, left, and Dick Merrill, plane clothes men on the New York-Washington-Atlanta air mail line, will dress when they pilot Uncle Sam's postal service at high altitudes. Heat from the engines of their planes has made this sky-bathing attire necessary.

JAILED ON CHARGE OF CHILD STEALING

Charged with child stealing, the child in the case being his own two year old daughter Elaine, George Bullock, 43, wealthy Pasadena engineer, was arrested last night by Sheriff Sam Jernigan, at 3126 Logan street, where he is said to have hidden the child.

The baby also was found and taken into custody for the time being. Several hours later Pasadena police officers, who had been seeking Bullock, arived here and returned him to the Pasadena jail.

According to a story Bullock told Sheriff Jernigan, at the time he was arrested, there never had been a court order which kept him from the child. He said he was not guilty of the charge. He was arrested on a warrant from the Pasadena police.

The child was alleged to have been stolen by the father a week ago. Since that time, the father has been moving her from one town to another, it is said. The mother lives at 741 Sunset street, Pasadena.

FIREWORKS IN CAR SURPRISE YOUTHS

Two Pomona youth, Kenneth Hill and Frank Beck, were seriously burned about the body, arms and legs, Saturday afternoon when a number of fire crackers, in the back end of their machine exploded, while their car was passing the Orange County hospital.

They were taken into the hospital, where their injuries were treated, and later were removed to their homes.

State Traffic Officer Douglas Chambers, who was passing the hospital at the time, saved the youth's car, which had caught fire, using his pyrene extinguisher, which is now part of the equipment on state motorcycles.

WITHOUT A CUT

BUDAPEST, July 7.—At the international barbers' competition contest here recently a new world's champion barber was crowned. This barber finished his "victim" in 43 seconds, giving him a complete shave during that interval. The previous record was 45 seconds.

CHILD SERIOUSLY BURNED AT BEACH

The two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Clark, of Los Angeles, was seriously burned about the body, arms and legs yesterday afternoon while on the sand just south of Huntington Beach, when she got into a can of lime that was left on the sands.

The child was rushed to the office of a Huntington Beach physician and was given first aid treatment, later being removed to her home.

A. L. Steward, deputy sheriff, who made an investigation of the case, reported that he would turn the case over to the county health department with an idea that a complaint would be lodged against a beach club, which formerly occupied the spot and which is believed to be responsible for leaving the lime on the beach.

Punch Board At Store Is Stolen

Thieves who broke into the store of J. F. Hamblin, near the Anaheim city limits, sometime Saturday, stole a punch board and all its prizes, worth $100, and several cartons of cigarets and boxes of candy, according to a report made to the sheriff's office.

A. L. Steward, deputy sheriff, made an investigation. He reported that Hamblin, who lives next door to the store, was out of town at the time. Entrance into the place was made through a rear door, which was entered after the lock on the door was broken.

First Union Church Service Complete Success

REV. BUCHANAN OF SANTA ANA GIVES SERMON

ORANGE, July 7. — Marked by what was described as the largest crowd ever attending a union church service in Orange, the summer schedule of union evening services got under way at the First Christian church last night, with the Rev. Walter Scott Buchanan, pastor of the First Christian church of Santa Ana regarded as one of the ablest pastors and preachers in southern California, as speaker.

Orange pastors participating in the first of the union meetings were the Rev. C. H. Masten, pastor of the Baptist church, who offered the prayer, and the Rev. Robert Burns McAulay, pastor of the Presbyterian church, who read the scripture lesson.

"The Mission of the Church" was the subject of the sermon presented by Rev. Buchanan, who used for a text portions of Matthew, "I will build my church" and John, "As the Father sent me, so send I you." The Santa Ana pastor began his sermon with a definition of the church, which he said is Christ. He also stressed the greatness of the church.

"The church is the greatest institution in existence," he asserted. It is greatest of all in authority, in vision, in purpose, in purity, in influence and in sacrifice.

"The mission of the church is to create in the hearts those outside its membership a demand for Christ," he asserted. Illustrations of the activities of a salesman in first creating a desire for the article he was selling were presented as an example of the mission of the church. "People must have created in their hearts the desire to become a part of this greatest of all institutions," Rev. Buchanan averred.

Special music was presented last night by the choir and musical director of the Christian church.

Rev. Franklin H. Minck, pastor of the First Christian church will be speaker at the service next Sunday night. All the union services this year will be held at the Christian church.

GIRL RESERVES IN QUARANTINE FROM ASILOMAR

ORANGE, July 7.—Following the return to Orange of all the girl reserves who were at Asilomar attending the annual summer conference and camp, with the exception of Miss Fern Sumner, Y. W. C. A. secretary, who was in charge of the Orange delegation at the camp, and Martha Huscroft, one of the girls, conditions at the camp are reported to be regarded as greatly improved. It had previously been anounced that five of the Orange girls and Miss Sumner and Miss Hannar Neerer, who was assiting Miss Sumner, would be kept at the camp for posibly two weeks in accordance with quarantine restrictions following the development of a case of infantile paralysis by a Los Angeles girl at the camp.

Under careful supervision the girls at the camp are being gradually relased and sent to their homes in an effort to combat against the further spread of the disease in the camp. The temporary quarantine which was placed on the camp following the development of the one case, was modified to permit the return of Doris Flippen, Dorothy Finley, Dorene Simpson, Eulabell Smith and Miss Neerer, who were brought back by Marion Flippen and L. F. Finley. The girls, it is reported, are under quarantine at their homes.

Martha Huscroft and Miss Sumner were left at the camp when the last party returned, but are expected to arrive home soon.

Theodora Mueller, Catherine Gorath and Mildred Stutheit came back earlier last week, upon announcement of the development of the case of paralysis at the camp, and reports at that time indicated that other members of the Orange group would be kept at camp for at least two more weeks. Authorities in charge of the situation, seemingly have determined that conditions do not warrant strict enforcement of the quarantine and that the situation is best handled through the return of the girls to their homes.

Orange Sunday Schools Open Again Sunday

ORANGE, July 7.—Sunday schools in Orange churches were opened for children below the fourth grade here yesterday for the first time since their services were abandoned several weeks ago on recommendation of county health authorities in an effort to combat the spread of infantile paralysis. The opening was determined upon after a conference with health authorities. Attendance was not up to standard and it is felt that this was no doubt due to the fact that many parents are still keeping their children away from gatherings of children.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH HOLDS LORD'S SUPPER

ORANGE, July 7.—The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was observed yesterday morning at the Presbyterian church, and the pastor, Rev. Robert Burns McAulay, spoke briefly on "God Taking a Spiritual Census." The observance of the communion service occurs quarterly at the church and there was a good attendance for this special occasion yesterday.

"There are at least four questions God would ask in taking a spiritual census," the pastor told his congregation yesterday. "The first question is 'What is your name and what does it mean?' In Revelation we read the promise 'To him that overcometh, I will give a white stone and on that stone a new name is written.' Every Christian has a new name, signifying hope, faith and love—a hidden capacity for something higher and deeper — something signifying an undeveloped promise of powers unrealized that our names are not merely just Jones or Smith. Our name is 'A Child of God.' This means that we are trusted individuals for finer things.

"The second question that God might ask is 'Where do you live? Where do you feel at home? Have you moved since the last communion service? Where are you now?' The Bible says if anyone is in Christ, he is a new creature, signifying a new environment. The old things have passed away. We know what it is to live in love and we have seen people live in a rage or in a passion. Do you live in Christ?

"The third question is 'How many are there of you?' Is it a case of a Dr. Jekyll and a Mr. Hyde? Or are you one, having all of the complexes, desires and aspirations and passions of your life unified by one intergrating factor—loyalty to Christ?

"The last question is 'Are you employed?' Christ says 'I gave my life for thee. What hast thou given for me?' Elijah was under the Juniper tree and was asked 'What doth thou here?' He was discouraged and moping and whining because he felt it was no use to do work for God. He was the only one who believed. He was told, however, to rise up and go to Damascus and that there were thousands of others and he was not the only servant of God on earth.

"God is not mocked 'Whatsoever a man soweth—that shall he also reap. He that soweth to the spirit shall of the spirit reap eternal life.' How do we register in a spiritual census?"

Fire Department Makes Only Six Calls This Year

ORANGE, July 7.—A fire in an oven in the home of G. Galiardo, 593 North Cypress street, called out the Orange fire department yesterday. Firemen turned off the gas under the oven and opened the doors to let out the smoke. Walls of the house had become over heated but no damage was done to the structure.

During the present year the Orange fire department has answered six calls but it has not been necessary to use the large hose on any of them and practically no damage has been sustained.

SAN PEDRO MAN GIVES SERMON TO LUTHERANS

ORANGE, July 7.—Special services were conducted at the Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran church yesterday, with the Rev. John C. Schmidt, of San Pedro, occupying the pulpit as guest of the pastor, the Rev. Walter Loretz. Rev. Schmidt chose as his text the well known words of the Savior recorded in John 3:16, from which he developed the unfathomable theme "The Wonderful Love of God for Sinful Man" in an enlightening and soul-stirring sermon.

By way of introduction the speaker said of the text: "It is worthy to be written with letters of gold into every mortal's heart, yea, to be inscribed with glaring, flaring, flaming letters of fire across the firmament."

He gave instances of the power of his text "when expounded in sermons and intimate talks at the sickbeds of despairing sinners and the dying couch of departing saints, and also upon savage Heathen." The importance of the text was also set forth by these words of the speaker:

"The teaching of the forty inspired writers of the sixty-six books of the Bible may be summed up in this sentence, that the brilliant young Jewish Rabbi, Christ, told the venerable old night-disciple, Nicodemus."

Developing his theme the speaker said in part:

"For the purpose of displaying the unbounded greatness of God's love, Christ first places over against each other God, the Lover, and the world that is loved by Him. There is God, the eternal, Infinte Being, who with omnific power spoke into existence heaven and the earth, and all things, visible and invisible in the whole world; who filled the immense and immeasurable space with sun, moon and stars that rival the earth in grandeur; whose magnificent voice we hear in the fierce roaring of the thunder-storm and whose glory we see in the flashing lightning as well as in the smiling sun-shine upon the ripening harvest; who commanded the soaring eagle to build his eyrie on the lofty mountain crags aid charged the lion to raise his cubs in the stony desert. God who has bidden the fishes to sport in the crystal palace of the sea and the little gold-bug to take his night's lodging in the unfolded petals of the rose-bud; God who has given to the lily her sumptuous beauty and to the modest violet, blushing in secret, her delicious fragrance; God who has the heavens for His throne and the earth for His foot-stool: such is God who loves."

"Consider what the gift of the text is. God gave Eden unto Adam and Eve; He gave the ark to Noah and his family; He gave Canaan to Abraham and his posterity; He gave unto Jacob flocks and herds, sons and daughters, man-servants and maid-servants; to Moses was given the rod of divine authority and great intercessory power; Israel had the Law, the tabernacle and the holy service; to David was given a royal scepter and victory over all his enemies, and to Solomon splendid dominion; but God gave unto the world, lost and ruined by sin, His only-begotten Son. Mark the glorious gift: a Son, not a garden, a Son, not flocks, herds and numerous posterity; a Son, not green pastures, orchards, groves, fruitful valleys, mountains of gold and rivers of rushing silver; a Son, not world-wide possessions, thrones of imperial power nor empires of perishable magnificnce: a Son, His only-begotten Son."

"To whom is this gift given? The text says: 'That whosoever believeth shall not perish but have everlasting life.' The word 'whosoever' lands the matter on the highest pinnacle, clears away every limitation, and makes God the Lovers of every man's soul and Jesus Christ the atoning Savior of every man's sins. 'Whosoever' embraces all countries, kindred, colors, and ranks of mankind; it includes all grades of guilt, all hues of moral character and affliction; to the Heathen in his blindness is this redeeming love offered; to the splendid skeptic with mind flashing in brilliancy and power; to the lowest moral wreck who has cast away his man or womanhood and gone down to wallow in the slums of big cities; to you is this love offered."

"No tidings that ever came from heaven can send a thrill of joy so deep as the tidings contained in this text. Let its sweet syllables forever ring in your ears like the prolonged soundings of silver-toned bells."

CHAMBER GETS SENTIMENT ON P. E. SERVICE

ORANGE, July 7.—Declaring that the Orange Community Chamber of Commerce at present had no intention of taking action on the proposal of the Pacific Electric railway company to abandon passenger service between Orange and Santa Ana, V. D. Johnson, secretary of the organization, has said that other than feeling out public sentiment in the matter, the chamber did not expect to participate in the matter.

It is reported that, except in the south part of the city, there is little discussion of the matter, most of the citizens feeling unconcerned as to whether or not the service is maintained. The railroad commission order provides that permission of both cities must be obtained before service is abandoned and Pacific Electric officials have stated that they intend to appear before the councils at the earliest possible date. Augmented bus service to give 20 minute service all day is promised by the transportation company.

Speaking of the time the new right-of-way from Main street to Lemon street was obtained for the railway company and recalling the refusal of the electric transportation line to make street improvements when the tracks ran down Glassell street to the Plaza, which finally resulted in cars stopping at La Veta avenue, a prominent business man has stated that the citizens of Orange subscribed a fund of $25,000 with which to purchase the right-of-way over which passenger service is scheduled to be abandoned in favor of better bus service.

Bus service would be arranged by the Motor Transit company, which is controlled by the Pacific Electric, by providing local service in addition to the service now given on the through lines between Santa Ana and Los Angeles and Riverside.

menaced by floods, new hope and new financial credit will be given to one of the largest irrigation districts of the west. By increasing the water supply at Los Angeles and surrounding cities, homes and industries are made possible for many millions of people.

Wilbur said that to bring about this transformation a dam higher than any which any engineer has hitherto conceived would be required. The dam is to be placed in the bottom of a canyon whose walls rise over 2,000 feet high and through which flows the turbulent river, at times carrying a flow equal to the average of the Mississippi at St. Louis he said.

The secretary said of the initial appropriation of $10,660,000, a total of $2,500,000 would be used to build the railroad, which will connect the dam with the town, three miles away, and which will be used for carrying supplies to the dam site. Construction of the water works, laying out of the town, building streets, sewers and other conveniences will cost $520,000.

Tunnel Is First

Initial work on the tunnel which eventually will cost $18,000,000, will cost $5,000,000. There will be four diversion tunnels, each 50 feet in diameter. Because of their size the excavation will be similar to the operation of a quarry.

Wilbur said the greatest problem will be the disposal of excavated material. Part of it, he said, would be needed to build the coffer dams to be placed in the river above and below the large dam to keep water out of the excavation where the foundation is ot be built.

Wilbur said 150,000 acres eventually would be flooded, of which the greater part is public land. Title to private land involved and to whatever mining claims are there will have to be acquired, he said, before completion of the dam.

Second Addington Trial Under Way

The retrial of J. J. Addington, charged with owning and operating a still, was going on today before a jury in the court of Judge G. K. Scovel. Addington was tried several weeks ago but the jury which heard the evidence was unable to reach a verdict. A special venire was called to provide jurors for the trial which is now under way.

The amended information, filed by the office of District Attorney Z. B. West, shows that the prisoner previously had been convicted of a similar charge in 1927. Deputies Sam Collins and W. F. Menton are representing the district attorney's office in court. D. G. Wetlin is attorney for the defendant.

SENATE MEETS TODAY TO TAKE UP NAVAL PACT

since last summer. The actual document has been before the American people and before the senate for nearly three months. It has been favorably reported by the senate foreign relations committee.

"Every solitary fact which affects judgment upon the treaty is known, and the document itself comprises the sole obligation of the United States.

"If we fail now the world will be again plunged backward from its progress toward peace.

Mr. Hoover struck vigorously at the senatorial opposition and declared his belief that the overwhelming majority of the American people "are opposed to the conception of these groups."

The president's message in part was as follows:

"In requesting the senate to convene in session for the special purpose of dealing with the treaty for the limitation and reduction of naval armament signed at London April 22, 1930, it is desirable that I should present my views upon it. This is especially necessary because of misinformation and misrepresentation which has been widespread by those who in reality are opposed to all limitation and reduction of naval armaments. We must naturally expect opposition from those groups who believe in unrestricted military strength as an objective of the American nation. Indeed, we find the same type of minds in Great Britain and Japan in parallel opposition to this treaty. Nevertheless, I am convinced that the overwhelming majority of the American people are opposed to the conception of these groups.

"Our people believe that military strength should be held in conformity with the sole purpose of national defense. They earnestly desire real progress in limitation and reduction of naval arms of the world, and their aspiration is for abolition of competition in the building of arms as a step toward world peace. Such a result can be obtained in no other way than by international agreement.

"The present treaty is one which holds these safeguards and advances their ideals. Its ratification is in the interest of the United States. It is fair to the other participating nations. It promotes the cause of good relations.

"The only alternative to this treaty is the competitive building of navies with all its flow of suspicion, hate, ill-will and ultimate disaster. History supports those who hold to agreement as the path to peace. Every naval limitation treaty with which we are familiar, from the Rush-Bagot agreement of 1817, limiting vessels of war on the Great Lakes, to the Washington arms treaty of 1921, has resulted in a marked growth of good will and confidence between the nations which were parties to it.

Jones Favorite To Take Open

MIRACLES OF SPORT - - - BY ROBERT EDGREN

'BOBBY' SHOOTS 2 PAR ROUNDS AT INTERLACHEN

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 7.—Bobby Jones, defending national open golf champion, today started the serious business of final preparations for his first battle on Thursday in this year's contest.

As a Sunday pastime, Jones went twice around the Interlachen club course where the tournament will be held, in par golf. Both rounds were made in 72.

One stroke under par is the best that has been recorded on the present course which has been used for little more than a year. Jones, who had never played at Interlachen, made two par rounds yesterday.

Sports writers expressed the opinion that if the champion could make four rounds of par golf in the tournament, the title would be his again although he will face what he himself has called "one of the toughest and most severe fights to retain the title that I have had in any tournament."

Short holes seemed to trouble Jones most. He made the longer ones in par or under-par scores but the short ones caused him to lose the advantage he had made in the under-par long holes.

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
(I.N.S. Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, July 7.—The overture is stilled, the lights are lowering and, out in the body of the house, falls the vital, tingling hush that seems to be the inevitable prelude to a big moment. The curtain is about to rise on the drama that only a great open golf championship can inspire, greater than ever this time because Bobby Jones, the big two-title man just in from England, is playing everybody for his third championshipof the year and the thing they call human-interest will go for a veritable orgy of emotionalism.

Play Begins Thursday

The open championship will be played over the Interlachen course at Minnaepolis Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week end and, while the pressure of the 72-hole contest is on, its susense will fairly clutch a nation by the throat.

Jones, back from England and his tremendous victories in the British amateur and open championships, is the sentimental favorite because the four major championships of America and England are the goal of his heart's desire and everybody loves a winner.

He also is the practical favorite it being considered execrable taste to be against success. And Jones, with one exception, has been no worse than second in the open since that year, represents more than success. He practically stands for infallibility.

Bobby Jones

Odds Against Bobby

The odds say he will fail this time. He has won too much; tired, sated with honors, he is due to lose. Some trace an affinity between Interlachen and Oakmont and aver that this isn't the type they call a Jones course, which is so much hair tonic. When Jones is playing golf, every course is strictly a Jones course.

Another thing, if Jones can win two championships in England when he isn't, by the admission of himself and others, playing golf, he can win one championship when he is.

It isn't characteristic of Bobby Jones to be off stride for longer than a day or two at a time. By a natural sequence of events, he would be hitting his shots again in the old, lashing Jones way at Minneapolis—if it wasn't for the suspicion that St. Andrews and Hoylake took more out of him than nature yet has been able to put back.

Four Have Chance

However nobody has the temerity to ask, who will beat Jones at Interlachen? A more sensible query would be, who can beat him?

There are four men who face a great chance of success in this connection, namely, Horton Smith, eLo Diegel, Ed Dudley and Walter Hagen, provided he is the rejuvenated specimen they call him to be. To the list might be added the names of Gene Sarazen and Johnny

City League Leaders Vie Here Tonight

They will do a lot about deciding the first half championship of the Santa Ana City Night Baseball league's split season down in the Bowl tonight.

The one-two teams of the international race, the Dennis Printers and the Courthouse, mingle at 6:45, in the first game of the regular Monday doubleheader, and if the Printers get the decision they will assure themselves of no worse than a tie for first place.

Peek's market and the Auto Club of Orange County provide the other end of the twin bill. They have at it at 8:15.

Other games this week follow:

Wednesday—American Legion vs. Eastern Oil, 6:45 p. m.; Excelsior creamery vs. Peek's market, 8:15 p. m.

Thursday—Auto Club of Orange County vs. Orange County Builders' exchange, 6:45 p. m.; Pacific Telephone company vs. Richfield Oil, 8:15 p. m.

GOUYD, CALOPE HEAD THURSDAY FIGHT PROGRAM

After a week of darkness because of the proximity of its "Fite Nite" to the Fourth of July, the Orange County Athletic club will be open for business again Thursday night, Promoter H. T. Foust announced today.

The Delhi matchmaker has signed Clayton Gouyd and Pastor Calope, two of the sweetest bantamweights on the Pacific coast, to headline his forth coming show.

Dynamos for action, the little fellows have agreed to do eight rounds. They met at the Orange County Athletic club in a six-rounder several weeks ago and fought to a draw in one of the fastest and most exciting contests in the history of the Delhi arena.

Foust has the card well supported.

Baby Jack Dempsey, Alhambra bantam and normally a main-eventer in his own right, will box the semi-windup under Calope and Gouyd, Foust said. The little edition of the Manassa Mauler is going to meet Clem Avila of Pomona, a well regarded junior featherweight who has never appeared at Delhi.

Leroy Haynes and Jack Gilmore, heavies, head the three preliminary affairs. They will travel six rounds. Haynes recently stopped John Grigsby.

The other two motches, both four-rounders, are Cliff Burrier vs. Joe Vasquez, 130 pounds, and Ande de la Parra vs. Louie Wooley, 120 pounds.

Promoter Foust announced he will renew his "women free" policy this week. Femine fans who are accompanied by escorts holding reserved admission tickets will be admitted free.

VAN RYN AND ALLISON BEAT LOTT AND DOEG

WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 7.—Bill Tilden will not be a memebr of the United States Davis cup team in 1930, Eugene Dixon, non-playing captain of the American team announced today.

WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 7.—Wilmer Allison of Austin, Tex., and John Van Ryn of East Orange, N. J., defeated George Lott of Chicago and John Doeg of Santa Monica, Calif., in the final match of the British men's doubles today.

Scores were 6-3, 6-3, 6-2.

The Allison-Van Ryn victory constituted a successful defense of the title they won in 1929.

Each of the players scored frequent aces from the services. Doeg was particularly adept in serving. He showed some weakness, however, in anticipation of ground shots although he made several brilliant recoveries of opponents' smashes.

Allison, fully recovered from Saturday's gruelling match with Tilden in which the Texan was defeated for the singles title, showed mastery of all edpartments of his game. He displayed canny judgment in passing opponents' balls which went out by only an inch or so. Allison repeatedly passed between his opponents.

REPORT TILDEN UNABLE TO PLAY FOR DAVIS CUP

NEW YORK, July 7.—A report was circulated in tennis circles here today that William T. Tilden, Wimbledon champion, would be unable to accept a place on the United States Davis cup team even if it were offered to him because of a contract to cover the challenge round for a newspaper syndicate for $3000.

According to the player-writer rule no player is allowed to write "current news reports." Tilden's superb play in the Wimbledon tournament has led many to believe that he will be invited to play two of the singles matches against France, provided the U. S. wins the inter-zone final.

Berlin Doctors Order Rest For Max Schmeling

BERLIN, July 7.—(INS)—Max Schmeling, world's heavyweight champion, suffered a rupture of veins in his left side when Jack Sharkey fouled him in their fight for the title, it was stated today in a medical certificate on his condition by Professor Wilhelm N. Baetzner, surgeon at Berlin University.

The injury will necessitate a complete rest of two or three months and perhaps an operation, it was said.

"Schmeling will be able to fight again," Dr. Baetzner said. "Decision as to the operation will be made after the period of rest."

Tempe IV Wins Star Boat Racing Series

The Newport Harbor Yacht club's gonfalon of victory flew from the masthead of Walter Hubbard's Tempe IV today in honor of its performance during the three-day Fourth of July star sloop series.

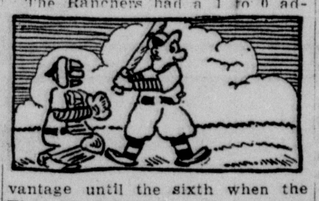

The series went to the Tempe yesterday by finishing two minutes ahead of Tommy Webster's Tom Robin, with Billy Lyon's Vega third, Jack Keith's All-Star fourth and W. A. Bartholomew's Turtle Star fifth.

The races were the first on a program leading up to the annual Southern California championships at Newport Harbor next month.

RANCHERS WIN FROM FIREMEN IN LATE RALLY

Putting over the tying and winning runs in the last of the ninth inning, D. Eyman Huff's Anapauma Rancho baseball team took the measure of the Los Angeles Firemen, 3 to 2, at the Orange County Fair grounds yesterday.

Outfielder Cabrera rang the bell with the deciding tally on "Chick" Brown's sacrifice, his run breaking up one of the finest pitcher's battles of the season between Danny Velasquez of the Anapaumas and Gibson of the Smokeaters.

The Ranchers had a 1 to 0 advantage until the sixth when the Firemen made their only two runs off the Anapauma slingers as a result of two errors by Lehr and one by Brown. The score remained 2-1 until the ninth when the Anapaumas rallied and pulled the game out of the fire.

Velasquez struck out 10 and in other ways conducted himself as a high class moundsman.

Anapauma will play at the Fair grounds again next Sunday but its opposition has not been selected as yet. The score:

LEAGUE CHIEF TO INVESTIGATE ANAHEIM CASE

Pending an investigation into circumstances surrounding his sudden decision to leave the Santa Ana Stars and join the Anaheim Valencias, Orville Schuchardt, night baseball's outstanding outfieider, today was suspended by George W. Peterkin, president of the National Night league.

At the same time, President Peterkin called a meeting of all managers for Wednesday night at 7:30 at which it is expected the now famous "Schuchardt Case" and other conference problems will be threshed out. The pow-wow will be held in the traffic offices at the courthouse.

Schuchardt's suspension is based on a contention that the ex-Santa Ana sensation appeared in uniform on the Anaheim bench last Thursday night at a time when he still was technically under contract to the Santa Ana club.

Will Probe Job Status

The real reason for the investigation, however, is said to concern the employment Anaheim club officials are said to have obtained for Schuchardt.

President Peterkin was quoted today as follows:

"Schuchardt has not been released by Santa Ana. In that case he still must be consideerd Santa Ana's property.

"Even if released he cannot appear in Anaheim uniform or be signed by any Class A team for two weeks.

"I recently forwarded a letter of warning to all managers relative to the so-called swapping of players and threatened action against all infractions of our transfer rule. There have been innumerable attempts to ignore the two-week clause which was inserted in the regulations to cope with situations exactly like this one.

"Almost every manager, including Anaheim's, has asked for protection from players who walk out on them at a crucial stage on account of jobs furnished by rival managers or sponsors. Others have protested vigorously the swapping of players by friendly managers.

Employment Not Recognized

"The National Night Baseball league does not recognize 'jobs' and does not give a player the privilege of jumping from one team to another because of employment. However, any manager may give a player his release if he so desires but no matter how many jobs a man is offered he cannot join another team if the manager refuses to give him his discharge.

"The president of the league has the authority to give a player his release if he feels the circumstances warrant.

"I have written Manager George Pace of Anaheim for his version of the Schuchardt case. Manager Pace has always obeyed implicitly all league rules and I am neither criticizing nor judging either the Anaheim club or Schuchardt, a very popular player, until I hear both sides.

"I have merely attempted to explain the National Night league's rules and policies having to do with points brought out by Schuchardt's decision to leave Santa Ana and join Anaheim."

BROOKLYN AND WASHINGTON IN SURPRISE ROLE

NEW YORK, July 7.—Brooklyn and Washington, a pair of ball clubs little considered as pennant contenders back in April, stood out boldly today as challengers for the two major league pennants at the half-way mark in the race.

Brooklyn held the National league lead, while Washington was virtually tied with the Philadelphia Athletics for the American league lead, less than one-thousandth of a percentage point separating the A's from the Senators.

Deposed from the top rung Saturday, Brooklyn climbed back into first place yesterday by winning from the Boston Braves, 10-4, while the Chicago Cubs dropped a doubleheader to the Cincinnati Reds, 5-4, and 8-7.

With a long home stand in front of them, in which they play only three games away from Ebbets field during the rest of July, the Robins have an excellent chance to firmly entrench themselves in first place.

Trailing the Robins by .008 points, the Cubs will be on the road until July 28.

Ike Boone, slugging outfielder from the Pacific Coast league, joined Brooklyn Sunday and in his first appearance in the lineup made a home run and single and turned in a spectacular catch in left field. Boone may be the answer to "Uncle Wilbert" Robinson's prayers for another hard-hitting outfielder to team with Babe Herman and Johnny Frederick.

BERRY LEADS LOCAL GUNMEN TO VICTORY

Santa Ana defeated Pasadena in three straight skeet matches here yesterday, although the total margin was by only 15 birds.

Walter Berry was the outstanding shooter for the Santa Ana club, making a perfect score of 25 in his second game. He also had the highest run ever made here by breaking 37 consecutive targets in two matches. Other Santa Anans who have perfect scores registered are Rex Rogers, W. R. Montgomery, Cal Gregg and Arnold Peek.

There will be another shoot Thursday at 5 p. m. The scores:

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Ladies' day is every Friday at the Cubs' park . . . the other day more than 30,000 gals saw the game there, and a few thousand were unable to get it . . . it seems there was a couple of males there, usurping the ladies' seats. . . . Jack Coombs of immortal world series fame says the pitchers these days are better business men than they were in his days but worse pitchers. . . . Flingers in the old days, says he, used to make a study of baseball, and were not slow in finding a batter's weak points. . . . Chief Bender says some of the hurlers nowadays don't even know the guy they're pitching to. . . . Jack says Eddie Plank, Christy Mathewson, Chief Bender and lads like that would be just as effective today as of youre in spite of the lively ball . . . because they could put the old apple where they wanted to when they had to.

CATCHER'S MISSPENT LIFE

Roger Bresnahan ought to be a millionaire instead of coaching the Tiger pitchers. All the old big league catchers should be in rocking chairs on Easy Street these days clipping coupons off fat bonds. They should have goe into the prize fighting business where a man gets paid handsomely for taking a punch below the belt.

In the course of his career, Bresnahan took hundreds of swiftly pitched foul tips in the groin. Yet did old Roger assume the horizontal position of the modern fistic foul claimer, holding his side and writhing in pain? He did not. He just "shook 'em off," and went on catching.

Mickey Cochrane, the alert catcher for the A's, offers some interesting testimony on the low blow in baseball.

FASTER THAN FISTS

"Every catcher in the leagues," says Mick, "including myself, is frequently struck in the groin with a foul tip that comes with rifle speed from the bat. And it comes faster than human fists can strike. Did you ever see a catcher toted away to the bench after taking one of 'em? No, you didn't. Neither did I.

'A couple of years ago we had a young pitcher named Lloyd Powers. One day in batting practice, one of the boys lined back a terrific smash that struck Powers fiush on his protector. It knocked him down and we ran out to see ho wbadly he was hurt. He was up before we got there, and he went right on pitching. After practice he showed us his protector. It was dented almost flat.

"Can these bozoes like Carnera or Godfrey hit like one of those line drives or like a fast pitch that is tipped foul? Pshaw! John Barrymore isn't the only great actor in the world, after all."

WELLER NOBLE EQUALS RECORD AT WILLOWICK

When Dallas Jeffers shot a 68, nine strokes under par, to establish a new Willowick course golf record the other day it was taken for granted the mark would stand for days to come.

It did—for four days.

Weller Noble, an amateur from the San Gabriel Country club, tied it yesterday.

Playing with Ralph Noble, owner of Willowick, and Pembroke Waugh and Frank ("Red") Angell, the imperturable Weller Noble rounded the West Fifth street public layout in the same figures, 68.

His card follows:

Out, par ....4-3-5-4-5-3-4-3-4—36
Noble . .....4-3-5-4-4-3-3-3-4—33
In, par .....4-3-5-4-5-3-4-3-4—36
Noble . .....3-3-4-4-4-3-3-2-4—30

Noble is a two-handicap player at San Gabriel.

Peculiarly enough he now holds the records for the city's two courses for his 68 still stands as the amateur mark at the Santa Ana Country club.

Willowick officials announce that competition for the Reid cup will begin immediately. Qualifying rounds will be held July 11-20, inclusive, with first rounds starting July 24. Each round will be of 18 holes with a 36-hole final. This tournament is open only to members of the Willowick Golf club.

COFFING, AINSWORTH IN GOLF VICTORIES

L. D. Coffing won medal play and J. L. Ainsworth match play in Class A sweepstakes that enlivened week-end golf at the Santa Ana Country club.

Coffing shot an 81-16-67 to defeat Van Pomeroy, 79-8-71; B. Z. McKinney, 83-10-73, and W. C. Fletcher, 84-10-74. Ainsworth was one down. L. W. Bemis, three down, was second.

Dr. A. C. Robbins, 91-20-17, was first in Class B medal play. Then came Milo Ainsworth, 90-18-72; Dr. John Ball, 97-24-73, and Dr. J. L. Wehrly, 95-22-73. M. B. Wellington, two down, won Class B match play. E. Robins and Dr. M. A. Patton were four down.

W. F. Kogler's 82-12-70 entitled him to a leg or the Lorenz cup. Van Pomeroy, 79-8-71; J. L. Ainsworth, 84-12-72, and A. B. Watson, 86-14-72, all were close behind Kogler.

Mrs. J. L. Ainsworth and J. K. McDonald had low gross card in mixed foursomes yesterday. They finished with 173-17-156. Mrs. J. L. McFadden and Don Andrews won low net with 205-50-155.

JONES FAVORED TO WIN OPEN TOURNEY

Farrell and possibly Mac Smith, Al Espinosa and George Von Elm. The latter is always held out as a pre-tournament threat in the open and always the posting of the final returns finds him languishing in the outer darkness. Maybe he is due this time. I don't think so.

Neither do I thik that Espinosa is the man to recover from the 23-stroke denouement by which Jones won the 1929 championship in a play-off that was strictly a payoff fro mthe moment they arrived at the first tee. Nor is Mac Smith the man he once was—and it is a matter of record that, whatever he was, it wasn't enough.

Hagen Dangerous

Hagen, fresh, supposedly well trained and doubtless determined, looks the part of Jones' arch-rival. He is without a title of any kind for the first time in many years and, with this inspiration to goad him on, Hagen will take plenty of convincing. Sarazen, another ex-champion who has staked everything on the winning of the open, is playing his irons with all of the old precision, which means trouble for anybody and everybody. Farrell, the 1928 champion, showed a flash of the old stuff in the New York state open and may again be the man he was two years ago.

Diegel would have won his first open in 1926, if "Chick" Evans hadn't taken so much trouble to tell him how to do it. He has won none since. He is due now. He, in fact, will always be due—until age withers and custom stales his infinite variety.

As for Shute and Dudley, they are young men with all of the strokes and the Brash, impelling urge of youth behind them. Shute almost stole the show at the last open. He is a better golfer today. So is Dudley, a fact that his 142 in the qualifying round and his record 66 at Shawnee clearly establish.

But, when the last word is said, it all comes back to Jones. To say that the man who beats Jones will win the open championship is to commit a bromide. The man who can beat Jones always wins the open championship.

ly the actions of a fouled fighter from the instant he is struck until he leaves the ring? I watched Phil Scott carefully at Miami and Max Schmeling after being struck low by Sharkey in New York. Both recovered rapidly. I never will believe that either of them was hurt so badly that he could not have continued after a rest of three minutes.

Invariably boxers who are fouled are able to walk out of the ring after the decision has been rendered.

The foul blow is not as incapacitating as it is made out to be by those lily-livered lobsters who groan and thrash about the floor holding their groins as though they had just taken a flock of machine gun bullets in a vital spot. The man who invented the modern protector, which is used in most fights, will stand up there and let Sharkey, Godfrey or anybody else hit him as hard as he wishes, flush on the protector and deny any suffering.

I believe there is only one way to end fouls and that is to end them. When a boxer claims foul, let him be examined, and if he has been fouled, he should be allowed five minutes' rest. Then, on with the dance.

by ANNE AUSTIN AUTHOR OF "THE AVENGING PARROT" "THE BLACK PIGEON," ETC.

CHAPTER XLVII

The Berkeley household had been notified on Sunday afternoon that the inquest into the death of Doris Matthews would be held Monday morning at 10 o'clock, in the funeral chapel of the city morgue.

When Dundee entered the dining room at half past eight he found that he was the last to appear for breakfast and that every member of the party was decorously dressed for the coming solemn occasion.

"Hello, sluggard!" Gigi greeted him joyously, then broke into parodied song:

"My bonnie lies long past the hour,
My Bonnie lies long in his bed!"

"Gigi!" her mother reproved her. "Just when we were talking a funeral ,too!" She turned explanatorily to Dundee: "George and I have decided to have the funeral here, dear Mr. Dundee. In the 'little parlor'—not the servants' sitting-room. Doris was Church of England, wasn't she, dear Mrs. Lambert? I'm sure our own Episcopalian minister would be delighted to conduct the services, both here and at the cemetery—"

"Mrs. Berkeley, Mr. Crosby and I have talked it over and we'd like to take Doris to New York and bury her beside Phyllis. We feel it is what they both would want—"

"Oh!" Mrs. Berkeley said uncertainly. Then, in a rather strange voice: "You—won't be coming back, I suspect?"

Mrs. Lambert smiled faintly and shook her silver-white head. "I don't believe you will need me, now that—"

"Of course it was largely because of Clorinda's marriage to Mr. Crosby that I needed you," Mrs. Berkeley interrupted eagerly. "and now that she is going to marry John Maxwell instead—"

"I'm glad you admit it at last, Mother," Clorinda cut in quietly.

"Oh, I'm going to stop trying to manage other people," Mrs. Berkeley laughed, flushing brightly. "Your father and I had a long talk last night, children and your old Abbie is going to settle down and be a model small-town wife and mother."

Husband and wife exchanged the first frank, affectionate glance that Dundee had seen pass between them and the young detective felt a sudden surge of something remotely akin to fondness for the woman he had disliked so heartily.

He looked swiftly toward Gigi. The child's eyes were downcast and her lips were trembling, but whether from grief at Mrs. Lambert's imminent departure, or from a painful joy over her mother's tacitly promised reformation, he could not tell. But when he glanced at Mrs. Lambert he felt no doubt at all as to what had brought the tears to her blue-gray, shadowed eyes. For her eyes were upon Gigi....

At a quarter to 10 Dick Berkeley knocked impatiently upon Dundee's door.

"I'll be down in five minutes, Dick," the detective promised. "Wait for me in the car. Have the others gone?"

"Everybody's gone—including the servants," Dick told him. "And you'd better make it snappy or we will be late."

Carrying a suitcase, Dundee moved swiftly from bedroom to bedroom, collecting white canvas tennis shoes and golf shoes. In one bedroom he paused before a dressing table, picked up a black-and gold bottle of perfume, removed the stopper and sniffed. There came over his face a ludicrous expression of disappointment. Then he read the label again—Nuit de Joie; he'd had a girl not so long ago who used that scent: he sniffed again, then smiled triumphantly. Very carefully he wrapped the bottle in his handkerchief and deposited it among the shoes.

"What are you doing with that suitcase?" Dick demanded. "I thought you were staying here until this murder business was cleared up."

"I am," Dundee assured him. "I'm just taking some stuff into town to have it—cleaned."

They drove almost in silence, but when Dundee asked the boy to stop at City Hall, Dick commented dryly:

"I didn't know there was a laundry or a cleaners' shop here, though I suppose the politicians need one for their dirty linen."

Dundee was still smiling at Dick's brave attempt at a joke when he entered the laboratory of Dr. Abel Jennings, city chemist and toxicologist.

"Another job for you, Doctor," he announced, as he opened the suitcase. "You may find it a poser. I want to know if there are any wood alcohol impurities lurking beneath the nice white polish on any of these shoes, but—particularly this pair."

"Then I'll analyze the cloth of these shoes first," Dr. Jennings promised matter-of-factly. "What's the poser?"

"I thought maybe the white shoe polish had queered our chances," Dundee admitted. "Then one other little thing, Doctor....Look! Can you tell me whether this perfume is a mixture of what the label claims it to be and Fleur d'Amour, the scent on that handkerchief I gave you to analyze?"

"Each perfume is composed of its own essential oils," the doctor answered. "If there's any—what d'you call it?—Fleur d'Amour I'll be able to tell you."

"When?"

"I'll try to have both reports for you by five o'clock," the doctor answered, then explained in some detail the need for so much time.

Dunn returned to Dick's car, without his suitcase. "One more stop, please, Dick, and then for the inquest——Meredith's Department store."

It took only five minutes for the detective to purchase a bottle of Nuit de Joie, identical in appearance with the one he had just left in Dr. Jennings' office and three minutes more to give it into Detective Payne's hand, with explicit instructions. Before Dundee took his place among the witnesses to be called by the coroner, Payne was well on his way to Hillcrest. Coroner Price reproved the two inexcusably late arrivals with a fierce frown, which seemed to have no effect upon Detective Dundee's cheerfulness.

The inquest dragged along until past noon, bringing forth no new evidence, for of his own recent discoveries Dundee said nothing. Dr. Price called upon him to tell of the discovery of the body in the lake and of its removal to the summerhouse, then dismissed him. At one o'clock District Attorney Sherwood requested an adjournment of the inquest until Thursday and the coroner readily agreed.

"Well! Where do we go from here?" Captain Strawn grinned at his young subordinate as they lingered in the cleared funeral chapel. "I'll bet Sherwood would give his new silk topper not to have jumped into this Jonah of a case so cockily. Did you see the papers this morning? Promised the dear voters he'd have the murderer behind bars within 24 hours."

"I'm afraid his prophesy will come true, Chief—though no one will be more surprised than District Attorney Sherwood himself!"

"Hey! What's that? Been holding out on me, have you, young feller me lad?" Strawn blustered.

"I have got a pot on to boil," Dundee confessed. "I can't tell you about it now, for I may be all wrong. But if I'm right—and I think I am—you are now invited to attend a very private confession party at Hillcrest this afternoon at six o'clock."

"And in the meantime, what am I supposed to do?" Strawn demanded sarcastically. "I'm only the chief of the homicide squad. What are my orders?"

Dundee laughed. "I want you to telephone to Hillcrest this afternoon about four o'clock and request, very officially, the presence of every member of the family and of Crosby, Mrs. Lambert and Wickett, in your office. I'll come along as a matter of course and to make sure there are no absentees. You can tell them anything you like, hammer away at them with as many questions as you can think up. I'll slip away at five and telephone you whether the pot's boiling or not. If it is, I'd like for you to duck out at about 20 minutes to six, leaving word with Sergeant Turner to dismiss the crowd 10 minutes after you're gone. By then you'll be on your way to Hillcrest, with a 10 minutes' start of the Berkeleys. I'll be waiting for you and then—with luck—the pot should boil over very promptly."

Probably if Dundee had not staged a confession in the Rhodes House murders in much the same secretive and dramatic fashion, Captain Strawn would not have lent his aid to the program outlined by his subordinate, without knowing what it was all about.

As it was, the chief of the homicide squad followed instructions to the letter. At five o'clock Dundee left Police Headquarters for Dr. Jennings' laboratory. At ten minutes past five he spoke four cryptic words to Captain Strawn: "The pot is boiling." In another five minutes he was in a police car, headed toward Hillcrest, his suitcase between his knees.

But he was not jubilant. So far as he was concerned, the show was over. With all his heart he wished he could leave the theater before the curtain rose on the third act—that terrible, necesasry third act in which a human being, as lifeloving as himself, would be crushed before his eyes. But he had to go on with it. With his heart like lead he set his stage. From the center of a dressing table in a bedroom at Hillcrest he removed the black-and-gold bottle of perfume he had purchased that day and put the original bottle in its place. But that flask had a new label now. In place of the gold seal bearing the name, Nuit de Joie, there was a large plain white sticker. And on the glaring white surface were the words, lettered in black ink by Dundee himself:

FLEUR D'AMOUR

On each side of the desecrated perfume bottle he placed the grayish white remains of a tennis oxford—shoes that had been so gleamingly immaculate when he had first seen them—on Saturday morning.

Ten minutes later Captain Strawn and Detective Dundee were crouching side by side in a clothes closet, whose door was open just enough for the two men to observe the entrance of the room's owner and any drama that might take place before that sinister dressing table.

There were voices in the hall. Tired people coming up to dress for dinner. Faintly there came the sound of doors opening and closing. And at last the knob they were watching so intently turned quickly under an urgent hand.

"Coming!" Strawn whispered hoarsely and his fingers closed hard upon Dundee's shoulder.

NEVER BEFORE IN SO SHORT A TIME HAVE SO MANY WOMEN MADE SUCH AN IMPORTANT DECISION

During the first six months of 1930, Southern California Edison Co. Ltd. installed more Electric Ranges than in any other like period in its history. Never before in so short a time have so many women made such an important decision.

In their kitchens today they have the most advanced, the most highly perfected cooking equipment that civilization has yet known. In their lives they have more leisure hours than any women charged with the care of a home ever have known before. In the management of their homes they are showing greater efficiency, more true economy, than ever has been possible before.

Two Great Groups of Ultra Modern Electric Ranges Offer YOU These Same Advantages

A new shipment of the ultra modern, fully automatic Electric Ranges which have brought new freedom, new interests, a new sense of achievement into the lives of these thousands of women is now on display at your Edison office.

They are especially designed for California kitchens. In them are embodied the ideas of 30,000 California women who have cooked electrically for from one to ten years. These ranges are modern in every sense . . . not alone in their ease and efficiency and economy of operation . . . not alone in automatic features that no range ever had offered before . . . but in beauty, color, grace.

The cost is surprisingly small. A very low down-payment places the range of your choice in your kitchen, ready to use. The range you are now using will apply on the purchase price. The balance may be handled in easy monthly payments spread over an entire year.

Especially now, with the hottest summer months at hand, you should see these ranges. Come in, if you can. Or, if more convenient, mail the coupon below, and have an Edison representative call. Either way, there will be no obligation to buy . . . but ownership will be made extremely easy if you wish it, as we are quite sure you will.

TRAMPLING ART FOR PROFITS

FOR all its virtues, modern industrialism can run amuck under the spur of greed for profits. Witness, the ruin threatening the Art of Music.

300 musicians in Hollywood supply all the "music" offered in thousands of theatres. Can such a tiny reservoir of talent nurture artistic progress?

The true function of the machine is to increase the value of the product fed into it—not to debase it. Therefore mechanical music, as a substitute for Living Music, is a spurious form of progress—Like a loom converting good wool into shoddy.

The grind organ, however operated, is a grind organ still. For music is an emotional art, a form of social intercourse, and hence dependent upon human contact.

Who profits by the elimination of genuine music from the theatre? Not the music-loving public!

If you agree that theatre patrons are entitled to real music—in addition to talking and sound motion pictures, for the price they pay—HELP SAVE THE ART FROM RUIN. Enroll with millions of others in the Music Defense League. When the public's voice is raised its will must be served!

STRESSES NEED FOR SPIRITUAL GROWTH TODAY

The Rev. U. E. Harding, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene spoke Sunday evening on "Seven Spiritual Life Suggestions," taking as a text 1st Peter, 3-3. The pastor said in part:

"We want to live long, only an abnormal soul or ripe old age would cause one to sing 'I would not live always.' Job many centuries ago said 'All that a man hath will he give for his life.' We seek the fountain of youth, the climate where we can live the longest, we spend our millions for better health, retain boards of health and make pure food laws, and experiment on how to fight disease of mankind.

"We sometimes train the mind and develop the physical being at the expense of the soul. If we would at least give equal time and care to the spiritual side what a wonderful world this would be.

"Jesus taught the pruning method. We should look after our souls as we look after our flowers and fruit. Prune away those things that draw and sap away your spiritual life. We are as spiritual as we want to be and as he we live for. You know what it is that is against your spiritual growth and if it were on your flowers or trees you would prune it away.

"The spiritual senses of the soul are more sensitive to sin and wrong than our physical sense. But they can soon be dulled or paralyzed by abuse, gossip, talkativeness, wrong asociations, criticism or fault-finding. Jesus taught 'If thy hand offend thre cut it off, if thy eye offend thee, pluck it out.' Jesus meant just what He said.

"A merchant taking an inventory compiles figures of months and even years. Some folks who have scales in their homes and keep a close watch on their weight. Stock men weigh some of their hogs every day. Are you growing in grace, my friend? Are you putting on spiritual weight? Have you left the primary grade in spiritual things. Have you put away childish matters? Do you feed on the meat of the word?

"Are you adding to your spiritual stock? Look over the past months and years and see if you are growing in grace. If not, why not? Your own soul will make the reply if you will but listen. When you hear, make the sacrifice. It will pay."

STEEL ROADS

LONDON, July 7.—Roads of steel are scheduled for the future if one road built on the King's Road, Chelsea, proves practical. It is a continuous network of tough steel, whose interstices are filled with concrete. On the surface, however, the meal grid is directly exposed to the wheels of vehicles. It is expected to last twice as long as any other road.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"God" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon Sunday in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

One of the Scripture selections related the incident when Christ Jesus was besought by the blind man near Jericho, and included the following account: "And Jesus stood, and commanded him to be brought unto him: and when he was come near, he asked him, saying, What wilt thou that I shall do unto thee? And he said, Lord, that I may receive my sight. And Jesus said unto him, Receive thy sight: thy faith hath saved thee. And immediately he received his sight, and followed him, glorifying God: and all the people, when they saw it, gave praise unto God."

A correlative passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, stated, "Every law of matter or the body, supposed to govern man, is rendered null and void by the law of Life, God."

SEARS-ROEBUCK EMPLOYES GET HALF HOLIDAY

Employes of the Santa Ana store of Sears, Roebuck and company will receive a half holiday each week beginning Wednesday, July 9, and continuing throughout July and August, according to announcement made today by W. L. Dreitzler, manager of the store.

The extra half day will be given unconditionally to all retail employes, Dreitzler said. The extra time will be given without any corresponding reduction in salaries.

The local store, as a consequence, will be closed on Wednesday afternoons at 1 o'clock. The half day holiday schedule will continue through July and August. Retail employes of Sears, Roebuck and company all over the country as well as in Santa Ana will receive a half day holiday a week. Altogether, 320 retail stores will benefit by the shorter hours plan.

The half day holiday, Dreitzler said, is frankly an experiment which the company hopes will work out toward permanently shorter working hours, eventually. The 13-period calendar plan, adopted by the company and placed in operation on January 2 of this year helped make possible this half day holiday. The midseason inventory of the company was taken on June 18, at the end of the sixth period, and most of the work incidental to sales analysis for the spring season has been completed. Under the 12 month calendar, inventory work would not start until June 27 and would not have been completed until well into July.

"Sears, Roebuck and company is heartily in favor of shorter working hours," declared Dreitzler, "and hopes to make what is desirable theoretically feasible from a practical standpoint.

"Officials of the company believe that despite cycles of temporary depression, this country is basically prosperous and that the trend in the future throughout the business and industrial world will be in the direction of more leisure."

The days for closing the company's retail stores were selected by the district managers and local managers. Selection of a closing day was left to their judgment.

LOCAL PASTOR URGES NEED OF UNSELFISHNESS

In the communion meditation at the First Baptist church yesterday the Rev. Harry Evan Owings, pastor, spoke in part as follows:

"In Moffatt's translation of Philippians we read Paul's words, 'Treat one another with the same spirit as you experience in Christ Jesus.' And that seems perfectly reasonable as the attitude that Christians should have toward each other when they have a common experience with Jesus Christ. The man who finds Jesus' spirit toward him that of love, that of unselfishness, that of pardon and forgiveness, ought certainly to be able to have and to show a similar spirit of love and unselfishness and forgiveness toward his fellows. He should be like the stained glass window simply transmitting the divine light that is received.

"But what a high and difficult standard that holds for each one. Robert Norwood in his book, 'The Man Who Dared to Be God' gives us a very real and graphic sketch of Jesus. In this account one thing especially the reader is made to feel, that Jesus was thoroughly committed to the way of loving every man, all hatred, dislike, and violence being dispelled from his life. Likewise the book depicts the difficult work he had in bringing Simon and John and Judas and James to the adoption . this point of view and this method of winning the world.

"So today one feels that Jesus is having hard work with his modern followers persuading them to act toward their fellow-Christians as they find Jesus acting toward them. But what a brotherhood that Christian brotherhood would be if it could come increasingly into that ability to treat each other with the same spirit as each experiences in Christ."

DR. WARMER STRESSES VITAL IMPORTANCE OF CANDIDATES ANSWERING W. C. T. U. QUERIES

Bringing to members of the First Methodist church the importance of the W. C. T. U. questionnaire in picking candidates of the county for public office and the determination of the church to carry on an active part in the questions of law enforcement and prohibition, Dr. George A. Warmer preached yesterday on the subject, "Where Do We Go From Here?"

"I certainly think that W. C. T. U. questionaire is an indication we should follow in picking candidates for public office," Dr. Warmer declared. "Any candidate who can not truthfully answer these questions on law enforcement and prohibition certainly shouldn't be intrusted with the power of authority," he further stated.

In recalling the activities of the recent Methodist conference at Long Beach, Dr. Warmer said,

"For the first time the church made a pronouncement favoring the spread of scientific information by reputable registered physicians of the principles of birth control," he told his congregation.

"Methodism holds that whatever affects life is tangent to religion. The church is not attempting to formulate principles in all fields of human endeavor but is calling attention to the friction spots in human relations, and, urging those working in the specialized fields, to evolve such a modus operandi as shall speedily usher in conditions of brotherhood.

"In expressing its attitude toward the economic situation, the conference called attention to the need of some adequate solution of the unemployment problem. In April according to official governmental reports there were 3,217,000 men in the United States out of work. Conditions, as regards employment, are steadily getting worse. Two solutions were proposed. First, a system of state insurance whereby the man out of work should have sufficient return to keep him out of the bread line. Second, the loading of the industries with such an extra percentage as to care for those thrown out of work. Neither of these proposed solutions were advocated as a final word but as straws indicating a possible direction.

"On the question of law enforcement and on prohibition, the church was on familiar ground. Methodism is a fighting machine fully organized for big business on this issue. She knows no retreat. Neither nullification nor repeal are in her vocabulary. Local, county, state and national officers must be elected who will see this end achieved. The fight is on in Santa Ana, in Orange county, in California, in the United States, in the world. Discriminating thinking, fearless organizing and courageous voting will spell victory.

"In the interest of peace the church is becoming ardent. The call was for an immediate ratification of the London treaty, and a pushing advance all along the line of international relations until the Moloch of War shall be submitted by the Prince of Peace.

"With all the breadth of vision the conference emphasized the spiritual note very strongly. The slogan was 'we are going where we are going.' There was a recognition of the fact that the distance traversed is not nearly so important as the direction of the journey. The Kingdom is coming through the daily helpfulness of man to man in the name of Christ. 'The best way to serve God is to serve some of His other children. The Comforter ministers to men as they minister to other men."

EXTINGUISH FIRE NEAR IRVINE PARK

It required the services of approximately 30 men to extinguish a blaze starting in the Santiago canyon yesterday afternoon by the turning over of a smoker used in the apiary of W. J. Scheets, according to announcement today by J. A. Sherman, forest ranger.

Scheets suffered a loss of $500 by destruction of several beehives. An area of approximately 15 acres of watershed was burned over before the fire fighters brought the fire under control at 7 p. m. yesterday. The scene of the fire was under patrol today to guard against renewal of the blaze. It is about two miles west of Irvine park.

Sherman called on Constable George Barkley at El Modena for assistance and he responded with 20 men. Willard Smith, chairman of the board of supervisors, and others in the vicinity of the fire at the time assisted in the fighting.

FRIARS PREACH ON SUNDAY TO PARK AUDIENCE

Bringing to the people of Santa Ana the message of the early Franciscans, Brothers Paul and Peter, two of the five "Preaching Friars of California" who are traveling from San Diego to Seattle over the trail blazed by Father Junipero Serra, many years ago, preached to over 300 people in Birch park Sunday afternoon.

Because of a conflicting engagement in Ventura, Brother Silvester, Brother Joseph and Brother Lawrence were unable to be present here. The Friars, making a picturesque appearance in grey homespun robes, blue cowls and with red cords around their waists, are celebrating the 200th anniversary of Father Serra becoming a friar and the 1900th anniversary of Pentecost.

The five friars, laying down their occupations and business, are traveling over El Camino Real preaching the word of God. Brother Lawrence is a printer and layman of Los Angeles, Brother Joseph is known as the "singing friar" and is a layman manufacturer of Los Angeles, Brother Silvester, president of the order, has been in the minstry for 32 years, Brother Paul was born in Ireland and is in the Presbyterian clergy, and Brother Peter is a retired army officer, having served in the United States army 32 years.

The Sunday service was opened with the audience singing "America," after which Brother Peter told of the friars, their work, purpose and personnel. He stated that more friars would soon join them, one a retired banker of Los Angeles and the other a young man from the movie colony in Hollywood. He also read a letter from the president of the friars thanking Maroy Frank Purinton for the use of Birch park. During his talk, he exhibited several clippings and letters of the pilgrimage.

Brother Paul gave an inspiring sermon, using his Irish wit and accent to advantage. Asking the question, "What is religion?" he first quoted Clarence Darrow, noted Criminal lawyer, who said that religion is a groping for God, and then gave his own meining of the term, stating that religion was like patriotism and is that force which binds us to God, the source of all power.

He explained the meaning of the friar costume, saying that it brought back memories of ancient days and was different from any other. The habit was the color of the earth, the cowl the blue of heaven and the red cord signified the precious blood of God. One of the main purposes of the preaching, Paul stated, was to help people do their own thinking.

"What are we living for?" the friar asked. "Most anyone can tell you it is health, wealth and happiness, but the majority of people think only of the first two and lose happiness. The only thing that can bring happiness is the knowledge that we are made for God," Brother Paul declared.

His definition of life was the action of the spirit from mortality into immortality. Everyone should worship according to the dictates of his own conscience, the friar said. Using the piano as an example to show the difference between knowing and believing, he said he believed in the piano but could not play it. Similarly, some people believed in God but this is different from knowing God, he pointed out.

He scored the many denominations claiming to have the oldest church by stating that the oldest church was the church of Jesus Christ established upon the rock. The meaning of church was defined as "Lord" in every language except Latin, which goes further and says "Out of God."

"The Christian religion has never failed when it has been given a chance," Brother Paul concluded.

ANCIENT CHESS

CAIRO, July 7. — It is now thought that the ancient Egyptians, and not the Chinese and Persians, were the first to play chess. This thought is brought about by the discovery of a complete chess board and men in the tomb of Ra Quer, near the pryamids. The board and men were in good condition considering the centuries they have been entombed.

CONCERT GIVEN BY GLEE CLUB SUNDAY NIGHT

A large appreciative audience was at the First Christian church last evening and greatly enjoyed the concert presented by the American Legion Auxiliary glee club. This musical organization, which has won laurels and wide renown for its performances, was under the direction of Cecil Fross Willits.

Several solo numbers were interspersed with the choral numbers of the glee club. The program follows:

"I Passed By Your Window," by Lucas, and "Out of the Dusk," by Lee—Glee club.

"How Lovely are Thy Dwellings," by Liddle, solo by Ruth Spears.

"Pale Moon,' by Logan, and "The Hand of You," by Bond, glee club.

"Dream of Paradise," by Gray, solo by Ruth Garrison.

"There is No Death," by O'Hara, and "Christ in Flanders," by Stephens, glee club.

"Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen," by Burleigh, solo by Cecil Willits.

The final number, a very effective closing, was "Taps."

LONDON, July 7.—For those aquarium fanatics there has been shown here an aquarium dining table. The surface of this table is a sheet of glass laid on the top of a glass tank. This tank contains live goldfish and other sea creatures.

"You Have An After 40 Ailment
that over half of men and women past this age are afflicted with"

MEDICAL science in its study of after 40 ailments, has turned its attention to the kidneys. Overwhelming authority agrees that: Over half men and women past 40 show evidence of kidney ailment in some form, many without knowledge of it. That kidneys, contrary to popular opinion, excrete 75% of poisonous waste from the system. Delicate kidney cells thus become overworked; and wear and tear begins to show at 40. Congestion occurs, adding further to the burden. Poisons which should be eliminated, are harbored and turned back into the system.

And this is the beginning of many serious ills.

Physicians now urge this preventive: drink 6 glasses daily of Puritas mineral-free water. It acts to dilute concentrated poisons, absorbs and washes them away. Minerals, found in ordinary water, which add further to congestion, are eliminated in Puritas. Thus it flushes kidneys in the most efficient way. The load lightened, worn kidneys have a chance to repair. Normal kidneys are constantly protected.

Through scientific distillation, Puritas is mineral-free, impurity-free; water in its purest state. Puritas taste seems different at first, and each drink you'll enjoy increasingly.

Order Puritas today. Telephone Santa Ana 1898 and immediate delivery will be made anywhere in Southern California. A Puritas iceless cooler furnished free.

Holiday Week-end Sail To Catalina Island Is Enjoyed

Skimming over a blue sea in their cruiser, "Lestelle" proved a pleasant celebration of the holiday week end for Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Wilson, 2004 North Ross street, members of the Newport Harbor Yacht club, who spent the week end at Catalina island. A very interesting event of the trip across, was the rescue which they gave to a small yacht with three men in it. The boat had developed engine trouble, and stalled in the ocean, drifting off the course. The party had been without aid for two days, and gratefully received the rescuing party, who towed them to Catalina.

The Wilsons landed at Cherry Cove, where the pleasant days were spent in swimming and hiking, and in witnessing the taking of moving pictures. The yacht was accompanied by the "Jolly Beggar," owned by Roy Barnard of Los Angeles and "The Howayne," owned by Lee Baker of Riverside. Upon reaching the cove, they were met by Dr. E. W. Hayward of Beverly Hills, who had come over from Los Angeles harbor in his "Winsome II."

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson returned home last evening.

The bride was very attractive in her delicate frock of white chiffon over satin, and a long tulle veil which reached the floor. She carried a shower bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley. Officating at the early morning service was the Rev. Edward Burgi of Anaheim. The bride's father, Edward J. Heiser sr., gave his daughter in marriage. The young people were unattended. White Shrine Birthdays Are Celebrated in Happy Fashion

In honoring past worthy high prietesses and watchmen of shepherds of the Damascus White Shrine, as well as observing the birthdays of those whose natal days fall in June and July, members gathered Thursday evening in the Knights of Pythias hall for a most interesting evening. Officiating with Mrs. Elizabeth Lewis, worthy high priestess of the order, who presented all of the past worthy high priestesses with colorful corsages, and the watchmen and shepherds with boutonnieres.

The program was a most delightful one, one of the first numbers being a violin solo by Miss Eleanor Miller, a pupil of Elwood Bear. Earl Motley, a student at Santa Ana Conservatory of Music, gave a charming piano number. Lending variety to the musical selections was a reading by Vivian Rogers ,who is studying under Holly Lash Visel.

Receiving special notice during the refreshment hour were the prettily decorated tables representing the months of June and July. The first was vibrant with the heart throbs of the bridal month, bearing a miniature bride and bridegroom together with a complete line of attendants. Equally impressive was the second table, depicting the patriotic symbols of a noisy Independence day. Large firecrackers, medium sized ones, and tiny "boomers" were much in evidence. Blue candles, too, aided in carrying out the red, white and blue motif.

Those who were members of the June and July groups were the Mesdames Bertha Bruce, Jessie Overton, Irene Willey, Fannie Barker, Ethel Armstrong, Elizabeth Gray, Lilian Vinson, Gwendolyn Morris, Mary Redman, Sarah Parks, Florence Evans, Mary Taylor, Avis De Vore, and Oscar Kreighbaum. Past officers included Miss Henrietta Bowling, Mrs. Ada Sutherland, Mrs. Helen Kellogg, and Messrs. Oscar Kreighbaum, Judson Sutherland, and C. T. Cleland.

Clarksons Are Hosts To Week-end Group

The home of Mr. and Mrs. John Clarkson, 801 Minter street, was the scene of much gaiety over the week end, for in entertaining three house guests, Miss Myrtle Jane Jackson, former Snata Ana newspaper woman, now of Hollywood; Mrs. Moulton Youngblood of Los Angeles, and Miss Mary Elizabeth Wilson of Escondido, two especially delightful affairs had been planned in their honor.

The first of these was a picnic at Corona Del Mar Saturday evening, at which time the merry group enjoyed a most delightful basket supper, followed by the chummy conversation which is always an enjoyable part of a beach party.

In presiding as hostess at a prettily appointed dinner Sunday noon, Mr. and Mrs. Clarkson had asked several other guests to share the hospitality of the home. Those present included Mr. and Mrs. Andrew S. Wilson of Washington, now of San Diego; Mr. and Mrs. John Clarkson jr., Miss Myrtle Jane Jackson, Mrs. Moulton Youngblood, Miss Mary Elizabeth Wilson and Miss Dorothy Clarkson of the home.

Santa Ana Travelers Plan Extensive Trip Across Continent

Probably Santa Ana has no more confirmed travelers than Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Rousselle of 808½ North Spurgeon street, and all their friends will be keenly interested in details of the transcontinental trip upon which they will embark early tomorrow morning, to be gone from this city for the remainder of the summer.

Since Mr. and Mrs. Rousselle already have been in every state and territory of the Union as well as in the greater number of foreign countries, it would tax the ingenuity of most travel agencies to provide some new spot for them to visit. But as it happens, there are a few places which will prove new to them, and among these will be the famous Zion National Park and Bryce canyon, which will be early stops on their schedule. They have already reserved attractive cabins at these famous wonderlands, where they will make their headquarters.

In Salt Lake City, Mr. and Mrs. Rousselle will be entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Castleton, prominent residents of the city who were among delightful friends in the Rousselle home in this city. Chicago, New York and various cities of the east will be visited, and an extended stay will be made in the New England states where the Santa Anans have many relatives and close family friends.

One of the most anticipated features of their travels, will be their stay in Montreal where they will be guests of their aunt, Madame Augusto Dionne, and will accompany her to her summer home 50 miles above the city at Saint Sauvour des Monts. Madame Dionne owns a large estate there with a beautiful lake on the grounds.

The famous Evangeline country will be explored, from the "Village of Grand Pre" onward, while other experiences awaiting them in that land of romance, will be the St. Lawrence trip with its Thousand Islands, a stay at exclusive Murray Bay and the eight days trip to the Saguenay, in the Quebec province.

In returning to California, the Rousselles will come by way of the Panama canal, with stops at the various interesting cities on their return, for they are noted for full account of their travels upon route. Their friends anticipate a seeing the intimate life of every country they ever visit, and for bringing home the most delightful recollections and momentoes of their various travels. Mrs. Rousselle's travel books are joys to see, with pictured presentations of strange scenes, none of which are more interesting than their own kodak views.

One of their cherished possessions is an autographed copy of "Our Trip Around the World," written by Elsie Lincoln Benedict and Ralph Paine Benedict of Carmel, Calif., declared to be one of the most comprehensive and entertaining travel books ever written. The book was published by the famous Roycrofters, and is unusually artistic in design and make-up. Mrs. Benedict is the well-known psychologist and lecturer who has appeared with frehas often been entertained in the quency in the Southland, and who Rousselle home. Mr. and Mrs. Rousselle were travel companions of the authors through much of the Orient.

"I believe Russia is almost the only place left for us to visit" today declared Mrs. Rousselle in discussing travel plans and experiences. "We have Constantinople yet to see also, although we have been in parts of Turkey." Their friends who are aware of their pleasure in visiting new lands, feel that it is only a question of time until experiences in these countries will be added to the wealth of interesting things which they can recount.

The MIXING BOWL by ANN MEREDITH

Maraschino Cherries

Bread is commonly referred to as "the staff of life," but actually, this much touted staff needs the crutch of a varied diet under its left wing to get along acceptably.

The wheat berry does contain practically all of the life giving elements (protein, starches, fats and mineral elements) but modern taste demands the refined white flour, consequently considerable of the health element is lost.

It would be rather hard to depart from the accepted loaf standard....the desire for bread made from unrefined, whole grain flour would have to be drilled into the average person, often-times at the cost of upsetting his digestive system . . . and, what is equally important, the welfare of a large industry would be threatened.

So, we let well enough alone, eat our white loaf, or a lady-like whole wheat, and make up the deficit in the varied luxurious diet this nation is lucky enough to be able to indulge in.

Maraschino Cherries
10 pounds Royal Anne cherries
5 pounds sugar
Almond extract
Fruit coloring (red)
Pinch of alum
Salt water

The making of marschino cherries is such a simple matter no woman should let the cherry season go by without making a generous supply. There are so many places they can be used . . . fruit cocktail . . . salad . . . ice creams . . . puddings of various kinds. And the syrup is just as adaptable, a marvellous base for pudding sauces or a garnish for plain ice cream.

Buy the cherries well ripened and pit them immediately, placing them in a sieve to drain (save the juice to add to the syrup). Soak the pitted cherries overnight in a weak salt solution in which can be dissovled a piece of alum the size of a pea—this, to toughen the cherries and keep them whole.

Next morning drain and rinse the cherries and put them into the syrup to boil for five minutes. After cooking this first time add color carefully until the right shade of red is attained, weight the cherries under the syrup with a plate and stand until next day. The second day drain off the syrup, bring to the boil and pour over the cold cherries and again let stand until the following day. This process is followed for the third time, then the cheeries and syrup are put into jars, and for each pint of fruit and syrup pour into the jar a tablespoonful of almond extract, seal and stand bottom side up to let the extract work through the whole jar.

The syrup for the cherries must be as thick as it can be made. Add the cherry juice to the sugar with just enough boiling water to let the sugar dissolve over a low flame. The cherries thin it down when cooking and to keep the syrup must be very thick and very rich.

One-fourth cup of cooking sherry added to each quart of sherries after preserving adds much to the flavor.

'GOLDEN DAWN' IS DRAMA OF JUNGLE

"Golden Dawn" now playing at Walker's State theater is a pretentious and sweeping piece after the manner of "Rose Marie," book and lyrics of which were also done by Harbach and Hammerstein. The stirring sequences of "Golden Dawn" are spongled with captivating songs.

The locale of "Golden Dawn" is the African jungle and Technicolor gives the riotous hues with startling effect. Sounds of thudding tom-toms, voodoo incantations, native chants, and voices in the range of human emotions are heard with uncanny clarity.

Mr. Woolf and Miss Segal are well cast in the leading roles. Alice Gentle presents another moving and understandable characterization. The several hundred negro extras — descendants of African tribesmen—readily revert to type and go into the savage dances, the voodoo rites and the weird chants with uncanny reality.

DEATH ROBS WOMAN OF FICTION TREAT

SAN FRANCISCO, Julyq 7.—(INS)—For two months, Miss G. E. Helvert, serious ill, found interest in an absorbing newspaper serial.

The story was dramatic and the sick woman eagerly awaited the daily installment as it was printed.

A physician told her she had not long to live.

Mrs. Helvert had a last wish—that she might read the unpublished chapters of the story.

The author, Gladys, Johnson, was notified and agreed.

But just as she was taking the manuscript to the dying woman's bedside, the telephone bell rang.

Mrs. Helvert was dead.

FIRST LON CHANEY TALKIE HERE

Lon Chaney, the "man of many faces," comes to the Fox Broadway theater today for a four day engagement in his first all-talking production, "The Unholy Three." Chaney takes five parts in the film, using five different voices. He made a silent version of the same story several years ago, but the talkie is said to surpass it for entertainment in many ways.

UNIQUE WESTERN FILM AT TEMPLE

"The Manhattan Cowboy," featuring the ever rough and ready Western star, Bob Custer, is the feature offering on the program tonight and tomorrow night at Shelley's Temple theater.

"The Manhattan Cowboy" deviates quite a bit from the average run of western pictures and is very novel in that there is a New York sequence interwoven into a wild west thriller that for fast riding, fighting and quick gunplay, could not be beat, even if there were cowboy actors almost as good as Bob Custer and his gang.

Also on the bill is an Educational comedy, a Felix cartoon and an interesting animal study short subject, and one of the main features of tonight's show is that this is "Grocery Night," with lots of free groceries to be given away.

THE TINYMITES

STORY by HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES by KING

The silk worm men worked hard and long. Said Clowny, "Gee, they must be strong to climb around those great big trees for silk worms all the day. Of course I've climbed in big trees, too, but all we ever used to do was scamper out on one long branch, just as a part of play."

"Of course they're strong," the Travel Men replied, "and I am sure you can do everything that they can do if you keep yourself in trim. It's exercise that does the trick and keeps a person feeling slick. Now, see that great big fellow? I was once strong, just like him."

Soon Scouty said, "Well, come, let's go. We've seen enough of this fine show. I'd like another ride upon our caravan. It's fun." "All right," replied the Travel Man. Away from all the trees they ran, all hoping they would reach some town before the day was done.

Back to the baskets queer they jumped and slowly 'lnog the road they bumped. It wasn't long till Carpy cried, "I see some water. Gee, why can't we stop and take a dip and tha tmuch more we'd like this trip." The Travel Man then told them they were near the Caspian Sea.

Up to the shore they slowly rode. Once more the mules all lost their load. The Tinymites took off their shoes and waded for a while. Then Coppy spied a sight that he was very much surprised to see. Some women, near, were washing clothes. This made the whole bunch smile.

The Travel Man explained the sight. Said he, "That stunt is quite all right. You see, today is wash day and the women all are out. The water's clear and they can do their clothes and make them look like new." The Tinymites were glad to know what it was all about.

RULES

1. In playing golf on the Missing Letter Links the object is to change one word to another in a given number of strokes which is par. For example, to go from TEE to PIN in three strokes sounds hard but isn't: TEE, TIE, PIE, PIN. It's probably more difficult on a real course.

2. Change but one letter at a time and be sure the word you have used is one in good usage.

3. The order of the letters cannot be changed.

HOLD to BACK—We wouldn't advise you to HOLD BACK on this hole. Your best stroke [illegible] requirred from the start in order to shoot a par four.

Elect Board Officers At Lutheran Church Meet

CONVENTION IN ANAHEIM WILL CLOSE TUESDAY

ANAHEIM, July 7.—Among the chief items of work accomplished by the delegates to the first convention of the Southern California district of the Missouri Synod Lutheran church was the election of officers on the various boards.

The Rev. J. Heisermann, of Pomona, will serve as permanent secretary; W. Dettmann, of Los Angeles, and P. E. Johannes, of Los Angeles, were elected to the offoces of financial secretary and treasurer, respectively. The mission board will be composed of the following pastors: H. Gihring, of Southgate; A. E. Michel, of Los Angeles; M. Burkhardt, of Long Beach, and the Messrs. H. Franzen, of Riverside, and F. J. Schinnerer, of Long Beach. The Rev. A. C. Bode, of Orange, K. Kuehnert, of Los Angeles and M. Wyneken, of Los Angeles, will compose the board of church extension. The Rev. C. Berner and the Rev. George Theiss, both of Los Angeles, A. F. Herbst, of San Bernardino, J. Stenske, of Los Angeles, and William Reissig, of Los Angeles, were elected to the board of education, which is to supervise the day schools and the Sunday schools. The Rev. E. H. Kreidt, of Olive, will continue to serve as the patron of indigent students.

A telegram of congratulation and good wishes was received from the Texas district of the Missouri synod which is in session at Houston, Texas. Reports of the financial secretary and of the treasurer were read and accepted. A substantial balance was reported for the first half of the year.

The report of the mission board showed that the Southern California district is composed of 45 congregations, seven day-schools and 40 Sunday schools. Thirty-five congregations and schools are being assisted in their work with funds from the mission treasury.

The Rev. Frederick Randt, of St. Paul, Minnesota, continued his report on the mission activities of the synod at large. The Lutheran Free churches of Saxony, of Elsace, France, and of Finland, are being assisted with contributions. The Rev. R. Knippenberg of San Diego, who served as pastor in London, England, during the World war, spoke of the work in London and Copenhagen, Denmark.

Foreign missions are being carried on in India and China. Missions for the blind are being carried on through literature in revised Braille, for which requests have been received from almost all parts of the world, including Australia and Palestine.

Beside the fields already mentioned synod is laboring among the Indians in Wisconsin, the Negroes of the south, the Jewish people of New York City, among the immigrants and seamen in New York, and among various foreign tongue groups in this country.

Special services were held in Zion Lutheran church Sunday morning, the Rev. Wm. A. Theiss, of Santa Barbara, preaching the German sermon and the Rev. R. Jeske, of Whittier, preaching the English sermon. In the evening a sacred concert was rendered by the Lutheran chorus of Southern California, a group of 60 Lutheran singers under the direction of Prof. Edwin Dankworth, principal of Trinity Lutheran school in Los Angeles.

The convention will continue in session until Tuesday evening.

BEACH CITIES PREPARING FOR LIGHTS EVENT

NEWPORT BEACH, July 7.—Merchants and others of Newport and Balboa today were easing up after three big business days, Friday, July 4, Saturday and Sunday, and preparing for another big week end, as the twelfth annual Tournament of Lights, most famous annual event here, is scheduled for Saturday night.

It was estimated that between 25,000 and 30,000 a day, on the average, resided or visited here, each of the three days just past. The weather was ideal for bathing, boating, fishing and the other recreations indulged in by the thousands of pleasure and rest seekers. So far this season has not been as warm as last, however.

Outboard motorboat trials were scheduled to be staged today in the county channel, between Lido isle and the north shore of the bay. A few were run off yesterday, but so great was the boat traffic in all parts of the bay that it was decided to finish today. These are mile speed tests, and are run by the Southern California Outboard Motorboat association.

Yesterday afternoon two band concerts were enjoyed by large crowds. They were given by the Southgate Municipal Boys' band, the first at Newport, at 1 p. m. and the second at Balboa at 2:30 p. m. Fireworks were staged at the Newport and Balboa piers Friday night.

Some criticism and some commendation were heard about the ordinance which prohibited the sale or shooting of fireworks in the city. It was difficult to enforce the shooting part of the ordinance, but many brought in fireworks, bought outside, and thus local merchants, it is claimed, did not get the business, but many fireworks were shot off just the same.

It is said that the council may consider repealing or amending the ordinance in the near future.

Plan Missionary Society Meeting

GARDEN GROVE, July 7.—The Missionary societies of the Methodist church will meet on Thursday for an all day meeting. The Foreign Missionary society will be in charge of the morning session and the home society will conduct the afternoon session.

Churches Change Ministers Fifth Time For Summer

FULLERTON, July 7.—Starting yesterday the Presbyterian and Christian churches joined services for the fifth consecutive summer, with Rev. G. F. Tinsley, pastor of the Christian church in charge of the services at the Presbyterian church during July, and Dr. Graham C. Hunter, pastor of the Presbyterian church, in charge at the Christian church during August.

RUSH WORK ON GYMNASIUM AT GARDEN GROVE

GARDEN GROVE, July 7.—Work is progressing rapidly on the new high school gymnasium which will be completed by August 15.

The building contract was let to Adolph Schmidt for $20,750, the balance of the $26,000 available being used for architect fees, and necessary equipment.

A feature of the new building will be the new type Lamella roof, which eliminates steel support beams, and gives unobstructed view of the courts. Skylights will be installed in the dressing rooms. A balcony will be built on each side with a seating capacity of 300, while the main floor bleachers wil lhave a seating capacity of between 400 and 500. The balcony will be provided with opera chairs instead of the customary bleachers.

DRILLERS FIND NEW OIL SAND IN BEACH WELL

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 7.—The Barnsdall oil well on the Newland Borchard passed out of the oil sand yesterday and went into a brown shale. The drill cut about 15 to 18 feet of sand according to the core barrel tests, it is reported. Indications are that a major oil zone has been reached and the cmopany will explore deeper into the zone to determine its thickness. This is the second oil sand to be discovered below the 5000 foot depth. The first sand was found at around 5600 feet and the second sand at about 6600 feet, the drill passing through about 1000 feet of barren territory. In this barren zone, one heavy water sand was encountered. It is claimed this 6600 foot sand is protected by hundreds of feet of hard shale below the water sand, affording plenty of room to effect a water shutoff. Oil men claim the Barnsdall can back up to this sand and make a production test if no better sand is found at a lower depth. The discovery of oil sand at 6600 feet in this field is likely to have an important bearing on future development here and gives a better prospective oil value to the field.

John Woodson, 200 South Lucerne street, Los Angeles, has taken over the well at Sixteenth and Ocean on the site of the old Boulevard Manor and will redrill the well. He will either land in the sand in the sand above 5000 feet if a good showing is obtained there, or will drill deeper.

Murphine.

NEWPORT BEACH LIGHT TOURNEY GOES OVER AIR

NEWPORT BEACH, July 7.—By arrangement with the Pacific Electric railway and Motor Transit Stages, which serve Newport and Balboa, the 12th annual Tournament of Lights, to be staged in Newport Bay Saturday night, will be on the air three days this week, it was announced today by the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce. General news of this community as a recreational rendezvous will also be given in the broadcast, it was said.

The Tournament of Lights and Newport Bay air program is as follows. Tuesday and Wednesday: KNX—9:10 to 9:20 a. m.; KFWB, 10:45 to 10:55 a. m.; KECA, 12 to 12:15 noon; KFI, 12:30 to 12:45 p. m.; and KFOX, 3:45 to 3:55 p. m. and Thursday, KNX, 5 to 5:15 p. m.

Chairman W. L. Jordan and his entries committee are bending every effort to secure more entries in the "big parade." They emphasized again today that anything that floats, from canoes to cruisers, is eligible, an dthat the cost of lighting an entry is small, and aid will be given.

General Chairman H. L. Sherman has laid out the route for the parade and the chamber has issued circulars showing it. The parade will start at the west end of Balboa Island, proceed eastward along the south side of the island, then turn toward the Peninsula, and proceed westward along the south shore of the bay, skirting Bay Island, as far as Twenty-sixth street, then turn north to the south shore of Lido Isle, proceeding eastward to the eastern end of that island, where it will finish.

SAN CLEMENTE HOST TO CROWD OVER HOLIDAYS

SAN CLEMENTE, July 7.—Southern California went on a play spree over the holiday week-end with San Clemente, like every other South Coast town, playing to thousands seeking recreation and quiet. The beaches, fishing fleet, pier, baseball diamond and golf course of the Spanish Village made hundreds of new friends. Although no formal celebration was planned for the city and its guests they came came anyway.

Business men of San Clemente reported the biggest day of the year. Restaurant men reported a greater Fourth than last year and the holiday week-end was one for prosperity for coast towns and merchants.

Chief of Police L. A. Warren and Officer Harry Comber reported the greatest three days of traffic in San Clemente history, even greater than last Labor Day. The opening of the summer racing program at Agua Caliente was held partly responsible for the heavy traffic.

San Clemente's Fourth was a quiet one. Sailing, fishing, golf and horseback riding parties were the order of the week-end with the Mrs. Ole Hanson party at her beach front home on the ocean the social highlight of the week.

On Friday the San Clemente band played at San Juan Capistrano's annual celebration. Spanish Village runners and horsemen helped make the Mission City holiday a success. San Juan won the tri-city relay with Laguna Beach second and San Clemente's team of Bob Callis, Tim Cleugh, Ralph Young and Harold Brown, third. T. Ramoss of the Ole Hanson jr., stables won honors at the horse events at the Mission City, being adjudged the best dressed and mounted at the show.

Ted Hanson assisted Bob Anderson in putting over the San Diego rodeo while Ole Hanson jr., director of the El Rodeo Riding Club of Orange County, was one of the leaders of the second day of the Huntington Beach rodeo.

Mrs. Ray Walter Was Hostess to Arbor Vitae Members

Coming as a delightful conclusion to their meetings of the past season, was the afternoon party of recent rate when members and guests of the Arbor Vitae club were entertained in the home of Mrs. Ray Walter, 907 West Highland street. Although the little group will not meet again until September, fall parties are expected to begin with an exceptional vim, carrying out the idea of "unchanging friendships" which the club title signifies.

Bridge was played, and on checking the tallies it was found that Mrs. H. D. McIlvain held high score, and Mrs. William Campbell, low. Lovely pieces of rose-colored glass were the contents of the daintily wrapped packages presented the winners. Sharing in the prize awards was Mrs. Arthur Brooks, who received the special guest gift, a beautiful georgette handkerchief.

During the refreshment course the patriotic motif was carried out, and centering the tables covered with crisp white linens, were unique bouquets of fuchsias in deep tones of red fringed with creamy white. The little nut cups too, were in red and white.

Guests of the day were Mrs. Arthur Brooks, and Mrs. Carl Huer sr., and Mrs. Carl Huer jr., of Pomona. Members present other than the hostess, Mrs. Ray Walter, were Mesdames Ralph Fuller, Peter McIntosh, H. D. McIlvain, William Campbell, William Maderia, G. N. Coon, E. V. Swan, John Zulauf and James Almas

MOTHER TO BE IS TAKEN FROM PRISON

SAN QUENTIN, July 7.—(UP)—Mrs. Mary Kavanaugh, San Quentin's second convict mother-to-be, was removed to the cottage hospital in San Rafael today.

Birth of her child is expected hourly.

While Mrs. Kavanaugh, 24, bore up stoically as the hour approached, her husband, also a convict in San Quentin, showed signs of nervousness, not having seen his wife before she was taken to the hospital.

Mrs. Kavanaugh and her husband Edward, entered the penitentiary on January 18, 1930, to serve consecutive sentences of 1 to 15 years and 1 to 10 years for grand theft and second degree burglary. Both offenses were committed in Los Angeles.

NEW YORK CURB

NEW YORK, July 7—(UP)—Heavy selling of of the leading public utilities unsettled the list on the curb market in the post-holiday session today, and, with fsw exceptions, prices worked further below last week's final levels.

Electric Bond and Share was a particular bear target, the issue slumping almost 3 points on heavy offernigs. Fractional declines took place in American Superpower, Cities Service, St. Regis paper, United Gas Corporation, Niagara Hudson and Brazilian traction.

Dere and Company had some wide price fluctuations in the general list, selling off more than 2 points after running up an equal amount in the early trading. Industrials generally weakened, with such issues as Fokker Aircraft, Ford Ltd., and Technicolor in supply.

Oils displayed narrow and irregular price changes. Houston and Gulf were well supported and advanced fractionally. Selling came into Standard of Indiana, Vacuum, and Missouri Kanssa Pipe Line. Investment Trusts fell under the lead of Goldman Sachs, which was depressed almost a point, while Newmont headed a downturn in mining shares.

NEW YORK BONDS

NEW YORK, July 7.—(UP)—Irregular tendencies developed in bond trading today, as Standard Issues held close to previous closing levels, while sceond grade and convertible securities continued to give ground under pressure.

In the foreign section, small gains were recorded in such issues as Bolivia 7s, Chile Bank 6s, German Annunty 5½s and French 7s while Austria 5s, Argentine 5½s and Rome 6½s sold off fractionally. Strong demand sent Haiti 6s up nearly 2 points.

Inactivity marked the railroad section, wher convertible obligations wer under continued heavy pressure. Losses ranging from ¼ to more than a point were recorded in such bonds as New York, New Haven and Hartford 6s, St. Louis-San Francisco 4½s and Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific 4½s, while Standard bonds held fairly steady.

Industrial securities backed and filled in a narrow range during morning trading, as did most of the principal oil bonds. Phillips Petroleum 5½s firmed up ⅛ and continued in fair demand.

Utility issues were irregularly lower, with International Telephone and Telegraph 4½s well taken and fractionally hgihr. Prices of United States government loans shaded slightly in sluggish trading.

FINANCIAL AND MARKET NEWS

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, July 7.—(UP)—Wall Stret traders came back from their long week-end holiday bearish-minded and proceeded to depress prices on the stock exchange vigorously for a tmie, all leaders making new lows on the movement and many making new minimum levels for the year or longer.

CHICAGO BD. OF TRADE

CHICAGO, July 7.—(UP)—Wheat closed sharply lower on the Board of Trade today after setting new low prices on September and July under persistent pressure resulting from a combination of depressing factors. Heavier receipts from the southwest over the holidays, reported hedging pressure, weakness at Kansas City on Saturday and a larg increase in the visible supply swamping the market with sales. Corn showed resistance but was off fractionally while all oats deliveries were a new lows for the season.

At the close wheat was 2⅜ to 2¾c lower, corn was ⅞ to 1⅝c lower and oats were ⅛ to 1 cent lower. Provisions were steady to weak.

EVENING SALUTATION

"During the past year I have made very great progress. No one knows as yet how far I have gone. I do not myself."
—Professor Albert Einstein, physicist.

THE PURPOSE OF THE DRYS

The "dry" leaders of Orange county have had several meetings and have perfected an organization. These people, while not representative of the church organically or ecclesiastically, are members of the church and recognize the obligation of the teachings of religion and ethics in the lives of men.

There is no group that has a higher right to participate in the political activities of the hour. They approach them from no selfish motive. They are not interested in the personalities of candidates. A campaign for sobriety and the severance of the ties between the government and drunkard-making has been carried on by the forces which they represent for 75 years. There are those who complain the moment that such forces become active in political life, but the complaint comes from persons, as a rule, who are hostile to some policy which the church strongly supports, usually prohibition. The Christian Century of a recent date very pertinently says:

> A church with any social conscience at all develops convictions in opposition to current evils which exist under the sanction and shelter of law. It was so with duelling, with slavery, with legalized lotteries, with the liquor traffic, with war. To fight these evils is to fight for the repeal of the laws by which they are protected and sustained; and when these have been repealed, or contrary laws enacted, it is to fight for the maintenance and enforcement of the legislation by which these deadly institutions are banned. If any political party or any candidate espouses one of these causes which the common Christian mind deems harmful to humanity and therefore morally wrong, the issue is joined right there between that party or candidate and the church through which the common Christian mind finds expression.

This condition not only the church people are facing, but others who are not allied with the church but who recognize that organized religious groups in the country uphold the highest standards of moral and civic life, and hence endeavor to govern themselves by those standards. But not only is this true—there are thousands of others, and in the nation millions, who during the decades of contests have at times joined with the forces that would prohibit the exploitation of human weakness because they themselves were weak and desired the existence of the mandates of society to protect themselves from being exploited.

We recall at a prohibition meeting a number of years ago listening to the testimony of a wife as she told the story of a local option fight in her town and of the weakness of her husband for drink—of how he stood all day at the polls distributing ballots, begging the people to vote for the elimination of the saloon from their town to protect him and other men like him. She told of how he waited until the votes were counted and he came home with spirits crushed and threw himself down and declared, calling her by name—"We might have won today if every Christian man had done his duty." But, as she said, they did not do their duty, and the life went out in darkness.

A few months ago an item appeared in our paper concerning the arrest of a young man for drunken driving, and it received the usual notoriety that kind of an item does receive. The next day we received a letter from the mother of that boy, and it was a most pitiful epistle. She called attention to the fact that drunken driving was news, but that her boy, under age, was furnished liquor by bootleggers was not news—that it was so common and was such common knowledge that it ceased to be news.

This is a condition that this league for law enforcement must aid in correcting. This boy and other boys must be rendered as safe as the votes of citizens can make them safe. The highway of life should be as free from him who would destroy the boys' soberness as from those who would destroy their lives. In fact, to that mother the soberness of her boy may be more precious than his life.

LOWERING THE FLAG

When Sharkey in the recent bout with the German, Schmeling, stepped into the ring wrapped in the American flag he was greeted with a loud chorus of boos and hisses. Even in a crowd gathered to witness a prizefight there was an instinctive revulsion against trailing the flag amid such surroundings. It was a wholesome manifestation. To exploit the flag to give respectability to such an affair is not to pay it honor.

The report has since gone forth that Sharkey objected to the use of the flag, but that he was compelled to submit to the wishes of his backers. These backers evidently thought that it would meet with a popular response. Whatever may have been the reason for Sharkey's aversion to the use of the flag in this way, he showed much better judgment than his backers. There are some things that even fight fans will not stand for, and this use of the flag is one of them.

A FIRECRACKER AT LA JOLLA

One firecracker can do a lot of damage. It was a firecracker which started the $20,000 fire which wiped out the business block of La Jolla. It is quite tragic to come home from a day's outing and find your house gutted by fire and find only a few forlorn pieces of furniture, saved from the holocaust, standing around in the yard.

Such things probably serve to keep us aware of the hardships of the war for Independence. It is too bad, though, to prolong the tragic phases of that occasion for more than 150 years.

SIR ARTHUR CONAN DOYLE

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, creator of Sherlock Holmes, has started on his last and greatest adventure, for he passed away this morning at Sussex, England. He had been in ill-health since he returned from South America some months ago.

It was in 1887 that Sir Arthur created Sherlock Holmes and Watson. The first book about these characters was a tremendous success and was followed with a long list of other detective stories including. "Adventures of Sherlock Holmes," "The Memoirs of Sherlock Holmes," and "The Case Book of Sherlock Holmes." Not so long ago Sherlock Holmes was killed by the author, but was subsequently revived because of the popular interest in Holmes, who is probably the best-known character in literature. Conan Doyle's detective works were the forerunners of all the modern mystery stories. Authors have imitated Sir Arthur's mystery creations but have never overshadowed them.

A son of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's was lost in the Great war and from that tragedy dates the author's interest in spiritualism. Spiritualism, as with Sir Oliver Lodge, offered to the learned man the one means of bridging the gap between life and death and the hope of some day making contact with his son. One of the results of his studies in spiritualism was a "History of Spiritualism" in two volumes, published in 1926. His most recent lecture tour in South America and his lecture tour in the United States several years ago were chiefly devoted to the subject of spiritualism.

No man would try harder to communicate from the spirit world with mortals than will Sir Arthur. In any case the sorrow over the loss of his son which has motivated so many of his activities since the death, is ended.

The mystery stories by this author will be found well-thumbed on library shelves. Many copies have been literally worn out with reading. His death will bring about a revival of interest in his books, for parents who remember being thrilled with their plots will introduce them to their young people who have been enthralled by the moderns, who have but followed in the footsteps of a great creator: Sir Arthur Conan Doyle.

M. R. DODDS

So familiar are the aeroplanes flying up and down the Orange county coast that the hundreds along the beach hardly accord them a passing glance nowadays. Yet one of those planes yesterday crashed and killed the pilot, "Dick" Dodds, at Crescent Bay, near Laguna Beach.

An occasional tragedy such as this should be no drawback to aviation, any more than a fatality in an automobile accident keeps us from using our cars on the next occasion for they say that flying is safer, in proportion to miles traveled, than is motoring.

But flying is so spectacular, it is evidence of so great a conquest over elements, that when a death occurs we are awed. The difference between glorious adventure and stark tragedy is impressive and it is sad indeed when a birdman falls.

The Census As News

New York Times

When a city reaches New York's advanced years and swollen population, it takes its census returns quietly. Its position as the country's greatest metropolis is assured. A preliminary announcement that New York has gained 1,126,515 persons in the last ten years is a news item of only mild interest.

In the West, where growth and development are two of the most overworked words in the native vocabulary, the case is different. Census returns, day after day, are front page stuff. Rivalry between San Francisco and Los Angeles is lively, though the southern city has long ago outdistanced the northern.

Los Angeles expands her city limits like an umbrella to include every countable soul, and then waxes hysterical with delight when the newspapers announce that her population tops a million. Final estimates may change the figure a bit, and loyal Angelenos await with bated breath the addition of at least a few hundred more to their number.

Excitement over the startling gain of Beverly Hills was so great that reporters on four different newspapers seized paper and pencil and figured out four different rates of increase. Youthful cities find rapid growing a deliriously exciting business.

Zaro Agha Comes Visiting

Oakland Tribune

Zaro Agha, counting his years, lays claim to 156. He is on the high seas now, bound for America and the chance to pay his respects to a nation which he admires, first, because of its prohibition laws. Zaro Agha is a teetotaler and the champion old man of the world.

Zaro Agha comes to a country which, in many ways is suspicious of the claims of men of other nations. He may expect our senate to investigate the story he is 156 or to hear assertions that once in his lifetime, when he was a mere lad of 80 or 90, he did sneak into his innards a concoction fortified with alcohol. So must he be trained to the ordeal of the camera and the talkies, be prepared to endorse this and that, and speak before the civic organizations. Zaro Agha may even discover the falsity of the old assertion that the first hundred years are the hardest.

Free and Easy

San Diego Union

The railroads are making headway in accident prevention. Industry is making progress in this work. The motoring public lags far behind. The reason is not far to seek. In industry there are specific objectives in view, and there is authority charged with accomplishing them. Obstacles must be ironed out. For the motoring public, though, neither corrective exists. Much of the traffic movement is relatively aimless—i. e., without fixed schedules, required hours of operation, mileage and the like. Each driver is his own authority. If the toll of traffic is to be cut down, the public will have to submit to a more stringent control.

Liberty is a fine thing, in principle, but surprisingly few individuals are fit to be trusted with it.

A Little Mistake Some Parents Are Apt To Make!

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

ANDEAN ANTIS

The Incas, I always believed,
Ruled a great and glorious nation,
Which high in the Andes achieved
A marvelous civilization,
And built many fine and imposing abodes,
On the tall South American ridges
Constructing great temples, and hard surfaced roads
And infinite numbers of bridges.

I suppose that this primitive race
Must possess a great deal of good sense,
And be free from the tiniest trace
Of our latter day sham and pretense.
But though in the making of statutes and laws
Their leaders were highly prolific,
I can give them small credit for morals, because
They invented a snake-bite specific.

We used to beg that—with a wink—
Whenever we felt in the need
Of beverage known as strong drink.
After law put intoxicants under the ban
And a thirst for a nip of them racked us,
We used to declare to the grocery man
That an adder or asp had attacked us.

If these Incas put up the same plea
As these recent disclosures have shown,
They were not a bit better than we,
For they must have laws like our own.
In an eager attempt to get power and votes
The Incan Congressmen made them,
And then, when a dryness rose up in their throats,
They hit on a scheme to evade them.

PLENTY OF COMPANY

Why Is the Stock Market Weak?

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

What is the cause of the latest slump in the stock market? It is chiefly the fact that business has dragged along so many months at ten per cent below normal, with no convincing sign of an up-turn.

What, then, is the trouble with business? Chiefly a lack of buyers.

Why does business lack buyers? Chiefly because the flow of money to consumers has not kept up with the flow of consumers' goods.

Consumption has been falling off for many months, and consumption regulates production. That is necessarily so, because the end of all economic activity is consumption. All our elaborate agencies of production and distribution exist for that sole purpose. Wheat is not raised to fill warehouses; goods are not assembled to stock shops; ships are not built to rot in shipyards. Money spent by consumers, therefore, is the force that keeps the wheels of industry moving.

Current consumption is the chief incentive to current production; deficiency of current consumer buying is the chief cause of unemployment. Failure of consumers to buy summer goods checks the production of fall goods, not only because it dsipels confidence, but also because it ties up capital.

In other words, production looks to distribution for its regulator; and distribution in turn is regulated by the flow of money through consumers' markets.

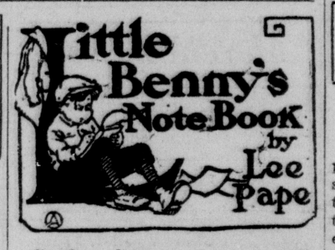

This flow of money, therefore, is the most fundamental of the many factors that have caused the present business depression.

There is no doubt that people would buy, and continue to buy, a constantly increasing volume of goods, if they had the money; and there is no doubt that producers would provide the goods, and keep employment at a maximum, if they were sure that an increased flow of money to consumers would match the increased flow of goods into consumers' markets. See that the consumers have enough money to consume, and producers can easily get enough money to produce; but the reverse is not true.

Everything we can do right now to increase consumer buying will help us out of the present depression. Scarcely anything else is of any help whatever.

Improvements that will cost $5000 will be started Monday by the Odd Fellows' lodge upon its building on Main street between Third and Fourth streets.

The Misses Helen Sylvester, Arvilla Ball, Muriel Lee, Ramona Clevenger, Elizabeth Givens and Helen Remsberg were those present at a club party given by Mrs. George Faul jr. yesterday afternoon.

One hundred and ninety-two building permits were issued between January 1 and June 30,, this year, 48 of which were for new residences.

Last year 90,000 tons of beets were handled at the Los Alamitos factory, which will be the first to start the season's grind, and has been thoroughly overhauled for the four and one-half months of continuous day and night work.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

UNFINISHED BUSINESS

We have done a magnificent job in the protection and promotion of public health.

But despite the doing of this magnificent job there is a staggering amount of unfinished business in this field.

In addressing the spring meeting of the Committee on the Costs of Medical Care, Ray Lyman Wilbur, the secretary of the interior, presented a challenging list of unnecessary diseases that are persistent in national life.

I commend this list for the careful consideration of the nation:

"One million persons are sick with malaria each year. We know that we do not have to have malaria if we want to pay the price to get rid of it, and that price is practically one of dollars. It does not take very much skill in most cases.

"Seven hundred thousand persons are sick with tuberculosis at any one time, most of it preventable.

"Four million persons in the south a few years ago were affected by hookworm disease. There are probably not so many now; they have more shoes, and more of other things there now. But the number affected is still great.

"Thousands of women are sterile or semi-invalids because of gonorrhea. There is much paralysis, locomotor ataxia and mental disease, and there are many handicapped children because of syphilis. All this is correctible, and should be corrected. It is a scientific error, if not a crime, for a child to be born with congenital syphilis.

"We still have 30,000 to 100,000 cases of smallpox each year, in spite of the work of Jenner. Of course that is just plain, outright carelessness and ignorance.

"We have had approximately 26,000 cases and 5700 deaths due to typhoid fever. These were the figures for 1928. They would not be greatly different now. Typhoid fever, of course, is another preventable disease.

"There were about 90,000 cases and 8300 deaths due to diphtheria in 1928. In the case of this disease, also, but little improvement has been made during the past few years. Diphtheria still claims its regular number of little children. Were the skill of organization shown by some of the health departments applied very generally throughout the country, there would be immediately a marked and rapid reduction in cases and deaths.

"People suffer much unnecessary pain because of their failure to visit a dentist regularly; and many obscure disorders are due to bad teeth. Probably not more than 20 per cent of the people go periodically to dentists for examination and repair; most of them go only for the relief of pain."

Until this unfinished business is completed, we should feel ourselves under indictment for criminal negligence.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

WORK FOR OUR CHILDREN

Children must be occupied completely if they are to grow wholesomely. In early years play ought to supply that occupation but as they grow older work gradually edges in and play changes into some kind of self activity, some kind of serious occupation. If that change does not begin in adolescence the child is in danger.

Now it is not possible for a child to change his nature overnight. We often say, "And suddenly he changed." No change is sudden. The roots of the growth that the change indicates, are very deep and took a long time to grow. This change of play to work, this change from rather aimless activity to purposeful activity, did not come, cannot come, without a series of experiences that led to and encouraged the growth.

Children are thoughtless. They can live in a household seething with jobs under way, jobs waiting to be done, ojbs everywhere, and never lift a hand to help. Their attention must be directed to them. When you are doing anything about the house and the small boy or girl stops to watch, explain what it is you are doing and press them into service for a short time. Gradually increase the time and vary the experience until the child can do that one thing independently.

It is astonishing how soon one well-set activity helps to engender another, how soon one mind of power will give a child a start on the next. Very soon the child is useful and able to carry some bit of responsibility confidently and well. This is necessary for the next phase of growth. It is not easy to work with a child hanging to you but that is the way one has to work if one has children.

Indeed, the children often supply the motive for the working. Then let them have their share in the work that means so much to their growth and their intelligence.

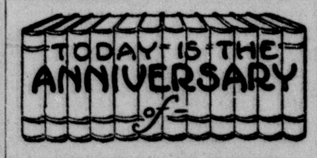

All opportunities for useful work did not pass with the passing of the country home. The city and town-home offer work, and good work for children. It will train a girl's hand and mind to run a vacuum cleaner, thoroughly cleaning a room, /oor and walls, cushions and cracks. Nor will it hurt a boy any to clean and polish a car. And answering the telephone, keeping a bathroom bright, polishing faucets and mirrors, bringing in the newspapers and the milk, attending to waste papers and washing the bottles, are good beginnings for serious work. It is not necessary that work be labor. It should be real, it should mean something to the family, it should count.

It is rarely wise to pay a child for work done about the house. Better give him his allowance and teach him to use it in wise spending, but permit him to earn money outside the home so soon as possible. Work for strangers is worthy of pay. Work for the family is the labor of love and service and no money can pay for that.

But watch to make certain that play is merging into work so that when the great urge for personal expression and personal experience is upon the child, he will not be found with the hands and vague desires for achievement of an infant.

Guide him a little and he will prepare himself for the working days ahead.

ANNEXATION OF HAWAII

On July 7, 1898, the United States annexed the Hawaiian Islands in response to an appeal made by leading residents.

The first appeal for annexation was rejected by President Cleveland but President McKinley approved the second. The move for annexation was launched by the progressive party, consisting of Americans and the better elements among the foreigners and natives who were displeased with the existing government. They objected chiefly to the reign of Queen Liliuokalani who sought to nullify the constitution and secure absolute power. The queen was ultimately deposed and a provisional government organized.

After the United States sent commissioners to the island to investigate conditions it was decided at first not to interfere. This heartened the deposed queen to seek a restoration but when she refused to grant a general amnesty this country proceeded to carry out the annexation.

In 1900 the islands were formally organized into the territory of Hawaii, and a territorial governor was appointed by the president.

Special Session Of Senate Convenes At Noon Today

Presence of 58 Senators Is Surprising and Assures Immediate Pact Debate

WASHINGTON, July 7.—(UP)—Failure to ratify the London naval treaty would plunge the world backward from its progress toward peace, President Hoover told the senate in a special message today opening the session for consideration of the treaty.

Speedy action was urged upon the senate in the 1800-word document setting forth in detail Mr. Hoover's interpretation of the treaty and answering arguments which have been made against it by the comparatively small senate group which is fighting its ratification.

58 Are Present

Nine more senators than the 49 required to obtain a quorum answered the roll call today when the special treaty session summoned by President Hoover met at noon. This made certain the treaty debate would open at once.

Vice President Curtis appointed Senators Watson, Republican, Indiana, and Walsh, Democrat, Montana, to inform Mr. Hoover the senate was ready to receive any communications he might desire to make. The senate recessed for 15 minutes awaiting the president's message.

"This treaty does mark an important step in disarmament and in world peace," the president declared. "It is important for many reasons that it would be dealt with at once. The subject has been under discussion since the Geneva conference three years ago.

"The only alternative to this treaty is the competitive building of navies with all its flow of suspicion, hate, ill-will and ultimate disaster," the president declared.

SOUTHERN CROSS AT SANTA MARIA TODAY

SANTA MARIA, Calif., July 7.—(UP)—The Southern Cross, famous plane of the trans-oceanic flyer Major Charles Kingsford-Smith, will make its final landing here tomorrow morning to become a permanent exhibit at the Hancock Foundation School of Aviation, it was learned today.

The English pilot and his companions are to be guests of the city at a luncheon at which Kingsford-Smith will be presented with a silver chest.

The Southern Cross is to remain at the Hancock school as a gift of the major to Captain G. Allan Hancock, who backed his first flight to Australia.

HUSTON PLANS TO RESIGN AS G. O. P. LEADER

Resignation As Chairman of National Committee to Come in Few Days

WASHINGTON, July 7.—(UP)—Claudius Huston will resign as chairman of the Republican national committee this week, the United Press learned from a responsible source today.

This information was disclosed following a conference last night between President Hoover and Huston, the first they have had in weeks since the disclosures before the senate lobby committee revealed Huston had temporarily diverted Muscle Shoals lobbying funds to his personal stock market margin account.

Chairman Huston, when told by the United Press of this information, said he could "neither confirm nor deny a report of that nature."

He said he had no statement to make.

Meet Thursday

Officers of the Republican National committee will meet here Thursday, the meeting having been postponed from today by Huston. It was learned Huston's resignation will occur before or at this meeting.

Republican leaders have been trying for weeks to displace Huston. Disclosures of the senate lobby committee concerning Huston's activities in connection with the Tennessee River Improvement association, which was interested in Muscle Shoals legislation, created an unfavorable reaction among party leaders. They reported it was difficult to raise party funds for the congressional campaign so long as Huston retained control and Democrats were prepared to make what political capital they could out of the situation.

However, Huston rejected all hints from party leaders and insisted he would retain his post until President Hoover himself requested his resignation.

Hoover Is Host

The president had several party leaders including senate majority leader Watson, Assitant Leader McNary and Senator Fess, Republican, Ohio, at his week-end Rapidan camp. Fess had been mentioned as a possible successor to Huston. He denied the Huston affair was discussed with the president over the week end but Mr. Hoover, after arriving back at the White House Sunday night, summoned Huston for a long conference.

When the meeting here this week first was called, there were rumors Huston intended to announce his resignation at that time, but when it was indicated he had no such intention, President Hoover was represented as deciding to take a personal hand in the matter.

The conference last night was regarded as the outgrowth of this decision.

Corruption Of Reporters To Be Probed

CHICAGO, July 7.—(UP)—State's Attorney John A. Swanson took cognizance today of insinuations of corruption within the ranks of Chicago newspapermen, which have become numerous since the murder of Alfred J. Lingle, Chicago Tribune reporter, and announced that he would ask the Cook county grand jury to investigate.

"I expect to call Harry T. Brundige, St. Louis Star reporter, before the grand jury to try to get at the truth of the charges he has written," Swanson told the United Press.

AVIATOR LOSES LIFE IN CRASH NEAR LAGUNA

M. RICHARD (DICK) DODDS, 29, wealthy Beverly Hills aviator, and well known aircraft race enthusiast, was instantly killed at 2:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon when his bi-plane, in which he was riding alone, went into a tail spin and fell into Emerald bay, at Laguna Beach.

Although the cause of the accident is not definitely known, experienced aviators who witnessed the crash and others who heard about it, declared that they believed that the ship failed Dodd when he suddenly turned "down wind," in trying to make a landing at a small field owned by Florence Barnes, famous woman flyer, who lives at Laguna Beach.

When the ship was turned with the wind, it did not have the velocity to keep it upright, resulting in a tail spin, in the opinion of Eddie Martin, Santa Ana aviator, who was present a short time after the crash, and who landed on the field that Dodd was trying to reach.

Body Recovered

An hour and a half later, Dodd's body was recovered by deputy sheriffs who had been called to the scene. He was still strapped in the plane, showing that any effort he made to free himself from it had failed. There were several persons on the beach who said they saw him attempt to jump from the plane.

Dodd's plane fell a distance of 200 feet. He had endeavored to make the landing at the Barnes home and missing his distance, went out over the bay and turned around. It was on the turn that the ship failed and was seen to plunge into the ocean.

The ship stayed on top of the waves for the fraction of a second and then sank underneath. Later,

Government Engineers Get Busy on Orders From Secretary Wilbur

WASHINGTON, July 7.—(UP)—Government engineers today began work on the giant Boulder dam project on the Nevada-Arizona state line, authorized by congress to provide flood control, irrigation and water power for the southwest and a water supply for Los Angeles, the interior department announced.

Beginning of construction on the dam, to be the largest in the world, was made possible by enactment of the second deficiency bill, which carried an appropriation of $10,660,000 for this purpose. Total cost of the dam and accompanying works will be $165,000,000.

Work Is Started

The project, which was authorized by congress two years ago in the Swing-Johnson bill, is to control floods in the Colorado river, to produce power for hundreds of communities in the southwest, to provide irrigation water for reclamation of thousands of acres of desert land and to give Los Angeles a domestic water supply.

Work was begun on order of Secretary of Interior Wilbur, who telegraphed the engineer in charge, Walter R. Young, immediately after Mr. Hoover signed the second deficiency bill. Young and his assistants already were on the ground awaiting Wilbur's order. Chief Engineer R. F. Walter of the Reclamation bureau is in Denver.

Launch Railroad

First work on the project consisted of beginning a railroad and construction roads, surveys of which already had been made. A complete town will be constructed for the use of men working on the dam and surveys for a water supply system also will be made.

Secretary Wilbur's order, directed to Elwood Mead, commissioner of reclamation said:

"You are directed to commence construction on Boulder dam today."

Wilbur said plans and specifications are being completed as rapidly as possible looking to the advertising for bids and the awarding of construction contracts at the earliest possible date.

Following completion of the work begun today on the railroad, construction roads, town site and water works, the money appropriated will be used to begin construction of the coffer dams and diversion tunnels, Wilbur said.

Wilbur, in announcing beginning of actual construction, said:

National Conquest

"Boulder dam will signalize a national conquest over the great American desert.

"With dollars, men and engineering brains we will build a great national resource. We will make geography and start a new era in the southwest.

Candidate for District Attorney Addresses Men's Bible Class Here

SPEAKING before a large audience at the service of the Men's Community Bible class yesterday morning in the Fox West Coast theater, Harry Westover, Santa Ana attorney pointed out the way to secure enforsement of law and declared that if citizens of Orange county were satisfied with conditions as they were the thing to do was to retain the present office holders in power, but that if they were not, they should elect qualified candidates who were sincere in their efforts and who would give better law enforcement.

Endorses League

Westover, who is a candidate for the post of district attorney in the coming primaries, also forcefully endorsed the formation of the Law Enforcement League of Orange county and declared that he favored the things they were trying to do, regardless of what action they took. He averred that the church people of the county were being aroused and were going to play an important part in the approaching elections. Members of the class showed their approval of his remarks concerning law enforcement by interrupting his address at several points by hearty applause.

Following the address, W. B. Martin, class president, stated that he was very glad Westover had been present and stated that the class would follow its policy of continuing with a program of law enforcement and Christian citizenship, regardless of how the elections turned out. He pointed out that Westover appeared as a speaker in a series of monthly discussions by outside persons on good government and Christian citizenship.

Volunteers Wanted

Prefacing his address with the remark that the fight was on and that volunteers were wanted, Westover asserted that the biggest question before the American people today is prohibition. "It is the biggest question before the public since the days of slavery," he declared. Some have said that prohibition was put over while the soldiers were out of the country and the result would have been different if they had been here. That is a lot of poppycock, for congress and the state legislatures put over the matter and the voters were not called on in the matter. And besides, I was in the army and I know that there were many who favored its adoption just as there were those who opposed it.

"Many drys, after passage of the amendment took the attitude that the fight was won and were inclined to sit back and rest. They met disappointment, for the fight was not won, the battlefront had just been changed. Before passage of the amendment the wets were in power, authorized by law and entrenched behind the battlements

LOS ANGELES, July 7.—(UP))—The decision of Gov. C. C. Young on the pardon application of Tom Mooney probably will be made either Tuesday or Wednesday, it was said at the governor's office here today.

The governor spent considerable time over the week-end studying the report in which the state supreme court acted unfavorably on the plea for pardon made by Warren K. Billings, who was convicted with Mooney or having participated in the San Francisco Preparedness Day bombing in 1926.

Governor Young halted his perusal of the review long enough to deny that the supreme court's action in the Billings case necessarily meant a denial of the Mooney plea.

"I have never said I would not pardon Mooney if the supreme court justices did not recommend a pardon for Billings," Governor Young stated. "I have said, however, that the report would have a strong influence on the Mooney application."

The court's decision left the governor powerless to act in the Billings case since Billings stood twice convicted of felonies and under the state law a person twice convicted must get the supreme court's approval before the governor can act.

Money, however, has only one conviction against him which leaves the governor free to act as he wishes.

It is said at the state offices here that Governor Young already was at work drawing up his decision regarding Mooney.

CROWBOROUGH, Sussex, England, July 7—(UP)—Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, creator of Sherlock Holmes, died today at 71.

The author whose fictional detective has thrilled millions for more than 40 years succumbed to heart disease at his home, Windlesham, at 9:15 a. m. after an illness of about two months which left him utterly prostrated since Saturday.

Sir Arthur left the world still a devout believer in spiritualism and life after death. Undoubtedly he hoped to "return" and communicate with friends from the other side of the grave. Whatever his hopes, it was certain that Conan Doyle would continue to live through his undying detective character, whom he once tired of and "killed" in a book, only to be forced to bring him back to life because of the demands of readers who never tired of the marvellous Holmes.

Over-taxed Strength

Sir Arthur was believed to have over-taxed his strength during a lecture tour of South America which ended eight months ago. When he returned from the tour, which was devoted to discussions of spiritualism, he was forced to remain in bed for some time and since then had not been able to leave his residence. For the most part he was confined to his room but occasionally was able to walk slowly on the veranda.

Although some concern was felt for him two months ago, his condition was not believed to be serious until Saturday when the heart attacks returned and prostrated him. His breathing became difficult and he sank steadily. Toward the end he was semi-conscious.

He had continued writing in recent months but was able to do little because of his weakness. Some of his last efforts were dedted to spiritpuoTnamhenuptocwgh voted to spiritualistic subjects.

Revives Character

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's career as doctor, journalist and spiritualist was overshadowed by a figure he built up in the minds of fiction-lovers throughout the world—Sherlock Holmes, the detective, and his ever-faithful Watson. Sir Arthur created Holmes with his peaked cap and pipe in "A Study in Scarlet" which was an instantaneous success. Before the shrewd detective had run his course the author confessed that he was sick of his famous character and killed him

HOOVER NOT TO TAKE PART IN FALL BALLOTS

WASHINGTON, July 7.—(UP)—An unusually extensive campaign to sell the accomplishments of President Hoover's administration to the country is being inaugurated this week by the regular Republican leaders, the United Press learned today. The campaign is to be conducted via the radio, the press and the political stump.

Mr. Hoover has decided against taking a personal part in the campaign, his leaders having been informed he will not make his anticipated tour of the west's national parks and the farm belt. He will make no speeches of a political nature during the summer recess of congress, these leaders say.

That job has been turned over to two Indiana Republican stalwarts, Floor Leader Watson of the senate and Rep. Will Wood, chairman of the Republican congressional campaign committee.

Watson will start work Thursday with a speech over a national radio hookup. His subject will be "The Achievements of the Hoover Administration." A statement on this topic was issued today through the Republican National committee by Rep. Temple, Repn., Pa., newly appointed chairman of the house foreign affairs committee. Temple, however, confined his encomiums to the international field, asserting the administration had to its credit to major achievements since Mr. Hoover became president 16 months ago.

Negotiations of the London naval treaty headed the list.

Long Beach Man Passes As Result of Accident in County Saturday Night

ELEVEN ACCIDENTS

Prominent Santa Ana Resident Hurled from Sedan When Hit By Car

TWO PERSONS were killed and 18 others injured in a series of 11 automobile accidents reported in and near Santa Ana over the week end, the accidents being of a more serious nature than at any week-end during the past six months.

J. Edmund Snow, 55, prominent Santa Ana realtor, residing at 407 West First street and a pioneer Santa Ana citizen, was instantly killed at 7:30 o'clock last night when the automobile he was driving was struck by a car driven by Herman Millerat, 19, of Anaheim, Route No. 4, at the intersection of Haster street and the Katella road.

Snow was knocked from his sedan and the wheels of the Millerat machine pinned him to the ground. A crushed chest was said to have been the cause of death.

Mrs. Snow, who was riding with her husband at the time, was slightly injured. She was taken to the Orange County hospital, given first aid treatment and then taken to her home.

Didn't See Car

According to a report made at the sheriff's office by young Millerat, he was traveling on Haster street, on his way home, when he reached the Katella intersection. He said he saw no other machine and did not see the lights from the Snow car, if they were on. Suddenly, the car sped across the intersection at a rate of speed that he estimated to be 50 miles an hour. Before he could apply his breaks, his machine had crashed into the side of the Snow machine. Snow was pitched out and thrown under the wheels of the Millerat roadster.

22 CADETS ESCAPE IN AUTO ACCIDENT

GIANT FOREST, SEQUOIIA, Calif., July 7.—(UP)—An investigation was being made here today of the accident Saturday night in which 22 cadets from the Urban Military academy of Los Angeles barely escaped death. A preliminary probe revealed the driver of the bus the boys were in had probably applied his brakes while making a sharp turn and had caused the heavy machine to topple over. Only one member of the party, William Summerland, was still under doctors' care at the Sequoia hospital at Woodlake, where the injured were taken. He was suffering from brain concussion and a possible skull fracture.

POSITION OF REGISTER ON PERSONALTIES OF CANDIDATES

Orange county is in the beginning of a political contest which is stirring the interest of its citizens to their profoundest depths. There has been a knowledge on the part of many that from the standpoint of law enforcement, Orange county does not enjoy in the state and elsewhere, the enviable reputation which the character of her citizens would warrant.

This is undoubtedly due to the neglect of many of her people, of their civic duties on the day of the primary, or at least not exercising a discrimination and an interest that would warrant candidates for important offices to believe that they would have support if they came out strongly for law enforcement.

That condition is entirely changed. Through a questionnaire, which was submitted to the candidates by the Women's Christian Temperance Union, the attitudes of candidates for sheriff and district attorney have become known. And there is a lineup of the forces in the county in respect to this issue which will undoubtedly be heard from in no uncertain way on the day of the primaries.

That some people are interested primarily in men and in candidates and secondarily in issues is a fact that may be deprecated but it is nevertheless true. Through personalities and individuals organizations are built up and loyalties of a personal character are effected. It is more interesting and appealing, possibly, to emphasize candidates rather than principles for which the candidates stand. We as individuals may be for candidates, but representing an institution as this paper is, we feel that we should hesitate about insisting that one candidate and one candidate only represents the ideals for which the paper stands. The same spirit undoubtedly dominates those men and women, who speak in an official manner, for any organized groups. It does become necessary sometimes in order to give success to a cause to unite upon one of the candidates who represents that cause, in order to insure the defeat of one of the opposing candidates. We feared that that condition might arise in Orange county, and so we declared sometime ago that we were going to stand for those candidates who stood right, and we would stand for one of them against the other providing the leaders of the movement designated one as against the other.

A group of such met at Anaheim sometime ago, and announced themselves for two of these candidates—Mr. Logan Jackson for sheriff and Mr. Harry Westover for district attorney. We believe these two men are estimable men, but we did not come out on their behalf as against the other candidates, and we do not propose to do so editorially, and for the following reasons:

First, because to do anything against any one of the candidates who is right as against any other would be manifestly unfair, as we have said above, unless it was necessary to do so in order to win for the cause which is larger than the individual. This is not true in this case.

We believe we can assume that 50 per cent of the total vote of Orange county is favorable to President Hoover's position, to the attorney general of the United States' position, to the enforcement of law. If this is not true, then we couldn't win at election time in the county with any candidate, and there wouldn't be any sense in selecting one as against the other. If this be true, and the law enforcement people deposit into the ballot box on primary day a majority vote for their two candidates for district attorney, one of them is bound to be one of the candidates who will appear on the ticket in November. It cannot be otherwise, mathematically.

Let us assume that 1000 is the total number of votes cast. Granting that our candidates receive 500 and the other candidates receive 500, one of our two men must receive 251 votes or better, and if either one of the other two receives more than that, his companion must receive less, so that one of our candidates would be bound to be in the run-off, for two high men will be in the finals.

The same is true in respect to the sheriff's race. Two candidates for sheriff have qualified, as representing the spirit of law observance, but there are seven candidates running, so that if 50 per cent of the vote of the county is cast for the two candidates, the other 50 per cent must be divided among five candidates. It would be utterly impossible for more than one candidate among the five to receive as many votes as one of the candidates of the two.

The consequence is if 50 per cent of the vote of this county is cast consciously for both law observance and for individual candidates, one for sheriff and one for district attorney will represent this group in the final run-off. For those of us who contend that we are standing for the principle, this certainly is sufficient. If the names had not been filed; if they did not have to appear on the ticket; if it were long enough before the filing so that active work could be done to have one of the candidates voluntarily agree to not run, the situation would be entirely different, but they cannot withdraw themselves even if they should want to.

Their lives, their records and their desires square with the principles which are espoused by The Register. We will be for the candidates in the primaries and all of them who have so qualified, and after the primaries we shall naturally support the ones who are so qualified, whom the majority of like-minded people have placed on the ticket. This is fair and right to the candidates, true to the principles and in harmony with our own purposes.

Sixteen Year Old Boy Rescues Two From Drowning

LAD SWIMS TO CAPSIZED BOAT OUT 600 YARDS

Two Los Angeles men, Edward Tarantino, 21, and W. L. Williams, 30, on the verge of drowning in the ocean, off the shore between Newport Beach and Huntington Beach, yesterday afternoon, were saved miraculously when 16-year-old Charles Butler, also of Los Angeles, swam out to where their fishing boat had overturned and, with the aid of a life guard cylinder, which he took with him, managed to bring both men to shore, while a large crowd stood on the beach and cheered him.

The rescue was declared to be the most spectacular witnessed at the beach in Orange county this year and stamped young Butler as a hero.

Butler swam out 600 yards from the beach before reaching the overturned boat.

After the men were brought to the shore, Newport Beach life guards worked over them for some time before they were resusciated. Both had suffered from cramps while in the water and their condition was serious for some time afterwards.

Tarantino and Williams were thrown into the water when their smal boat was struck by a ground swel it was reported

LATHROP BIDS ARE ASKED BY SCHOOL BOARD

Plans and specifications for improvements and additions at the Julia Lathrop Junior High school were advertised today by the Santa Ana board of education. It was hoped that contracts for the work at the new Frances Willard Junior High school plant could be advertised at the same time, but plans were not ready in time to permit this procedure.

Work at the Lathrop school covered by the advertised plans includes erection of a new unit with eight class rooms located at the rear of the main building, construction of a new cafeteria at the north of the main building, and remodeling of the present cafeteria to provide an adequate music room. The work is estimated by the architects at approximately $130,000, it is reported.

Plans for the new Willard plant are expected to be presented to the board of education for final approval of that body at its session tomorrow evening in the school administration offices.

Regular summer repairs to buildings of the city school system are being carried on now under the direction of R. H. Drake, superintendent of buildings and grounds. Desks at the Poly High school are being refinished as part of the summer rehabilitation program.

of law and public opinion, with the drys making assaults against them. Now it is just reversed. But if those in favor of the dry movement are content to rest on their laurels they will discover they are losing the attainments of many years of struggle.

Must Be Enforced

"Some people seem to think they have the right to pick out the laws they like or dislike and determine to observe them on this basis. Recently a man told me that the law should be enforced or repealed, and I am nearly of that opinion myself, for if it is enforced it will either cause a great wave of approval and support or a like wave of dissatisfaction and its repeal. It is as much a part of the law of the land as the law against slavery and should be equally respected and observed. People have no right to say what laws they will not observe, and those who say that they don't obey it are striking at the very foundations of America.

"Others criticising the amendment are saying that it is unjust, undesirable and should not be enforced. The answer to them is if they have any better method, let them advance it. The trouble here is that they have nothing to take its place. It is all right to make a change if we have something better to place in its stead. We don't say that the 18th amendment is a perfect law—there will always be criticism against any law. When Moses brought the Ten Commandments to his people there were doubtless some who didn't like them and said they wouldn't obey them. Yet they have stood the test of the ages and are recognized as good now as when they were written.

Those who are most seriously criticizing the amendment are criticizing the wrong thing. They say it is no good and what they are talking about is probably enforcement. Failure of enforcement is the topic of discussion all over the country. When they are asked to point out failures they find it is not the law itself, but enforcement.

Elect Dry Officers

"There are a lot of hypocrits on the matter, and I have no sympathy for those who vote dry and drink and act wet, from congress down to the lowest voter. Investigation of records of many officials will show that they vote dry and drink wet. The law cannot be enforced as long as they are in power. The man in charge of enforcement who seems to be dry, yet drinks, is one of the greatest obstacles to enforcement. If you want the law enforced, place in office men whom you know to be—after investigating — are really, as well as professedly, dry.

"The W. C. T. U. in this county early in the campaign sent out a questionnaire on the matter, stating that those who failed to answer would be regarded as being on the other side of the fence. Some candidates have answered this and taken an out and out dry stand. They are in absolute sympathy with strict enforcement. Those who have not answered have just as definitely lined up with the other side. Voters have a right to know if the candidates vote dry and act wet.

"There, I believe, is the big issue. If you can place people in office who believe in prohibition and enforcement, then you will get it. If you elect those who are on the other side they will feel that you don't want the law enforced, and it won't be.

Much Dissatisfaction

"Voters in San Clemente recently told me they were satisfied with the way things were going and don't want a change. If the voters of this county as a whole are satisfied with the way things are running, then the thing to do is to return men to their offices. There has been throughout the county widespread dissatisfaction with the way laws are enforced and the way things are handled. I believe the people of the churches and Sunday schools this year feel that it is time for them to take part in the political situation. They are becoming aroused and have come to the conclusion that they must get busy and see that those who favor enforcement must be elected. If the law is ever enforced in this county, it will be because the church people, the W.C.T.U. and other like organizations get behind a dry program and see that the right candidates are placed in power.

"Several days ago there met at Garden Grove a group of people from all over the county, about seventy-five in number, who formed what is called the Law Enforcement League of Orange County. I did not know of the meeting and I was not present. I know only a few who were present. I do not know who the League is going to endorse for office, if any one, and I do not know whether they are going to endorse my candidacy. Regardless of whether they endorse me or not, I wish to say to you, and to the citizens of Orange county as well, that I endorse the thing the Law Enforcement League is trying to do."

"It is necessary for those who believe in law enforcement to get together in a well organized group and throw their united strength behind the candidates who stand for law enforcement. If the people of Orange county are satisfied with the manner in which law enforcement has been handled, then the thing to do is to return to office those who are now in office. However if the people of Orange county believe that there should be more strict law enforcement then it is up to the voters of the county to make a change. If no change is made, then the citizens of Orange county will place their stamp of approval on the way the affairs of the county have been handled, and will commend those who are now in charge of law enforcement for the manner in which they have been handling their officers."

off, only to be forced by popular demand to revive him.

Later in life—after the death of his son in the World war—Sir Arthur turned to spiritualism and became one of its foremost advocates. He devoted himself to intense study of "spirit" messages and was a firm believer in the ability of mediums to communicate with the dead. On several lecture tours to the United States spiritualism was the main theme of his talks.

Sir Arthur was born at Edinburg May 22, 1859, and inherited from his father, an artist who contributed to Punch, and his uncle, a writer, a certain talent for literary things. He took medical examinations at Edinburgh university, however, and went into a hospital. The family resources were small and he was forced to undergo many hardships.

One of the most unusual cases connected with his life was the actual experience of Oscar Slater, who was imprisoned for murder. Sir Arthur heard of his protests that he was not guilty soon after the man was convicted at Glasgow in 1909. He set about collecting evidence to free Slater, who had convinced the author that he was not guilty of killing an aged woman. After 18 years Slater was released and the government paid his $30,000 compensation, chiefly due to Sir Arthur's efforts in the role of a real Sherlock Holmes.

Sir Arthur was knighted in 1902. His first wife was Louise Hawkins whom he married in 1885 and they had one daughter.

In 1907 he married Jean Leckie and two sons and a daughter were born to them.

Report New Case Of Paralysis To Health Officer

One new case of infantile paralysis appeared on the records at the office of Dr. K. H. Sutherland, county health officer today. The latest victim, Betty Dyckman, eight years old, of Rochester street, Costa Mesa, was quarantined at her home Saturday.

Dr. Murray Bates, of the health office, is investigating several suspected cases today. Additional information at the health department revealed the fact that Imogene Stone, 22, who was quarantined July 4, left Claremont college June 17 and was a resident at Cottage City, Laguna Beach.

Health officials are continuing to issue warnings against permitting children to congregate in groups and are urging that they be kept at home.

AVIATOR LOSES LIFE IN CRASH NEAR LAGUNA

it came to the surface. Several boats in the bay at the time almost reached it, before it went down.

The boats and the number of volunteers from the beach dragged the ship through the water to the shore, where Dodd's body was found in the cockpit. The body reached the shore at 4:46 p. m. Dr. Mason pronounced Dodd's death from a broken neck.

Dodd, with a number of friends, including E. R. Cheeseman, Lt. Col. in the quartermaster corps, U. S. Army, and a party of five, which also included Mrs. Barnes and Gladys O'Donnell, well known woman flyer, left Clover Field yesterday morning. They stopped at Long Beach and had lunch and the party were enroute to Mrs. Barnes' home at the time.

Alone In Plane

Dodd was in one ship and the remainder of the party were in another. They witnessed the tragedy from the air, circled, went back to Long Beach and then drove in an automobile to Laguna, where they identified the body.

Among eye witnesses to the accident were Dana Lamb, life guard at Laguna Beach, Fred Steegar, Los Angeles, a bather, and several others whose names were not taken.

A coroner's jury, in an inquest over the body at the Minter Undertaking parlors at Laguna Beach this morning, returned a verdict of accidental death, caused when "the plane he was flying went into a tail spin and fell into Emerald Bay."

Dodd was well known in Santa Ana. He had landed at the Eddie Martin Airport here a number of times and was a friend to employes of the airport.

Martin Searches

Martin, hearing of the accident flew to Laguna for the purpose of aiding in the search of the plane, but the body had been recovered when he arrived.

"The airport there is much too small. I had warned Dodd about it and he told me that he would not try to land there. He missed his mark and in my opinion lost control of the ship when he turned "down wind" in turning back to try to make another landing," Martin said.

Dodd was well known in aviation circles as a race enthusiast. He has assisted in arranging a number of airplane races in and around Los Angeles, and himself won a cup at Los Angeles on Memorial day in a race. He was an experienced flier.

No funeral arrangements have been made.

DEATHS

A WORD OF COMFORT

When your heart cries out to know of the welfare of your best-beloved and you try to imagine what it must mean to be with God, think of Jesus Christ as men and women knew Him when He walked this earth—for God is like that.

The Master, as they called Him, forgave and comforted and consoled. He healed the sick and the broken in heart. He always understood and was touched by human need. He suffered with those who sorrowed because He loved them. He bestowed the power to triumph over all that would fetter and limit a soul. He triumphed over all weakness.

Then realize that you too may have all this, if you will hold close to Him, to fit you for a life of eternity with the one you love the best.

SNOW—July 6th, 1930, J. Edmund Snow, of 407 W. First St. Notice of funeral will be given later by Smith and Tuthill.

ALL CONCRETE WORK FINISHED BY CONTRACTOR

With the Griffith company today completing the pouring of concrete, indications pointed to the possibility of Santa Ana boulevard being thrown open to public traffic on Friday, July 25, according to Clyde Jenken, city engineer.

It is possible Flower street will be made available to the public within a month, as the Griffith company was scheduled to start concrete work on that street at noon today, following completion of the cement work on the new artery into Santa Ana from the north.

The concrete bridge across Santiago creek and the wooden structure across the Santa Ana river are ready to carry the burden of traffic that will develop on the new thoroughfare when it is opened, the engineer said. The Flower street bridge also is complete. It is a concrete structure.

The chamber of commerce is planning an event for celebrating completion and opening of the highway, but as yet nothing of a definite character has been developed. George Raymer, secretary of the chamber, said that the committee would meet Wednesday to discuss and develop plans for the celebration.

Opening and improving of the boulevard was the cause of the first and only recall election ever held in Santa Ana, and failure met an attempt by opponents of the improvement to have the five members of the city council removed because they provided for the improvement by creation of an assessment district, the boundary lines of which are co-incident with those of the boundaries of the city.

The contract price for the improvement, including Flower street, is $282,900. Opponents responsible for the recall election declared that the council should have submitted to the voters a proposition involving such a large sum of money.

The new highway parallels the Southern Pacific tracks from a point near the county hospital to North Main street, and offers a more direct entrance to the city than the present highway by way of Orana.

An ornamental lighting system and planting of ornamental trees are included in the program. The street will be paved 56 feet between curbs, the width being the same as that obtaining on the reconstructed state highway between Santa Ana and Anaheim.

FIRST MEETING HELD TODAY ON EQUALIZATION

Convening for its annual session as the board of equalization the county board of supervisors at noon today met in the court house to consider the matter of valuations on the assessment rolls which might be subject to protest from tax payers throughout the county.

The group, acting as the board of equalization, has the power to raise or lower assessed valuations as placed on property holdings in the county by the County Assessor James Sleeper, upon protest or applacation of interested taxpayers. The board will be in session for the next two weeks, maintaining a constant quorum in order to take care of business that may be brought before the body, according to members of the board.

Only individual cases that are brought up before the board for consideration, can be changed on the assessment rolls, and the county board of equalization is not permitted to make horizontal increases or decreases in the amounts of the valuations, according to county officials.

County Assessor James Sleeper and his chief deputy, Morris Enderle, delivered the 33 books containing the assessment rolls of the county to the supervisors' room shortly before noon, together with the index whereby the assessment of any tax payer may be located in the cumbersome records. There are some 70,000 names and assessments on the rolls, Sleeper indicated.

The total assessed valuation of property in the county is the subject of speculation among county officials, who are questioning as to whether it will exceed or fall below the figures last year, which was $179,460,750, including $5,468,715 of intangible property. The staff of the assessor's office is working to get this figure totaled and expects to have it ready to be announced tomorrow.

The force in the office of County Auditor William Jerome, is hard at work making preparations to add to the assessment rolls the amounts due for city property improvement assessments as determined by the various cities in the county for whom the county collects taxes along with the county tax. These include Santa Ana, Seal Beach, Fullerton and San Clemente. The force of employs is preparing these additional items so that the task of placing them on the rolls after the board of equalization has released the books may be facilitated.

Another heavy task that faces the auditor's office is that of preparing the totals of assessed valuations for the various county subdivisions, such as city, school, road and special districts, cemetery, drainage, fire, library, lighting, protection and water districts. Each one has to have listed and totalled the assessed valuation of property within its particular confines.

In view of the general re-appraisement of the county that has been proposed following the recommendation of the last grand jury, there is anticipation in some quarters that the business of the board of equalization this year may be unusually heavy.

Catch 1400 Pounds Of Smelt In Hour

HANOVER, N. H., July 7—(INS)—However true, it's still a fish story.

About 1400 pounds of smelts in one hour by means of a small net is some catch—but so goes the story of E. M. Allan, "Roll" Lewin and the writer of a local newspaper, upon their return here recently from a week-end fishing trip.

In an article, the writer relates his story of the trip but does not reveal the position of the lake from which the trio netted their huge haul other than to state it was ninety miles from Hanover. This may seem to exceed the the legal limit, but in this particular pond there is no limit, except that six quarts to a dip in broad daylight was the minimum.

The local scribe goes on to state the distribution of the delectable fish to residents of this city. There follows a list of the recipients beginning with the name of a local cafe having received one bushel of the prize catch and continuing on through a large section of the Hanover directory.

VAN BARON GETS PRISON SENTENCE

George Van Baron, who was found guilty of a charge of forgery last Tuesday by a jury trying his case, appeared before Judge James L. Allen in superior court today and started proceedings to secure freedom. A motion of arrest of judgment was filed first in behalf of the prisoner, which was denied by the court. He then filed a motion asking for a new trial. This also received an adverse decision from the bench.

Von Baron then was sentenced by Judge Allen to San Quentin prison for the term prescribed by law, which is one to 14 years. The prisoner stood mute during his interrogation preparatory to sentence, refusing to answer the questions. Von Baron's trial and conviction grew out of his alleged act in forging a check for $36 last May. He was arrested by Anaheim police on June 20.

YACHTING NEWS

BY S. H. LUCAS

The second star boat race in the Independence day series was sailed on the ocean course Saturday, starting at 2:29 p. m.

A good full sail breeze from the west was blowing at the start, and the fleet of 12 were sent away to port, around the irregular shaped diamond of the official course. This made a course of somewhat over six miles almost four of which were to windward.

The start was down wind and Webster, in Tom Robin, went over in the smoke of the gun, closely followed by Keith and Beardslee.

A luffing match developed at once and over half of the boats were apparently headed for San Clemente. As in the previous race, all the starters overlooked the opportunity to take the leeward end of the line for the start, but Keith and the old 297 laid off to leeward, and went on about their business heading for the mark.

The boats presented a beautiful picture as they hauled up to round, the entire fleet pointing up almost as a single boat. On the first long leg on the beat, all the boats but Temple Murphy elected to swing down the coast on the port tack. Hubbard slowly but surely opened up a gap so that when he rounded the bouy off Newport pier, he was a little over a minute to the good.

As the boats approached the Balboa pier, it was seen that Hubbard was a boat's length ahead of Webster, while Keith was a cose third. Webster took a leg out and stood out too far into the current so that when Keith came about and stood off the land Webster was forced into third place. The current was running strong down the coast off shore and the boats standing out had an additional amount of drift to overcome. The race was sailed in the exceptionally short time of one hour, 58 minutes and eight seconds, considering the course used.

Hubbard sailed his usual dependable race, while Keith did exceptionally well, and Bartholmae, with three seconds in five races, is looking up among the fast ones.

Sunday's race was the third and last of the Independence day series and the final results of the series are as follows:

1	Tempe IV	735	Hubbard	45
2	Tom Robin	296	Webster	38
3	Vega	742	Lyons	36
4	All Star	628	Keith	35

13	Intrepid	348	Modisette	5
14	Tempe I	328	Merriman	4
dnf	Pleiades	429	Garner	..

The breeze was moderate at the start and throughout the first round of the triangular course off Newport, but freshened during the second lay until the rail was under and the sails showed wet along the foot. The Intrepid carried away a jib stay and was three minutes late for the starting gun.

Tommie Webster again got the start, but was so crowded on both sides that he was hindered somewhat in shaking himself loose. Hubbard passed the windward mark 45 seconds in the lead, but Lyons gained 18 seconds on the run before the wind. On rounding the home mark Keith stood out to sea far enough to keep to windward of the approaching fleet, but got too far out in the current and lost almost two minutes, just like Webster did yesterday. On the last beat out Lyons split tacks with Hubbard, but lost a little instead of gaining, but it was figuring right, for he did not carry on far enough to jeapardize his position, and he might have gotten a slant which would have enabled him to catch Hubbard. Keith's consistent work is being commented on, as this is his second season, and third, fifth and fourth in the series just finished, with fourth place, just one point behind third, is good work. The finish and standing in the elimination series are:

No.	Name	No.	Skipper	Pts.
1	Temple IV	723	Hubbard	14
2	Vega	742	Lyons	13
3	Tom Robin	296	Webster	12
4	All Star	628	Keith	11
5	Turtle Star	568	Bartholmae	10
6	Moira	526	Beardslee	9

10	Mart	591	Rice	5
11	Intrepid	348	Modisette	4
12	Tempe I	328	Merriman	3
13	Pleiades	429	Garner	dnf
14	Sirius	428	Murphy withd'n

In rounding the weather mark the first time round, Murphy followed Bearslee around a little too closely, and had his jib stay tipped by the boom of the Moira when she jibbed. No harm was done but Murphy, like a good sport, pulled out for home and threw up his chance of the elimination series. I won't say with a smile, for those things hurt too much to laugh at, but there is a kind of good feeling that comes over one after the first disappointment scatters, that rather relieves the sting.

FIRST IN THE NATION

THE RIGHT KIND OF STUBBORNNESS

There are people who will let no hope of gain, however alluring, tempt them from a financial program they know to be safely profitable.

There are savings institutions who will let nothing swerve them from a course the years have proven sound.

Because 70 thousand people with this kind of stubbornness have found in this institution the same firm strain, Pacific States Savings is today the largest building and loan association in the Nation.

Our flawless record through the good times and bad of 41 years is a matter of common knowledge. Our present conservatism, liquidity and strength may be gauged by such factors as these:

Voluntary cash and bond reserves of over five million dollars, exclusive of other cash on hand . . . no bank indebtedness . . . invested capital totaling three million dollars . . . furniture and fixtures and real estate accounts carried at $1 . . . a loan rate of 7%, bringing to us the choicest first lien collateral being offered to any California building and loan association.

Consider our 6% facilities in the light of these facts while you can reap their benefit for the last half of 1930.

STEADFASTNESS S SUBJECT OF PASTOR'S TALK

In his sermon at Broadway and Walnut Street Church of Christ yesterday morning, James H. Lewell, minister, spoke on "Steadfastness," taking for his text First Corinthians 15:58: "Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye steadfast, unmovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labor is not in vain in the Lord." He said in part:

"I believe that is one of the most difficult commands be have to obey, steadfastness being one of the finest of virtues. The word carries with it the same idea as the word 'steady,' as opposed to the spasmodic, hap hazard way of doing things. Most of us have the ability to rise to the occasion in times of emergency and meet the demand upon us. In family life we can make sacrifices of our comfort and convenience in times of sickness or trouble, but the test of human love and affection is the ability to meet, with unfailing patience and kindness the petty annoyances of daily life. It is fine to observe Mother's day by some special token of affection for mother—a gift, a loving message, a card or a letter—but the test of our devotion to mother is the care and consideration we show her 365 days in the year.

"The same is true of our church life. It is an easy matter to serve the Lord for a season, when crowds are present and enthusiasm runs high, but the test of our love and loyalty to the Lord is our ability to be regular and faithful and diligent in serving the Lord when the special occasion is past, the crowds disappear and the enthusiasm has died down. The test is not spasmodic, spectacular service, but regular, steady work in the service of the Lord month in and month out, year in and year out. When we can work this way, we are approaching the Bible standard of steadfastness."

Mexicans Sought After Battle In Talbert Region

Deputy Sheriffs today were seeking three Mexicans, said to have been the ring leaders in a disturbance reported at Talbert on Saturday night, when a window was broken and a woman was hit in the head.

Sheriff Sam Jernigan and several deputies rushed to the town, on receipt of a riot call, but could not find the offenders, who were believed to have been drunk on marijuana, it was reported.

Marie Marquis, of Talbert, reported that one of the men hit her over the head in the skirmish and tried to rob her. A window was broken in the restaurant operated by Martha Benaviades, Sheriff Jernigan said, reporting that one of the men threw a brick through it.

AIR MALES 'TAKE OFF'

CHILD SERIOUSLY BURNED AT BEACH

The two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Clark, of Los Angeles, was seriously burned about the body, arms and legs yesterday afternoon while on the sand just south of Huntington Beach, when she got into a can of lime that was left on the sands.

The child was rushed to the office of a Huntington Beach physician and was given first aid treatment, later being removed to her home.

A. L. Steward, deputy sheriff, who made an investigation of the case, reported that he would turn the case over to the county health department with an idea that a complaint would be lodged against a beach club, which formerly occupied the spot and which is believed to be responsible for leaving the lime on the beach.

A. L. Steward, deputy sheriff, made an investigation. He reported that Hamblin, who lives next door to the store, was out of town at the time. Entrance into the place was made through a rear door, which was entered after the lock on the door was broken.

JAILED ON CHARGE OF CHILD STEALING

Charged with child stealing, the child in the case being his own two year old daughter Elaine, George Bullock, 43, wealthy Pasadena engineer, was arrested last night by Sheriff Sam Jernigan, at 3126 Logan street, where he is said to have hidden the child.

The baby also was found and taken into custody for the time being. Several hours later Pasadena police officers, who had been seeking Bullock, arived here and returned him to the Pasadena jail.

According to a story Bullock told Sheriff Jernigan, at the time he was arrested, there never had been a court order which kept him from the child. He said he was not guilty of the charge. He was arrested on a warrant from the Pasadena police.

The child was alleged to have been stolen by the father a week ago. Since that time, the father has been moving her from one town to another, it is said. The mother lives at 741 Sunset street, Pasadena.

State Traffic Officer Douglas Chambers, who was passing the hospital at the time, saved the youth's car, which had caught fire, using his pyrene extinguisher, which is now part of the equipment on state motorcycles.

First Union Church Service Complete Success

REV. BUCHANAN OF SANTA ANA GIVES SERMON

ORANGE, July 7. — Marked by what was described as the largest crowd ever attending a union church service in Orange, the summer schedule of union evening services got under way at the First Christian church last night, with the Rev. Walter Scott Buchanan, pastor of the First Christian church of Santa Ana regarded as one of the ablest pastors and preachers in southern California, as speaker.

Orange pastors participating in the first of the union meetings were the Rev. C. H. Masten, pastor of the Baptist church, who offered the prayer, and the Rev. Robert Burns McAulay, pastor of the Presbyterian church, who read the scripture lesson.

"The Mission of the Church" was the subject of the sermon presented by Rev. Buchanan, who used for a text portions of Matthew, "I will build my church" and John, "As the Father sent me, so send I you." The Santa Ana pastor began his sermon with a definition of the church, which he said is Christ. He also stressed the greatness of the church.

"The church is the greatest institution in existence," he asserted. It is greatest of all in authority, in vision, in purpose, in purity, in influence and in sacrifice.

"The mission of the church is to create in the hearts those outside its membership a demand for Christ," he asserted. Illustrations of the activities of a salesman in first creating a desire for the article he was selling were presented as an example of the mission of the church. "People must have created in their hearts the desire to become a part of this greatest of all institutions," Rev. Buchanan averred.

Special music was presented last night by the choir and musical director of the Christian church.

Rev. Franklin H. Minck, pastor of the First Christian church will be speaker at the service next Sunday night. All the union services this year will be held at the Christian church.

GIRL RESERVES IN QUARANTINE FROM ASILOMAR

ORANGE, July 7.—Following the return to Orange of all the girl reserves who were at Asilomar attending the annual summer conference and camp, with the exception of Miss Fern Sumner, Y. W. C. A. secretary, who was in charge of the Orange delegation at the camp, and Martha Huscroft, one of the girls, conditions at the camp are reported to be regarded as greatly improved. It had previously been anounced that five of the Orange girls and Miss Sumner and Miss Hannar Neerer, who was assiting Miss Sumner, would be kept at the camp for posibly two weeks in accordance with quarantine restrictions following the development of a case of infantile paralysis by a Los Angeles girl at the camp.

Under careful supervision the girls at the camp are being gradually relased and sent to their homes in an effort to combat against the further spread of the disease in the camp. The temporary quarantine which was placed on the camp following the development of the one case, was modified to permit the return of Doris Flippen, Dorothy Finley, Dorene Simpson, Eulabell Smith and Miss Neerer, who were brought back by Marion Flippen and L. F. Finley. The girls, it is reported, are under quarantine at their homes.

Martha Huscroft and Miss Sumner were left at the camp when the last party returned, but are expected to arrive home soon.

Theodora Mueller, Catherine Gorath and Mildred Stutheit came back earlier last week, upon announcement of the development of the case of paralysis at the camp, and reports at that time indicated that other members of the Orange group would be kept at camp for at least two more weeks. Authorities in charge of the situation, seemingly have determined that conditions do not warrant strict enforcement of the quarantine and that the situation is best handled through the return of the girls to their homes.

Orange Sunday Schools Open Again Sunday

ORANGE, July 7.—Sunday schools in Orange churches were opened for children below the fourth grade here yesterday for the first time since their services were abandoned several weeks ago on recommendation of county health authorities in an effort to combat the spread of infantile paralysis. The opening was determined upon after a conference with health authorities. Attendance was not up to standard and it is felt that this was no doubt due to the fact that many parents are still keeping their children away from gatherings of children.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH HOLDS LORD'S SUPPER

ORANGE, July 7.—The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was observed yesterday morning at the Presbyterian church, and the pastor, Rev. Robert Burns McAulay, spoke briefly on "God Taking a Spiritual Census." The observance of the communion service occurs quarterly at the church and there was a good attendance for this special occasion yesterday.

"There are at least four questions God would ask in taking a spiritual census," the pastor told his congregation yesterday. "The first question is 'What is your name and what does it mean?' In Revelation we read the promise 'To him that overcometh, I will give a white stone and on that stone a new name is written.' Every Christian has a new name, signifying hope, faith and love—a hidden capacity for something higher and deeper — something signifying an undeveloped promise of powers unrealized that our names are not merely just Jones or Smith. Our name is 'A Child of God.' This means that we are trusted individuals for finer things.

"The second question that God might ask is 'Where do you live? Where do you feel at home? Have you moved since the last communion service? Where are you now?' The Bible says if anyone is in Christ, he is a new creature, signifying a new environment. The old things have passed away. We know what it is to live in love and we have seen people live in a rage or in a passion. Do you live in Christ?

"The third question is 'How many are there of you?' Is it a case of a Dr. Jekyll and a Mr. Hyde? Or are you one, having all of the complexes, desires and aspirations and passions of your life unified by one intergrating factor—loyalty to Christ?

"The last question is 'Are you employed?' Christ says 'I gave my life for thee. What hast thou given for me?' Elijah was under the Juniper tree and was asked 'What doth thou here?' He was discouraged and moping and whining because he felt it was no use to do work for God. He was the only one who believed. He was told, however, to rise up and go to Damascus and that there were thousands of others and he was not the only servant of God on earth.

"God is not mocked 'Whatsoever a man soweth—that shall he also reap. He that soweth to the spirit shall of the spirit reap eternal life.' How do we register in a spiritual census?"

SAN PEDRO MAN GIVES SERMON TO LUTHERANS

ORANGE, July 7.—Special services were conducted at the Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran church yesterday, with the Rev. John C. Schmidt, of San Pedro, occupying the pulpit as guest of the pastor, the Rev. Walter Loretz. Rev. Schmidt chose as his text the well known words of the Savior recorded in John 3:16, from which he developed the unfathomable theme "The Wonderful Love of God for Sinful Man" in an enlightening and soul-stirring sermon.

By way of introduction the speaker said of the text: "It is worthy to be written with letters of gold into every mortal's heart, yea, to be inscribed with glaring, flaring, flaming letters of fire across the firmament."

He gave instances of the power of his text "when expounded in sermons and intimate talks at the sickbeds of despairing sinners and the dying couch of departing saints, and also upon savage Heathen." The importance of the text was also set forth by these words of the speaker:

"The teaching of the forty inspired writers of the sixty-six books of the Bible may be summed up in this sentence, that the brilliant young Jewish Rabbi, Christ, told the venerable old night-disciple, Nicodemus."

Developing his theme the speaker said in part:

"For the purpose of displaying the unbounded greatness of God's love, Christ first places over against each other God, the Lover, and the world that is loved by Him. There is God, the eternal, Infinte Being, who with omnific power spoke into existence heaven and the earth, and all things, visible and invisible in the whole world; who filled the immense and immeasurable space with sun, moon and stars that rival the earth in grandeur; whose magnificent voice we hear in the fierce roaring of the thunder-storm and whose glory we see in the flashing lightning as well as in the smiling sun-shine upon the ripening harvest; who commanded the soaring eagle to build his eyrie on the lofty mountain crags aid charged the lion to raise his cubs in the stony desert. God who has bidden the fishes to sport in the crystal palace of the sea and the little gold-bug to take his night's lodging in the unfolded petals of the rose-bud; God who has given to the lily her sumptuous beauty and to the modest violet, blushing in secret, her delicious fragrance; God who has the heavens for His throne and the earth for His foot-stool: such is God who loves."

"Consider what the gift of the text is. God gave Eden unto Adam and Eve; He gave the ark to Noah and his family; He gave Canaan to Abraham and his posterity; He gave unto Jacob flocks and herds, sons and daughters, man-servants and maid-servants; to Moses was given the rod of divine authority and great intercessory power; Israel had the Law, the tabernacle and the holy service; to David was given a royal scepter and victory over all his enemies, and to Solomon splendid dominion; but God gave unto the world, lost and ruined by sin, His only-begotten Son. Mark the glorious gift: a Son, not a garden, a Son, not flocks, herds and numerous posterity; a Son, not green pastures, orchards, groves, fruitful valleys, mountains of gold and rivers of rushing silver; a Son, not world-wide possessions, thrones of imperial power nor empires of perishable magnificnce: a Son, His only-begotten Son."

"To whom is this gift given? The text says: 'That whosoever believeth shall not perish but have everlasting life.' The word 'whosoever' lands the matter on the highest pinnacle, clears away every limitation, and makes God the Lovers of every man's soul and Jesus Christ the atoning Savior of every man's sins. 'Whosoever' embraces all countries, kindred, colors, and ranks of mankind; it includes all grades of guilt, all hues of moral character and affliction; to the Heathen in his blindness is this redeeming love offered; to the splendid skeptic with mind flashing in brilliancy and power; to the lowest moral wreck who has cast away his man or womanhood and gone down to wallow in the slums of big cities; to you is this love offered."

"No tidings that ever came from heaven can send a thrill of joy so deep as the tidings contained in this text. Let its sweet syllables forever ring in your ears like the prolonged soundings of silver-toned bells."

LONDON, July 7.—The oldest passenger railway engine in England is still in active service. It is the "Ryde," built in 1864, and which is now running on the Brading-Bembridge line in the Isle of Wight.

LUCKY BREAK?

LONDON, July 7.—Sidney Fox, recently executed for the murder of his mother, got a lucky break. The day after he paid with his life, he was cited to appear as a co-respondent in a divorce suit. At least he was spared the scandal of a divorce suit even though he did suffer the penalty of death for murder.

CHAMBER GETS SENTIMENT ON P. E. SERVICE

ORANGE, July 7.—Declaring that the Orange Community Chamber of Commerce at present had no intention of taking action on the proposal of the Pacific Electric railway company to abandon passenger service between Orange and Santa Ana, V. D. Johnson, secretary of the organization, has said that other than feeling out public sentiment in the matter, the chamber did not expect to participate in the matter.

It is reported that, except in the south part of the city, there is little discussion of the matter, most of the citizens feeling unconcerned as to whether or not the service is maintained. The railroad commission order provides that permission of both cities must be obtained before service is abandoned and Pacific Electric officials have stated that they intend to appear before the councils at the earliest possible date. Augmented bus service to give 20 minute service all day is promised by the transportation company.

Speaking of the time the new right-of-way from Main street to Lemon street was obtained for the railway company and recalling the refusal of the electric transportation line to make street improvements when the tracks ran down Glassell street to the Plaza, which finally resulted in cars stopping at La Veta avenue, a prominent business man has stated that the citizens of Orange subscribed a fund of $25,000 with which to purchase the right-of-way over which passenger service is scheduled to be abandoned in favor of better bus service.

Bus service would be arranged by the Motor Transit company, which is controlled by the Pacific Electric, by providing local service in addition to the service now given on the through lines between Santa Ana and Los Angeles and Riverside.

Jones Favorite To Take Open

'BOBBY' SHOOTS 2 PAR ROUNDS AT INTERLACHEN

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 7.—Bobby Jones, defending national open golf champion, today started the serious business of final preparations for his first battle on Thursday in this year's contest.

As a Sunday pastime, Jones went twice around the Interlachen club course where the tournament will be held, in par golf. Both rounds were made in 72.

One stroke under par is the best that has been recorded on the present course which has been used for little more than a year. Jones, who had never played at Interlachen, made two par rounds yesterday.

Sports writers expressed the opinion that if the champion could make four rounds of par golf in the tournament, the title would be his again although he will face what he himself has called "one of the toughest and most severe fights to retain the title that I have had in any tournament."

Short holes seemed to trouble Jones most. He made the longer ones in par or under-par scores but the short ones caused him to lose the advantage he had made in the under-par long holes.

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
(I.N.S. Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, July 7.—The overture is stilled, the lights are lowering and, out in the body of the house, falls the vital, tingling hush that seems to be the inevitable prelude to a big moment. The curtain is about to rise on the drama that only a great open golf championship can inspire, greater than ever this time because Bobby Jones, the big two-title man just in from England, is playing everybody for his third championshipof the year and the thing they call human-interest will go for a veritable orgy of emotionalism.

Play Begins Thursday

The open championship will be played over the Interlachen course at Minnaepolis Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week end and, while the pressure of the 72-hole contest is on, its susense will fairly clutch a nation by the throat.

Jones, back from England and his tremendous victories in the British amateur and open championships, is the sentimental favorite because the four major championships of America and England are the goal of his heart's desire and everybody loves a winner.

He also is the practical favorite it being considered execrable taste to be against success. And Jones, with one exception, has been no worse than second in the open since that year, represents more than success. He practically stands for infallibility.

Odds Against Bobby

The odds say he will fail this time. He has won too much; tired, sated with honors, he is due to lose. Some trace an affinity between Interlachen and Oakmont and aver that this isn't the type they call a Jones course, which is so much hair tonic. When Jones is playing golf, every course is strictly a Jones course.

Another thing, if Jones can win two championships in England when he isn't, by the admission of himself and others, playing golf, he can win one championship when he is.

It isn't characteristic of Bobby Jones to be off stride for longer than a day or two at a time. By a natural sequence of events, he would be hitting his shots again in the old, lashing Jones way at Minneapolis—if it wasn't for the suspicion that St. Andrews and Hoylake took more out of him than nature yet has been able to put back.

Four Have Chance

However nobody has the temerity to ask, who will beat Jones at Interlachen? A more sensible query would be, who can beat him?

There are four men who face a great chance of success in this connection, namely, Horton Smith, eLo Diegel, Ed Dudley and Walter Hagen, provided he is the rejuvenated specimen they call him to be. To the list might be added the names of Gene Sarazen and Johnny

They will do a lot about deciding the first half championship of the Santa Ana City Night Baseball league's split season down in the Bowl tonight.

The one-two teams of the international race, the Dennis Printers and the Courthouse, mingle at 6:45, in the first game of the regular Monday doubleheader, and if the Printers get the decision they will assure themselves of no worse than a tie for first place.

Peek's market and the Auto Club of Orange County provide the other end of the twin bill. They have at it at 8:15.

Other games this week follow:

Wednesday—American Legion vs. Eastern Oil, 6:45 p. m.; Excelsior creamery vs. Peek's market, 8:15 p. m.

Thursday—Auto Club of Orange County vs. Orange County Builders' exchange, 6:45 p. m.; Pacific Telephone company vs. Richfield Oil, 8:15 p. m.

GOUYD, CALOPE HEAD THURSDAY FIGHT PROGRAM

After a week of darkness because of the proximity of its "Fite Nite" to the Fourth of July, the Orange County Athletic club will be open for business again Thursday night, Promoter H. T. Foust announced today.

The Delhi matchmaker has signed Clayton Gouyd and Pastor Calope, two of the sweetest bantamweights on the Pacific coast, to headline his forth coming show.

Dynamos for action, the little fellows have agreed to do eight rounds. They met at the Orange County Athletic club in a six-rounder several weeks ago and fought to a draw in one of the fastest and most exciting contests in the history of the Delhi arena.

Foust has the card well supported.

Baby Jack Dempsey, Alhambra bantam and normally a main-eventer in his own right, will box the semi-windup under Calope and Gouyd, Foust said. The little edition of the Manassa Mauler is going to meet Clem Avila of Pomona, a well regarded junior featherweight who has never appeared at Delhi.

Leroy Haynes and Jack Gilmore, heavies, head the three preliminary affairs. They will travel six rounds. Haynes recently stopped John Grigsby.

The other two motches, both four-rounders, are Cliff Burrier vs. Joe Vasquez, 130 pounds, and Ande de la Parra vs. Louie Wooley, 120 pounds.

Promoter Foust announced he will renew his "women free" policy this week. Femine fans who are accompanied by escorts holding reserved admission tickets will be admitted free.

VAN RYN AND ALLISON BEAT LOTT AND DOEG

WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 7.—Bill Tilden will not be a memebr of the United States Davis cup team in 1930, Eugene Dixon, non-playing captain of the American team announced today.

WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 7.—Wilmer Allison of Austin, Tex., and John Van Ryn of East Orange, N. J., defeated George Lott of Chicago and John Doeg of Santa Monica, Calif., in the final match of the British men's doubles today.

Scores were 6-3, 6-3, 6-2.

The Allison-Van Ryn victory constituted a successful defense of the title they won in 1929.

Each of the players scored frequent aces from the services. Doeg was particularly adept in serving. He showed some weakness, however, in anticipation of ground shots although he made several brilliant recoveries of opponents' smashes.

Allison, fully recovered from Saturday's gruelling match with Tilden in which the Texan was defeated for the singles title, showed mastery of all edpartments of his game. He displayed canny judgment in passing opponents' balls which went out by only an inch or so. Allison repeatedly passed between his opponents.

REPORT TILDEN UNABLE TO PLAY FOR DAVIS CUP

NEW YORK, July 7.—A report was circulated in tennis circles here today that William T. Tilden, Wimbledon champion, would be unable to accept a place on the United States Davis cup team even if it were offered to him because of a contract to cover the challenge round for a newspaper syndicate for $3000.

According to the player-writer rule no player is allowed to write "current news reports." Tilden's superb play in the Wimbledon tournament has led many to believe that he will be invited to play two of the singles matches against France, provided the U. S. wins the inter-zone final.

Berlin Doctors Order Rest For Max Schmeling

BERLIN, July 7.—(INS)—Max Schmeling, world's heavyweight champion, suffered a rupture of veins in his left side when Jack Sharkey fouled him in their fight for the title, it was stated today in a medical certificate on his condition by Professor Wilhelm N. Baetzner, surgeon at Berlin University.

The injury will necessitate a complete rest of two or three months and perhaps an operation, it was said.

"Schmeling will be able to fight again," Dr. Baetzner said. "Decision as to the operation will be made after the period of rest."

Tempe IV Wins Star Boat Racing Series

The Newport Harbor Yacht club's gonfalon of victory flew from the masthead of Walter Hubbard's Tempe IV today in honor of its performance during the three-day Fourth of July star sloop series.

The series went to the Tempe yesterday by finishing two minutes ahead of Tommy Webster's Tom Robin, with Billy Lyon's Vega third, Jack Keith's All-Star fourth and W. A. Bartholomew's Turtle Star fifth.

The races were the first on a program leading up to the annual Southern California championships at Newport Harbor next month.

RANCHERS WIN FROM FIREMEN IN LATE RALLY

Putting over the tying and winning runs in the last of the ninth inning, D. Eyman Huff's Anapauma Rancho baseball team took the measure of the Los Angeles Firemen, 3 to 2, at the Orange County Fair grounds yesterday.

Outfielder Cabrera rang the bell with the deciding tally on "Chick" Brown's sacrifice, his run breaking up one of the finest pitcher's battles of the season between Danny Velasquez of the Anapaumas and Gibson of the Smokeaters.

The Ranchers had a 1 to 0 advantage until the sixth when the Firemen made their only two runs off the Anapauma slingers as a result of two errors by Lehr and one by Brown. The score remained 2-1 until the ninth when the Anapaumas rallied and pulled the game out of the fire.

Velasquez struck out 10 and in other ways conducted himself as a high class moundsman.

Anapauma will play at the Fair grounds again next Sunday but its opposition has not been selected as yet. The score:

LEAGUE CHIEF TO INVESTIGATE ANAHEIM CASE

Pending an investigation into circumstances surrounding his sudden decision to leave the Santa Ana Stars and join the Anaheim Valencias, Orville Schuchardt, night baseball's outstanding outfielder, today was suspended by George W. Peterkin, president of the National Night league.

At the same time, President Peterkin called a meeting of all managers for Wednesday night at 7:30 at which it is expected the now famous "Schuchardt Case" and other conference problems will be threshed out. The pow-wow will be held in the traffic offices at the courthouse.

Schuchardt's suspension is based on a contention that the ex-Santa Ana sensation appeared in uniform on the Anaheim bench last Thursday night at a time when he still was technically under contract to the Santa Ana club.

Will Probe Job Status

The real reason for the investigation, however, is said to concern the employment Anaheim club officials are said to have obtained for Schuchardt.

President Peterkin was quoted today as follows:

"Schuchardt has not been released by Santa Ana. In that case he still must be consideerd Santa Ana's property.

"Even if released he cannot appear in Anaheim uniform or be signed by any Class A team for two weeks.

"I recently forwarded a letter of warning to all managers relative to the so-called swapping of players and threatened action against all infractions of our transfer rule. There have been innumerable attempts to ignore the two-week clause which was inserted in the regulations to cope with situations exactly like this one.

"Almost every manager, including Anaheim's, has asked for protection from players who walk out on them at a crucial stage on account of jobs furnished by rival managers or sponsors. Others have protested vigorously the swapping of players by friendly managers.

Employment Not Recognized

"The National Night Baseball league does not recognize 'jobs' and does not give a player the privilege of jumping from one team to another because of employment. However, any manager may give a player his release if he so desires but no matter how many jobs a man is offered he cannot join another team if the manager refuses to give him his discharge.

"The president of the league has the authority to give a player his release if he feels the circumstances warrant.

"I have written Manager George Pace of Anaheim for his version of the Schuchardt case. Manager Pace has always obeyed implicitly all league rules and I am neither criticizing nor judging either the Anaheim club or Schuchardt, a very popular player, until I hear both sides.

"I have merely attempted to explain the National Night league's rules and policies having to do with points brought out by Schuchardt's decision to leave Santa Ana and join Anaheim."

BROOKLYN AND WASHINGTON IN SURPRISE ROLE

NEW YORK, July 7.—Brooklyn and Washington, a pair of ball clubs little considered as pennant contenders back in April, stood out boldly today as challengers for the two major league pennants at the half-way mark in the race.

Brooklyn held the National league lead, while Washington was virtually tied with the Philadelphia Athletics for the American league lead, less than one-thousandth of a percentage point separating the A's from the Senators.

Deposed from the top rung Saturday, Brooklyn climbed back into first place yesterday by winning from the Boston Braves, 10-4, while the Chicago Cubs dropped a doubleheader to the Cincinnati Reds, 5-4, and 8-7.

With a long home stand in front of them, in which they play only three games away from Ebbets field during the rest of July, the Robins have an excellent chance to firmly entrench themselves in first place.

Trailing the Robins by .008 points, the Cubs will be on the road until July 28.

Ike Boone, slugging outfielder from the Pacific Coast league, joined Brooklyn Sunday and in his first appearance in the lineup made a home run and single and turned in a spectacular catch in left field. Boone may be the answer to "Uncle Wilbert" Robinson's prayers for another hard-hitting outfielder to team with Babe Herman and Johnny Frederick.

BERRY LEADS LOCAL GUNMEN TO VICTORY

Santa Ana defeated Pasadena in three straight skeet matches here yesterday, although the total margin was by only 15 birds.

Walter Berry was the outstanding shooter for the Santa Ana club, making a perfect score of 25 in his second game. He also had the highest run ever made here by breaking 37 consecutive targets in two matches. Other Santa Anans who have perfect scores registered are Rex Rogers, W. R. Montgomery, Cal Gregg and Arnold Peek.

There will be another shoot Thursday at 5 p. m. The scores:

HOOKS AND SLIDES

by WILLIAM BRAUCHER

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Ladies' day is every Friday at the Cubs' park . . . the other day more than 30,000 gals saw the game there, and a few thousand were unable to get it . . . it seems there was a couple of males there, usurping the ladies' seats. . . . Jack Coombs of immortal world series fame says the pitchers these days are better business men than they were in his days but worse pitchers. . . . Flingers in the old days, says he, used to make a study of baseball, and were not slow in finding a batter's weak points. . . . Chief Bender says some of the hurlers nowadays don't even know the guy they're pitching to. . . . Jack says Eddie Plank, Christy Mathewson, Chief Bender and lads like that would be just as effective today as of youre in spite of the lively ball . . . because they could put the old apple where they wanted to when they had to.

CATCHER'S MISSPENT LIFE

Roger Bresnahan ought to be a millionaire instead of coaching the Tiger pitchers. All the old big league catchers should be in rocking chairs on Easy Street these days clipping coupons off fat bonds. They should have goe into the prize fighting business where a man gets paid handsomely for taking a punch below the belt.

In the course of his career, Bresnahan took hundreds of swiftly pitched foul tips in the groin. Yet did old Roger assume the horizontal position of the modern fistic foul claimer, holding his side and writhing in pain? He did not. He just "shook 'em off," and went on catching.

Mickey Cochrane, the alert catcher for the A's, offers some interesting testimony on the low blow in baseball.

"Every catcher in the leagues," says Mick, "including myself, is frequently struck in the groin with a foul tip that comes with rifle speed from the bat. And it comes faster than human fists can strike. Did you ever see a catcher toted away to the bench after taking one of 'em? No, you didn't. Neither did I.

'A couple of years ago we had a young pitcher named Lloyd Powers. One day in batting practice, one of the boys lined back a terrific smash that struck Powers fiush on his protector. It knocked him down and we ran out to see ho wbadly he was hurt. He was up before we got there, and he went right on pitching. After practice he showed us his protector. It was dented almost flat.

"Can these bozoes like Carnera or Godfrey hit like one of those line drives or like a fast pitch that is tipped foul? Pshaw! John Barrymore isn't the only great actor in the world, after all."

WELLER NOBLE EQUALS RECORD AT WILLOWICK

When Dallas Jeffers shot a 63, nine strokes under par, to establish a new Willowick course golf record the other day it was taken for granted the mark would stand for days to come.

It did—for four days.

Weller Noble, an amateur from the San Gabriel Country club, tied it yesterday.

Playing with Ralph Noble, owner of Willowick, and Pembroke Waugh and Frank ("Red") Angell, the imperturable Weller Noble rounded the West Fifth street public layout in the same figures, 63.

His card follows:

Out, par	4	3	5	4	4	5	3	4	3	4—36
Noble	4	3	5	4	4	4	3	3	3	4—33
In, par	4	3	5	4	4	5	3	4	3	4—30
Noble	3	3	4	4	4	4	3	3	2	4—30

Noble is a two-handicap player at San Gabriel.

Peculiarly enough he now holds the records for the city's two courses for his 68 still stands as the amateur mark at the Santa Ana Country club.

Willowick officials announce that competition for the Reid cup will begin immediately. Qualifying rounds will be held July 11-20, inclusive, with first rounds starting July 24. Each round will be of 18 holes with a 36-hole final. This tournament is open only to members of the Willowick Golf club.

COFFING, AINSWORTH IN GOLF VICTORIES

L. D. Coffing won medal play and J. L. Ainsworth match play in Class A sweepstakes that enlivened week-end golf at the Santa Ana Country club.

Coffing shot an 81-16-67 to defeat Van Pomeroy, 79-8-71; B. Z. McKinney, 83-10-73, and W. C. Fletcher, 84-10-74. Ainsworth was one down. L. W. Bemis, three down, was second.

Dr. A. C. Robbins, 91-20-17, was first in Class B medal play. Then came Milo Ainsworth, 90-18-72; Dr. John Ball, 97-24-73, and Dr. J. L. Wehrly, 95-22-73. M. B. Wellington, two down, won Class B match play. E. Robins and Dr. M. A. Patton were four down.

W. F. Kogler's 82-12-70 entitled him to a leg on the Lorenz cup. Van Pomeroy, 79-8-71; J. L. Ainsworth, 84-12-72, and A. B. Watson, 86-14-72, all were close behind Kogler.

Mrs. J. L. Ainsworth and J. K. McDonald had low gross card in mixed foursomes yesterday. They finished with 173-17-156. Mrs. J. L. McFadden and Don Andrews won low net with 205-50-155.

Farrell and possibly Mac Smith, Al Espinosa and George Von Elm. The latter is always held out as a pre-tournament threat in the open and always the posting of the final returns finds him languishing in the outer darkness. Maybe he is due this time. I don't think so.

Neither do I thik that Espinosa is the man to recover from the 23-stroke denouement by which Jones won the 1929 championship in a play-off that was strictly a payoff fro mthe moment they arrived at the first tee. Nor is Mac Smith the man he once was—and it is a matter of record that, whatever he was, it wasn't enough.

Hagen Dangerous

Hagen, fresh, supposedly well trained and doubtless determined, looks the part of Jones' arch-rival. He is without a title of any kind for the first time in many years and, with this inspiration to goad him on, Hagen will take plenty of convincing. Sarazen, another ex-champion who has staked everything on the winning of the open, is playing his irons with all of the old precision, which means trouble for anybody and everybody. Farrell, the 1928 champion, showed a flash of the old stuff in the New York state open and may again be the man he was two years ago.

Diegel would have won his first open in 1920, if "Chick" Evans hadn't taken so much trouble to tell him how to do it. He has won none since. He is due now. He, in fact, will always be due—until age withers and custom stales his infinite variety.

As for Shute and Dudley, they are young men with all of the strokes and the Brash, impelling urge of youth behind them. Shute almost stole the show at the last open. He is a better golfer today. So is Dudley, a fact that his 142 in the qualifying round and his record 66 at Shawnee clearly establish.

But, when the last word is said, it all comes back to Jones. To say that the man who beats Jones will win the open championship is to commit a bromide. The man who can beat Jones always wins the open championship.

HOOKS and SLIDES

ly the actions of a fouled fighter from the instant he is struck until he leaves the ring? I watched Phil Scott carefully at Miami and Max Schmeling after being struck low by Sharkey in New York. Both recovered rapidly. I never will believe that either of them was hurt so badly that he could not have continued after a rest of three minutes.

Invariably boxers who are fouled are able to walk out of the ring after the decision has been rendered.

The foul blow is not as incapacitating as it is made out to be by those lily-livered lobsters who groan and thrash about the floor holding their groins as though they had just taken a flock of machine gun bullets in a vital spot. The man who invented the modern protector, which is used in most fights, will stand up there and let Sharkey, Godfrey or anybody else hit him as hard as he wishes, flush on the protector and deny any suffering.

I believe there is only one way to end fouls and that is to end them. When a boxer claims foul, let him be examined, and if he has been fouled, he should be allowed five minutes' rest. Then, on with the dance.

AUTHOR OF "THE AVENGING PARROT" "THE BLACK PIGEON," ETC.

CHAPTER XLVII

The Berkeley household had been notified on Sunday afternoon that the inquest into the death of Doris Matthews would be held Monday morning at 10 o'clock, in the funeral chapel of the city morgue.

When Dundee entered the dining room at half past eight he found that he was the last to appear for breakfast and that every member of the party was decorously dressed for the coming solemn occasion.

"Hello, sluggard!" Gigi greeted him joyously, then broke into parodied song:

"My bonnie lies long past the hour,
My Bonnie lies long in his bed!"

"Gigi!" her mother reproved her. "Just when we were talking a funeral ,too!" She turned explanatorily to Dundee: "George and I have decided to have the funeral here, dear Mr. Dundee. In the 'little parlor'—not the servants' sitting-room. Doris was Church of England, wasn't she, dear Mrs. Lambert? I'm sure our own Episcopalian minister would be delighted to conduct the services, both here and at the cemetery—"

"Mrs. Berkeley, Mr. Crosby and I have talked it over and we'd like to take Doris to New York and bury her beside Phyllis. We feel it is what they both would want—"

"Oh!" Mrs. Berkeley said uncertainly. Then, in a rather strange voice: "You—won't be coming back, I suspect?"

Mrs. Lambert smiled faintly and shook her silver-white head. "I don't believe you will need me, now that—"

"Of course it was largely because of Clorinda's marriage to Mr. Crosby that I needed you." Mrs. Berkeley interrupted eagerly. "and now that she is going to marry John Maxwell instead—"

"I'm glad you admit it at last, Mother," Clorinda cut in quietly.

"Oh, I'm going to stop trying to manage other people," Mrs. Berkeley laughed, flushing brightly. "Your father and I had a long talk last night, children and your old Abbie is going to settle down and be a model small-town wife and mother."

Husband and wife exchanged the first frank, affectionate glance that Dundee had seen pass between them and the young detective felt a sudden surge of something remotely akin to fondness for the woman he had disliked so heartily.

He looked swiftly toward Gigi. The child's eyes were downcast and her lips were trembling, but whether from grief at Mrs. Lambert's imminent departure, or from a painful joy over her mother's tacitly promised reformation, he could not tell. But when he glanced at Mrs. Lambert he felt no doubt at all as to what had brought the tears to her blue-gray, shadowed eyes. For her eyes were upon Gigi....

At a quarter to 10 Dick Berkeley knocked impatiently upon Dundee's door.

"I'll be down in five minutes, Dick," the detective promised. "Wait for me in the car. Have the others gone?"

"Everybody's gone—including the servants," Dick told him. "And you'd better make it snappy or we will be late."

Carrying a suitcase, Dundee moved swiftly from bedroom to bedroom, collecting white canvas tennis shoes and golf shoes. In one bedroom he paused before a dressing table, picked up a black-and gold bottle of perfume, removed the stopper and sniffed. There came over his face a ludicrous expression of disappointment. Then he read the label again—Nuit de Joie; he'd had a girl not so long ago who used that scent: he sniffed again, then smiled triumphantly. Very carefully he wrapped the bottle in his handkerchief and deposited it among the shoes.

"What are you doing with that suitcase?" Dick demanded. "I thought you were staying here until this murder business was cleared up."

"I am," Dundee assured him. "I'm just taking some stuff into town to have it—cleaned."

They drove almost in silence, but when Dundee asked the boy to stop at City Hall, Dick commented dryly:

"I didn't know there was a laundry or a cleaners' shop here, though I suppose the politicians need one for their dirty linen."

Dundee was still smiling at Dick's brave attempt at a joke when he entered the laboratory of Dr. Abel Jennings, city chemist and toxicologist.

"Another job for you, Doctor," he announced, as he opened the suitcase. "You may find it a poser. I want to know if there are any wood alcohol impurities lurking beneath the nice white polish on any of these shoes, but—particularly this pair."

"Then I'll analyze the cloth of these shoes first," Dr. Jennings promised matter-of-factly. "What's the poser?"

"I thought maybe the white shoe polish had queered our chances," Dundee admitted. "Then one other little thing, Doctor....Look! Can you tell me whether this perfume is a mixture of what the label claims it to be and Fleur d'Amour, the scent on that handkerchief I gave you to analyze?"

"Each perfume is composed of its own essential oils," the doctor answered. "If there's any—what d'you call it?—Fleur d'Amour I'll be able to tell you."

"When?"

"I'll try to have both reports for you by five o'clock," the doctor answered, then explained in some detail the need for so much time.

Dunn returned to Dick's car, without his suitcase. "One more stop, please, Dick, and then for the inquest——Meredith's Department store."

It took only five minutes for the detective to purchase a bottle of Nuit de Joie, identical in appearance with the one he had just left in Dr. Jennings' office and three minutes more to give it into Detective Payne's hand, with explicit instructions. Before Dundee took his place among the witnesses to be called by the coroner, Payne was well on his way to Hillcrest. Coroner Price reproved the two inexcusably late arrivals with a fierce frown, which seemed to have no effect upon Detective Dundee's cheerfulness.

The inquest dragged along until past noon, bringing forth no new evidence, for of his own recent discoveries Dundee said nothing. Dr. Price called upon him to tell of the discovery of the body in the lake and of its removal to the summer-house, then dismissed him. At one o'clock District Attorney Sherwood requested an adjournment of the inquest until Thursday and the coroner readily agreed.

"Well! Where do we go from here?" Captain Strawn grinned at his young subordinate as they lingered in the cleared funeral chapel. "I'll bet Sherwood would give his new silk topper not to have jumped into this Jonah of a case so cockily. Did you see the papers this morning? Promised the dear voters he'd have the murderer behind bars within 24 hours."

"I'm afraid his prophesy will come true, Chiefthough no one will be more surprised than District Attorney Sherwood himself!"

"Hey! What's that? Been holding out on me, have you, young feller me lad?" Strawn blustered.

"I have got a pot on to boil," Dundee confessed. "I can't tell you about it now, for I may be all wrong. But if I'm right—and I think I am—you are now invited to attend a very private confession party at Hillcrest this afternoon at six o'clock."

"And in the meantime, what am I supposed to do?" Strawn demanded sarcastically. "I'm only the chief of the homicide squad. What are my orders?"

Dundee laughed. "I want you to telephone to Hillcrest this afternoon about four o'clock and request, very officially, the presence of every member of the family and of Crosby, Mrs. Lambert and Wickett, in your office. I'll come along as a matter of course and to make sure there are no absentees. You can tell them anything you like, hammer away at them with as many questions as you can think up. I'll slip away at five and telephone you whether the pot's boiling or not. If it is, I'd like for you to duck out at about 20 minutes to six, leaving word with Sergeant Turner to dismiss the crowd 10 minutes after you're gone. By then you'll be on your way to Hillcrest, with a 10 minutes' start of the Berkeleys. I'll be waiting for you and then—with luck—the pot should boil over very promptly."

Probably if Dundee had not staged a confession in the Rhodes House murders in much the same secretive and dramatic fashion, Captain Strawn would not have lent his aid to the program outlined by his subordinate, without knowing what it was all about.

As it was, the chief of the homicide squad followed instructions to the letter. At five o'clock Dundee left Police Headquarters for Dr. Jennings' laboratory. At ten minutes past five he spoke four cryptic words to Captain Strawn: "The pot is boiling." In another five minutes he was in a police car, headed toward Hillcrest, his suitcase between his knees.

But he was not jubilant. So far as he was concerned, the show was over. With all his heart he wished he could leave the theater before the curtain rose on the third act—that terrible, necesasry third act in which a human being, as lifeloving as himself, would be crushed before his eyes. But he had to go on with it. With his heart like lead he set his stage. From the center of a dressing table in a bedroom at Hillcrest he removed the black-and-gold bottle of perfume he had purchased that day and put the original bottle in its place. But that flask had a new label now. In place of the gold seal bearing the name, Nuit de Joie, there was a large plain white sticker. And on the glaring white surface were the words, lettered in black ink by Dundee himself:

FLEUR D'AMOUR

On each side of the desecrated perfume bottle he placed the grayish white remains of a tennis oxford—shoes that had been so gleamingly immaculate when he had first seen them—on Saturday morning.

Ten minutes later Captain Strawn and Detective Dundee were crouching side by side in a clothes closet, whose door was open just enough for the two men to observe the entrance of the room's owner and any drama that might take place before that sinister dressing table.

There were voices in the hall. Tired people coming up to dress for dinner. Faintly there came the sound of doors opening and closing. And at last the knob they were watching so intently turned quickly under an urgent hand.

"Coming!" Strawn whispered hoarsely and his fingers closed hard upon Dundee's shoulder.

NEVER BEFORE IN SO SHORT A TIME HAVE SO MANY WOMEN MADE SUCH AN IMPORTANT DECISION

During the first six months of 1930, Southern California Edison Co. Ltd. installed more Electric Ranges than in any other like period in its history. Never before in so short a time have so many women made such an important decision.

In their kitchens today they have the most advanced, the most highly perfected cooking equipment that civilization has yet known. In their lives they have more leisure hours than any women charged with the care of a home ever have known before. In the management of their homes they are showing greater efficiency, more true economy, than ever has been possible before.

Two Great Groups of Ultra Modern Electric Ranges Offer YOU These Same Advantages

A new shipment of the ultra modern, fully automatic Electric Ranges which have brought new freedom, new interests, a new sense of achievement into the lives of these thousands of women is now on display at your Edison office.

They are especially designed for California kitchens. In them are embodied the ideas of 30,000 California women who have cooked electrically for from one to ten years. These ranges are modern in every sense . . . not alone in their ease and efficiency and economy of operation . . . not alone in automatic features that no range ever had offered before . . . but in beauty, color, grace.

The cost is surprisingly small. A very low down-payment places the range of your choice in your kitchen, ready to use. The range you are now using will apply on the purchase price. The balance may be handled in easy monthly payments spread over an entire year.

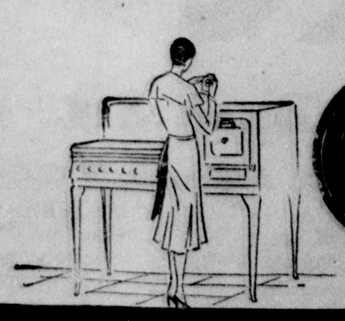

Especially now, with the hottest summer months at hand, you should see these ranges. Come in, if you can. Or, if more convenient, mail the coupon below, and have an Edison representative call. Either way, there will be no obligation to buy . . . but ownership will be made extremely easy if you wish it, as we are quite sure you will.

Southern California Edison Co. Ltd.

Please have a representative call with photographs of the new 1930 entirely automatic Electric Ranges. Also tell me about the Edison Special Low Combination Rate for Electric Range users, which will save me money on electricity for every household use.

TRAMPLING ART FOR PROFITS

FOR all its virtues, modern industrialism can run amuck under the spur of greed for profits. Witness, the ruin threatening the Art of Music.

300 musicians in Hollywood supply all the "music" offered in thousands of theatres. Can such a tiny reservoir of talent nurture artistic progress?

The true function of the machine is to increase the value of the product fed into it—not to debase it. Therefore mechanical music, as a substitute for Living Music, is a spurious form of progress—Like a loom converting good wool into shoddy.

The grind organ, however operated, is a grind organ still. For music is an emotional art, a form of social intercourse, and hence dependent upon human contact.

Who profits by the elimination of genuine music from the theatre? Not the music-loving public!

If you agree that theatre patrons are entitled to real music—in addition to talking and sound motion pictures, for the price they pay—HELP SAVE THE ART FROM RUIN. Enroll with millions of others in the Music Defense League. When the public's voice is raised its will must be served!

STRESSES NEED FOR SPIRITUAL GROWTH TODAY

The Rev. U. E. Harding, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene spoke Sunday evening on "Seven Spiritual Life Suggestions," taking as a text 1st Peter, 3-3. The pastor said in part:

"We want to live long, only an abnormal soul or ripe old age would cause one to sing 'I would not live always.' Job many centuries ago said 'All that a man hath will he give for his life.' We seek the fountain of youth, the climate where we can live the longest, we spend our millions for better health, retain boards of health and make pure food laws, and experiment on how to fight disease of mankind.

"We sometimes train the mind and develop the physical being at the expense of the soul. If we would at least give equal time and care to the spiritual side what a wonderful world this would be.

"Jesus taught the pruning method. We should look after our souls as we look after our flowers and fruit. Prune away those things that draw and sap away your spiritual life. We are as spiritual as we want to be and as he we live for. You know what it is that is against your spiritual growth and if it were on your flowers or trees you would prune it away.

"The spiritual senses of the soul are more sensitive to sin and wrong than our physical sense. But they can soon be dulled or paralyzed by abuse, gossip, talkativeness, wrong associations, criticism or fault-finding. Jesus taught 'if thy hand offend thre cut it off, if thy eye offend thee, pluck it out.' Jesus meant just what He said.

"A merchant taking an inventory compiles figures of months and even years. Some folks who have scales in their homes and keep a close watch on their weight. Stock men weigh some of their hogs every day. Are you growing in grace, my friend? Are you putting on spiritual weight? Have you left the primary grade in spiritual things. Have you put away childish matters? Do you feed on the meat of the word?

"Are you adding to your spiritual stock? Look over the past months and years and see if you are growing in grace. If not, why not? Your own soul will make the reply if you will but listen. When you hear, make the sacrifice. It will pay."

STEEL ROADS

LONDON, July 7.—Roads of steel are scheduled for the future if one road built on the King's Road, Chelsea, proves practical. It is a continuous network of tough steel, whose interstices are filled with concrete. On the surface, however, the meal grid is directly exposed to the wheels of vehicles. It is expected to last twice as long as any other road.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"God" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon Sunday in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

One of the Scripture selections related the incident when Christ Jesus was besought by the blind man near Jericho, and included the following account: "And Jesus stood, and commanded him to be brought unto him: and when he was come near, he asked him, saying, What wilt thou that I shall do unto thee? And he said, Lord, that I may receive my sight. And Jesus said unto him, Receive thy sight: thy faith hath saved thee. And immediately he received his sight, and followed him, glorifying God: and all the people, when they saw it, gave praise unto God."

A correlative passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, stated, "Every law of matter or the body, supposed to govern man, is rendered null and void by the law of Life, God."

SEARS-ROEBUCK EMPLOYES GET HALF HOLIDAY

Employes of the Santa Ana store of Sears, Roebuck and company will receive a half holiday each week beginning Wednesday, July 9, and continuing throughout July and August, according to announcement made today by W. L. Dreitzler, manager of the store.

The extra half day will be given unconditionally to all retail employes, Dreitzler said. The extra time will be given without any corresponding reduction in salaries.

The local store, as a consequence, will be closed on Wednesday afternoons at 1 o'clock. The half day holiday schedule will continue through July and August. Retail employes of Sears, Roebuck and company all over the country as well as in Santa Ana will receive a half day holiday a week. Altogether, 320 retail stores will benefit by the shorter hours plan.

The half day holiday, Dreitzler said, is frankly an experiment which the company hopes will work out toward permanently shorter working hours, eventually. The 13-period calendar plan, adopted by the company and placed in operation on January 2 of this year helped make possible this half day holiday. The midseason inventory of the company was taken on June 18, at the end of the sixth period, and most of the work incidental to sales analysis for the spring season has been completed. Under the 12 month calendar, inventory work would not start until June 27 and would not have been completed until well into July.

"Sears, Roebuck and company is heartily in favor of shorter working hours," declared Dreitzler, "and hopes to make what is desirable theoretically feasible from a practical standpoint.

"Officials of the company believe that despite cycles of temporary depression, this country is basically prosperous and that the trend in the future throughout the business and industrial world will be in the direction of more leisure."

The days for closing the company's retail stores were selected by the district managers and local managers. Selection of a closing day was left to their judgment.

LOCAL PASTOR URGES NEED OF UNSELFISHNESS

In the communion meditation at the First Baptist church yesterday the Rev. Harry Evan Owings, pastor, spoke in part as follows:

"In Moffatt's translation of Philippians we read Paul's words, 'Treat one another with the same spirit as you experience in Christ Jesus.' And that seems perfectly reasonable as the attitude that Christians should have toward each other when they have a common experience with Jesus Christ. The man who finds Jesus' spirit toward him that of love, that of unselfishness, that of pardon and forgiveness, ought certainly to be able to have and to show a similar spirit of love and unselfishness and forgiveness toward his fellows. He should be like the stained glass window simply transmitting the divine light that is received.

"But what a high and difficult standard that holds for each one. Robert Norwood in his book, 'The Man Who Dared to Be God' gives us a very real and graphic sketch of Jesus. In this account one thing especially the reader is made to feel, that Jesus was thoroughly committed to the way of loving every man, all hatred, dislike, and violence being dispelled from his life. Likewise the book depicts the difficult work he had in bringing Simon and John and Judas and James to the adoption this point of view and this method of winning the world.

"So today one feels that Jesus is having hard work with his modern followers persuading them to act toward their fellow-Christians as they find Jesus acting toward them. But what a brotherhood that Christian brotherhood would be if it could come increasingly into that ability to treat each other with the same spirit as each experiences in Christ."

DR. WARMER STRESSES VITAL IMPORTANCE OF CANDIDATES ANSWERING W. C. T. U. QUERIES

Bringing to members of the First Methodist church the importance of the W. C. T. U. questionnaire in picking candidates of the county for public office and the determination of the church to carry on an active part in the questions of law enforcement and prohibition, Dr. George A. Warmer preached yesterday on the subject, "Where Do We Go From Here?"

"I certainly think that W. C. T. U. questionaire is an indication we should follow in picking candidates for public office," Dr. Warmer declared. "Any candidate who can not truthfully answer these questions on law enforcement and prohibition certainly shouldn't be intrusted with the power of authority," he further stated.

In recalling the activities of the recent Methodist conference at Long Beach, Dr. Warmer said, "For the first time the church made a pronouncement favoring the spread of scientific information by reputable registered physicians of the principles of birth control," he told his congregation.

"Methodism holds that whatever affects life is tangent to religion. The church is not attempting to formulate principles in all fields of human endeavor but is calling attention to the friction spots in human relations, and, urging those working in the specialized fields, to evolve such a modus operandi as shall speedily usher in conditions of brotherhood.

"In expressing its attitude toward the economic situation, the conference called attention to the need of some adequate solution of the unemployment problem. In April according to official governmental reports there were 3,217,000 men in the United States out of work. Conditions, as regards employment, are steadily getting worse. Two solutions were proposed. First, a system of state insurance whereby the man out of work should have sufficient return to keep him out of the bread line. Second, the loading of the industries with such an extra percentage as to care for those thrown out of work. Neither of these proposed solutions were advocated as a final word but as straws indicating a possible direction.

"On the question of law enforcement and on prohibition, the church was on familiar ground. Methodism is a fighting machine fully organized for big business on this issue. She knows no retreat. Neither nullification nor repeal are in her vocabulary. Local, county, state and national officers must be elected who will see this end achieved. The fight is on in California, in the United States, in the world. Discriminating thinking, fearless organizing and courageous voting will spell victory.

"In the interest of peace the church is becoming ardent. The call was for an immediate ratification of the London treaty, and a pushing advance all along the line of international relations until the Moloch of War shall be submitted by the Prince of Peace.

"With all the breadth of vision the conference emphasized the spiritual note very strongly. The slogan was 'we are going where we are going.' There was a recognition of the fact that the distance traversed is not nearly so important as the direction of the journey. The Kingdom is coming through the daily helpfulness of man to man in the name of Christ. The best way to serve God is to serve some of His other children. The Comforter ministers to men as they minister to other men."

EXTINGUISH FIRE NEAR IRVINE PARK

It required the services of approximately 30 men to extinguish a blaze starting in the Santiago canyon yesterday afternoon by the turning over of a smoker used in the apiary of W. J. Scheets, according to announcement today by J. A. Sherman, forest ranger.

Scheets suffered a loss of $500 by destruction of several beehives. An area of approximately 15 acres of watershed was burned over before the fire fighters brought the fire under control at 7 p. m. yesterday. The scene of the fire was under patrol today to guard against renewal of the blaze. It is about two miles west of Irvine park.

Sherman called on Constable George Barkley at El Modena for assistance and he responded with 20 men. Willard Smith, chairman of the board of supervisors, and others in the vicinity of the fire at the time assisted in the fighting.

FRIARS PREACH ON SUNDAY TO PARK AUDIENCE

Bringing to the people of Santa Ana the message of the early Franciscans, Brothers Paul and Peter, two of the five "Preaching Friars of California" who are traveling from San Diego to Seattle over the trail blazed by Father Junipero Serra, many years ago, preached to over 300 people in Birch park Sunday afternoon.

Because of a conflicting engagement in Ventura, Brother Silvester, Brother Joseph and Brother Lawrence were unable to be present here. The Friars, making a picturesque appearance in grey homespun robes, blue cowls and with red cords around their waists, are celebrating the 200th anniversary of Father Serra becoming a friar and the 1900th anniversary of Pentecost.

The five friars, laying down their occupations and business, are traveling over El Camino Real preaching the word of God. Brother Lawrence is a printer and layman of Los Angeles, Brother Joseph is known as the "singing friar" and is a layman manufacturer of Los Angeles, Brother Silvester, president of the order, has been in the minstry for 32 years, Brother Paul was born in Ireland and is in the Presbyterian clergy, and Brother Peter is a retired army officer, having served in the United States army 32 years.

The Sunday service was opened with the audience singing "America," after which Brother Peter told of the friars, their work, purpose and personnel. He stated that more friars would soon join them, one a retired banker of Los Angeles and the other a young man from the movie colony in Hollywood. He also read a letter from the president of the friars thanking Maroy Frank Purinton for the use of Birch park. During his talk, he exhibited several clippings and letters of the pilgrimage.

Brother Paul gave an inspiring sermon, using his Irish wit and accent to advantage. Asking the question, "What is religion?" he first quoted Clarence Darrow, noted Criminal lawyer, who said that religion is a groping for God, and then gave his own meining of the term, stating that religion was like patriotism and is that force which binds us to God, the source of all power.

He explained the meaning of the friar costume, saying that it brought back memories of ancient days and was different from any other. The habit was the color of the earth, the cowl the blue of heaven and the red cord signified the precious blood of God. One of the main purposes of the preaching, Paul stated, was to help people do their own thinking.

"What are we living for?" the friar asked. "Most anyone can tell you it is health, wealth and happiness, but the majority of people think only of the first two and lose happiness. The only thing that can bring happiness is the knowledge that we are made for God," Brother Paul declared.

His definition of life was the action of the spirit from mortality into immortality. Everyone should worship according to the dictates of his own conscience, the friar said. Using the piano as an example to show the difference between knowing and believing, he said he believed in the piano but could not play it. Similarly, some people believed in God but this is different from knowing God, he pointed out.

He scored the many denominations claiming to have the oldest church by stating that the oldest church was the church of Jesus Christ established upon the rock. The meaning of church was defined as "Lord" in every language except Latin, which goes further and says "Out of God."

"The Christian religion has never failed when it has been given a chance," Brother Paul concluded.

ANCIENT CHESS

CAIRO, July 7. — It is now thought that the ancient Egyptians, and not the Chinese and Persians, were the first to play chess. This thought is brought about by the discovery of a complete chess board and men in the tomb of Ra Quer, near the pryamids. The board and men were in good condition considering the centuries they have been entombed.

CONCERT GIVEN BY GLEE CLUB SUNDAY NIGHT

A large appreciative audience was at the First Christian church last evening and greatly enjoyed the concert presented by the American Legion Auxiliary glee club. This musical organization, which has won laurels and wide renown for its performances, was under the direction of Cecil Fross Willits.

Several solo numbers were interspersed with the choral numbers of the glee club. The program follows:

"I Passed By Your Window," by Lucas, and "Out of the Dusk," by Lee—Glee club.

"How Lovely are Thy Dwellings," by Liddle, solo by Ruth Spears.

"Pale Moon,' by Logan, and "The Hand of You," by Bond, glee club.

"Dream of Paradise," by Gray, solo by Ruth Garrison.

"There is No Death," by O'Hara, and "Christ in Flanders," by Stephens, glee club.

"Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen," by Burleigh, solo by Cecil Willits.

The final number, a very effective closing, was "Taps."

LONDON, July 7.—For those aquarium fanatics there has been shown here an aquarium dining table. The surface of this table is a sheet of glass laid on the top of a glass tank. This tank contains live goldfish and other sea creatures.

"You Have An After 40 Ailment
that over half of men and women past this age are afflicted with"

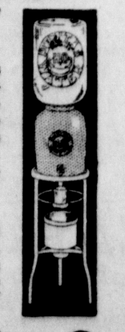

MEDICAL science in its study of after 40 ailments, has turned its attention to the kidneys. Overwhelming authority agrees that: Over half men and women past 40 show evidence of kidney ailment in some form, many without knowledge of it. That kidneys, contrary to popular opinion, excrete 75% of poisonous waste from the system. Delicate kidney cells thus become overworked; and wear and tear begins to show at 40. Congestion occurs, adding further to the burden. Poisons which should be eliminated, are harbored and turned back into the system.

And this is the beginning of many serious ills.

Physicians now urge this preventive: drink 6 glasses daily of Puritas mineral-free water. It acts to dilute concentrated poisons, absorbs and washes them away. Minerals, found in ordinary water, which add further to congestion, are eliminated in Puritas. Thus it flushes kidneys in the most efficient way. The load lightened, worn kidneys have a chance to repair. Normal kidneys are constantly protected.

Through scientific distillation, Puritas is mineral-free, impurity-free; water in its purest state. Puritas taste seems different at first, and each drink you'll enjoy increasingly.

Order Puritas today. Telephone Santa Ana 1898 and immediate delivery will be made anywhere in Southern California. A Puritas iceless cooler furnished free.

Holiday Week-end Sail To Catalina Island Is Enjoyed

Skimming over a blue sea in their cruiser, "Lestelle" proved a pleasant celebration of the holiday week end for Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Wilson, 2004 North Ross street, members of the Newport Harbor Yacht club, who spent the week end at Catalina island. A very interesting event of the trip across, was the rescue which they gave to a small yacht with three men in it. The boat had developed engine trouble, and stalled in the ocean, drifting off the course. The party had been without aid for two days, and gratefully received the rescuing party, who towed them to Catalina.

The Wilsons landed at Cherry Cove, where the pleasant days were spent in swimming and hiking, and in witnessing the taking of moving pictures. The yacht was accompanied by the "Jolly Beggar," owned by Roy Barnard of Los Angeles and "The Howayne," owned by Lee Baker of Riverside. Upon reaching the cove, they were met by Dr. L. W. Hayward of Beverly Hills, who had come over from Los Angeles harbor in his "Winsome II."

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson returned home last evening.

Vows Are Plighted In Early Morning at Wee Kirk O' the Heather

Lovely in its quiet impressiveness was the wedding of Miss Elva Heiser, daughter of Edward J. Heiser sr., of this city, and Harry Hassler of Orange, which took place Saturday morning at 8:30 o'clock in the Wee Kirk o' the Heather, Glendale.

The bride was very attractive in her delicate frock of white chiffon over satin, and a long tulle veil which reached the floor. She carried a shower bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley. Officiating at the early morning service was the Rev. Edward Burgi of Anaheim. The bride's father, Edward J. Heiser sr., gave his daughter in marriage. The young people were unattended. Relatives of the bride were the only guests present.

Mr. Hassler is employed with the Consolidated Orange Growers, in Orange, where the newlyweds are now making their home. Mrs. Hassler has taught in the Orange county schools for some time.

Son Is Born to Mr. and Mrs. Faulkner

Mr. and Mrs. William L. Faulkner, of this city and San Clemente, were today receiving congratulations of their friends upon the birth of a seven-pound son, William Faulkner III, at St. Joseph's hospital on Saturday, July 5.

Mrs. Faulkner was formerly Miss Frances Hillman, daughter of Mrs. M. A. Hillman, 828 North Birch street, and a sister of Don L. Hillman of the American Express company, Los Angeles, and Mrs. John Planchon of this city, formerly Miss Blanche Hillman. Mr. Faulkner is an architectural draughtsman with Virgil Westbrook, San Clemente.

White Shrine Birthdays Are Celebrated in Happy Fashion

In honoring past worthy high prietesses and watchmen of shepherds of the Damascus White Shrine, as well as observing the birthdays of those whose natal days fall in June and July, members gathered Thursday evening in the Knights of Pythias hall for a most interesting evening. Officiating with Mrs. Elizabeth Lewis, worthy high priestess of the order, who presented all of the past worthy high priestesses with colorful corsages, and the watchmen and shepherds with boutonnieres.

The program was a most delightful one, one of the first numbers being a violin solo by Miss Eleanor Miller, a pupil of Elwood Bear. Earl Motley, a student at Santa Ana Conservatory of Music, gave a charming piano number. Lending variety to the musical selections was a reading by Vivian Rogers ,who is studying under Holly Lash Visel.

Receiving special notice during the refreshment hour were the prettily decorated tables representing the months of June and July. The first was vibrant with the heart throbs of the bridal month, bearing a miniature bride and bridegroom together with a complete line of attendants. Equally impressive was the second table, depicting the patriotic symbols of a noisy Independence day. Large firecrackers, medium sized ones, and tiny "boomers" were much in evidence. Blue candles, too, aided in carrying out the red, white and blue motif.

Those who were members of the June and July groups were the Mesdames Bertha Bruce, Jessie Overton, Irene Willey, Fannie Barker, Ethel Armstrong, Elizabeth Gray, Lilian Vinson, Gwendolyn Morris, Mary Redman, Sarah Parks, Florence Evans, Mary Taylor, Avis De Vore, and Oscar Kreighbaum. Past officers included Miss Henrietta Bowling, Mrs. Ada Sutherland, Mrs. Helen Kellogg, and Messrs. Oscar Kreighbaum, Judson Sutherland, and C. T. Cleland.

Clarksons Are Hosts To Week-end Group

The home of Mr. and Mrs. John Clarkson, 801 Minter street, was the scene of much gaiety over the week end, for in entertaining three house guests, Miss Myrtle Jane Jackson, former Snata Ana newspaper woman, now of Hollywood; Mrs. Moulton Youngblood of Los Angeles, and Miss Mary Elizabeth Wilson of Escondido, two especially delightful affairs had been planned in their honor.

The first of these was a picnic at Corona Del Mar Saturday evening, at which time the merry group enjoyed a most delightful basket supper, followed by the chummy conversation which is always an enjoyable part of a beach party.

In presiding as hostess at a prettily appointed dinner Sunday noon, Mr. and Mrs. Clarkson had asked several other guests to share the hospitality of the home. Those present included Mr. and Mrs. Andrew S. Wilson of Washington, now of San Diego; Mr. and Mrs. John Clarkson jr., Miss Myrtle Jane Jackson, Mrs. Moulton Youngblood, Miss Mary Elizabeth Wilson and Miss Dorothy Clarkson of the home.

Following the repast, the younger members of the group enjoyed an exciting round of tennis.

Santa Ana Travelers Plan Extensive Trip Across Continent

Probably Santa Ana has no more confirmed travelers than Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Rousselle of 808½ North Spurgeon street, and all their friends will be keenly interested in details of the transcontinental trip upon which they will embark early tomorrow morning, to be gone from this city for the remainder of the summer.

Since Mr. and Mrs. Rousselle already have been in every state and territory of the Union as well as in the greater number of foreign countries, it would tax the ingenuity of most travel agencies to provide some new spot for them to visit. But as it happens, there are a few places which will prove new to them, and among these will be the famous Zion National Park and Bryce canyon, which will be early stops on their schedule. They have already reserved attractive cabins at these famous wonderlands, where they will make their headquarters.

In Salt Lake City, Mr. and Mrs. Rousselle will be entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Castleton, prominent residents of the city who were among delightful friends in the Rousselle home in this city. Chicago, New York and various cities of the east will be visited, and an extended stay will be made in the New England states where the Santa Anans have many relatives and close family friends.

One of the most anticipated features of their travels, will be their stay in Montreal where they will be guests of their aunt, Madame Augusto Dionne, and will accompany her to her summer home 50 miles above the city at Saint Sauvour des Monts. Madame Dionne owns a large estate there with a beautiful lake on the grounds.

The famous Evangeline country will be explored, from the "Village of Grand Pre" onward, while other experiences awaiting them in that land of romance, will be the St. Lawrence trip with its Thousand Islands, a stay at exclusive Murray Bay and the eight days trip to the Saguenay, in the Quebec province.

In returning to California, the Rousselles will come by way of the Panama canal, with stops at the various interesting cities on their return, for they are noted for full account of their travels upon route. Their friends anticipate a seeing the intimate life of every country they ever visit, and for bringing home the most delightful recollections and momentoes of their various travels. Mrs. Rousselle's travel books are joys to see, with pictured presentations of strange scenes, none of which are more interesting than their own kodak views.

One of their cherished possessions is an autographed copy of "Our Trip Around the World," written by Elsie Lincoln Benedict and Ralph Paine Benedict of Carmel, Calif., declared to be one of the most comprehensive and entertaining travel books ever written. The book was published by the famous Roycrofters, and is unusually artistic in design and make-up. Mrs. Benedict is the well-known psychologist and lecturer who has appeared with frehas often been entertained in the quency in the Southland, and who Rousselle home. Mr. and Mrs. Rousselle were travel companions of the authors through much of the Orient.

"I believe Russia is almost the only place left for us to visit" today declared Mrs. Rousselle in discussing travel plans and experiences. "We have Constantinople yet to see also, although we have been in parts of Turkey." Their friends who are aware of their pleasure in visiting new lands, feel that it is only a question of time until experiences in these countries will be added to the wealth of interesting things which they can recount.

The MIXING BOWL by ANN MEREDITH

Maraschino Cherries

Bread is commonly referred to as "the staff of life," but actually, this much touted staff needs the crutch of a varied diet under its left wing to get along acceptably.

The wheat berry does contain practically all of the life giving elements (protein, starches, fats and mineral elements) but modern taste demands the refined white flour, consequently considerable of the health element is lost.

It would be rather hard to depart from the accepted loaf standard....the desire for bread made from unrefined, whole grain flour would have to be drilled into the average person, often-times at the cost of upsetting his digestive system . . . and, what is equally important, the welfare of a large industry would be threatened.

So, we let well enough alone, eat our white loaf, or a lady-like whole wheat, and make up the deficit in the varied luxurious diet this nation is lucky enough to be able to indulge in.

Maraschino Cherries
10 pounds Royal Anne cherries
5 pounds sugar
Almond extract
Fruit coloring (red)
Pinch of alum
Salt water

The making of marschino cherries is such a simple matter no woman should let the cherry season go by without making a generous supply. There are so many places they can be used . . . fruit cocktail . . . salad . . . ice creams . . . puddings of various kinds. And the syrup is just as adaptable, a marvellous base for pudding sauces or a garnish for plain ice cream.

Buy the cherries well ripened and pit them immediately, placing them in a sieve to drain (save the juice to add to the syrup). Soak the pitted cherries overnight in a weak salt solution in which can be dissovled a piece of alum the size of a pea—this, to toughen the cherries and keep them whole.

Next morning drain and rinse the cherries and put them into the syrup to boil for five minutes. After cooking this first time add color carefully until the right shade of red is attained, weight the cherries under the syrup with a plate and stand until next day. The second day drain off the syrup, bring to the boil and pour over the cold cherries and again let stand until the following day. This process is followed for the third time, then the cheeries and syrup are put into jars, and for each pint of fruit and syrup pour into the jar a tablespoonful of almond extract, seal and stand bottom side up to let the extract work through the whole jar.

The syrup for the cherries must be as thick as it can be made. Add the cherry juice to the sugar with just enough boiling water to let the sugar dissolve over a low flame. The cherries thin it down when cooking and to keep the syrup must be very thick and very rich.

One-fourth cup of cooking sherry added to each quart of sherries after preserving adds much to the flavor.

'GOLDEN DAWN' IS DRAMA OF JUNGLE

"Golden Dawn" now playing at Walker's State theater is a pretentious and sweeping piece after the manner of "Rose Marie," book and lyrics of which were also done by Harbach and Hammerstein. The stirring sequences of "Golden Dawn" are spongled with captivating songs.

The locale of "Golden Dawn" is the African jungle and Technicolor gives the riotous hues with startling effect. Sounds of thudding tom-toms, voodoo incantations, native chants, and voices in the range of human emotions are heard with uncanny clarity.

Mr. Woolf and Miss Segal are well cast in the leading roles. Alice Gentle presents another moving and understandable characterization. The several hundred negro extras — descendants of African tribesmen—readily revert to type and go into the savage dances, the voodoo rites and the weird chants with uncanny reality.

DEATH ROBS WOMAN OF FICTION TREAT

SAN FRANCISCO, Julyq 7.—(INS)—For two months, Miss G. E. Helvert, serious ill, found interest in an absorbing newspaper serial.

The story was dramatic and the sick woman eagerly awaited the daily installment as it was printed.

A physician told her she had not long to live.

Mrs. Helvert had a last wish—that she might read the unpublished chapters of the story.

The author, Gladys, Johnson, was notified and agreed.

But just as she was taking the manuscript to the dying woman's bedside, the telephone bell rang.

Mrs. Helvert was dead.

FIRST LON CHANEY TALKIE HERE

Lon Chaney, the "man of many faces," comes to the Fox Broadway theater today for a four day engagement in his first all-talking production, "The Unholy Three." Chaney takes five parts in the film, using five different voices. He made a silent version of the same story several years ago, but the talkie is said to surpass it for entertainment in many ways.

UNIQUE WESTERN FILM AT TEMPLE

"The Manhattan Cowboy," featuring the ever rough and ready Western star, Bob Custer, is the feature offering on the program tonight and tomorrow night at Shelley's Temple theater.

"The Manhattan Cowboy" deviates quite a bit from the average run of western pictures and is very novel in that there is a New York sequence interwoven into a wild west thriller that for fast riding, fighting and quick gunplay, could not be beat, even if there were cowboy actors almost as good as Bob Custer and his gang.

Also on the bill is an Educational comedy, a Felix cartoon and an interesting animal study short subject, and one of the main features of tonight's show is that this is "Grocery Night," with lots of free groceries to be given away.

THE TINYMITES

STORY by HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES by KING

The silk worm men worked hard and long. Said Clowny, "Gee, they must be strong to climb around those great big trees for silk worms all the day. Of course I've climbed in big trees, too, but all we ever used to do was scamper out on one long branch, just as a part of play."

"Of course they're strong," the Travel Men replied, "and I am sure you can do everything that they can do if you keep yourself in trim. It's exercise that does the trick and keeps a person feeling slick. Now, see that great big fellow? I was once strong, just like him."

Soon Scouty said, "Well, come, let's go. We've seen enough of this fine show. I'd like another ride upon our caravan. It's fun." "All right," replied the Travel Man. Away from all the trees they ran, all hoping they would reach some town before the day was done.

Back to the baskets queer they jumped and slowly 'lnog the road they bumped. It wasn't long till Carpy cried, "I see some water. Gee, why can't we stop and take a dip and tha tmuch more we'd like this trip." The Travel Man then told them they were near the Caspian Sea.

Up to the shore they slowly rode. Once more the mules all lost their load. The Tinymites took off their shoes and waded for a while. Then Coppy spied a sight that he was very much surprised to see. Some women, near, were washing clothes. This made the whole bunch smile.

The Travel Man explained the sight. Said he, "That stunt is quite all right. You see, today is wash day and the women all are out. The water's clear and they can do their clothes and make them look like new." The Tinymites were glad to know what it was all about.

Missing Letter Links

RULES

1. In playing golf on the Missing Letter Links the object is to change one word to another in a given number of strokes which is par. For example, to go from TEE to PIN in three strokes sounds hard but isn't: TEE, TIE, PIE, PIN. It's probably more difficult on a real course.

2. Change but one letter at a time and be sure the word you have used is one in good usage.

3. The order of the letters cannot be changed.

HOLD to BACK—We wouldn't advise you to HOLD BACK on this hole. Your best stroke [illegible] quired from the start in order to shoot a par four.

The Rev. J. Heisermann, of Pomona, will serve as permanent secretary; W. Dettmann, of Los Angeles, and P. E. Johannes, of Los Angeles, were elected to the offoces of financial secretary and treasurer, respectively. The mission board will be composed of the following pastors: H. Gihring, of Southgate; A. E. Michel, of Los Angeles; M. Burkhardt, of Long Beach, and the Messrs. H. Franzen, of Riverside, and F. J. Schinnerer, of Long Beach. The Rev. A. C. Bode, of Orange, K. Kuehnert, of Los Angeles and M. Wyneken, of Los Angeles, will compose the board of church extension. The Rev. C. Berner and the Rev. George Theiss, both of Los Angeles, A. F. Herbst, of San Bernardino, J. Stenske, of Los Angeles, and William Reissig, of Los Angeles, were elected to the board of education, which is to supervise the day schools and the Sunday schools. The Rev. E. H. Kreidt, of Olive, will continue to serve as the patron of indigent students.

A telegram of congratulation and good wishes was received from the Texas district of the Missouri synod which is in session at Houston, Texas. Reports of the financial secretary and of the treasurer were read and accepted. A substantial balance was reported for the first half of the year.

The report of the mission board showed that the Southern California district is composed of 45 congregations, seven day-schools and 40 Sunday schools. Thirty-five congregations and schools are being assisted in their work with funds from the mission treasury.

The Rev. Frederick Randt, of St. Paul, Minnesota, continued his report on the mission activities of the synod at large. The Lutheran Free churches of Saxony, of Elsace, France, and of Finland, are being assisted with contributions. The Rev. R. Knippenberg of San Diego, who served as pastor in London, England, during the World war, spoke of the work in London and Copenhagen, Denmark.

Foreign missions are being carried on in India and China. Missions for the blind are being carried on through literature in revised Braille, for which requests have been received from almost all parts of the world, including Australia and Palestine.

Beside the fields already mentioned synod is laboring among the Indians in Wisconsin, the Negroes of the south, the Jewish people of New York City, among the immigrants and seamen in New York, and among various foreign tongue groups in this country.

Special services were held in Zion Lutheran church Sunday morning, the Rev. Wm. A. Theiss, of Santa Barbara, preaching the German sermon and the Rev. R. Jeske, of Whittier, preaching the English sermon. In the evening a sacred concert was rendered by the Lutheran chorus of Southern California, a group of 60 Lutheran singers under the direction of Prof. Edwin Dankworth, principal of Trinity Lutheran school in Los Angeles.

The convention will continue in session until Tuesday evening.

BEACH CITIES PREPARING FOR LIGHTS EVENT

NEWPORT BEACH, July 7.—Merchants and others of Newport and Balboa today were easing up after three big business days, Friday, July 4, Saturday and Sunday, and preparing for another big week end, as the twelfth annual Tournament of Lights, most famous annual event here, is scheduled for Saturday night.

It was estimated that between 25,000 and 30,000 a day, on the average, resided or visited here, each of the three days just past. The weather was ideal for bathing, boating, fishing and the other recreations indulged in by the thousands of pleasure and rest seekers. So far this season has not been as warm as last, however.

Outboard motorboat trials were scheduled to be staged today in the county channel, between Lido isle and the north shore of the bay. A few were run off yesterday, but so great was the boat traffic in all parts of the bay that it was decided to finish today. These are mile speed tests, and are run by the Southern California Outboard Motorboat association.

Yesterday afternoon two band concerts were enjoyed by large crowds. They were given by the Southgate Municipal Boys' band, the first at Newport, at 1 p. m. and the second at Balboa at 2:30 p. m. Fireworks were staged at the Newport and Balboa piers Friday night.

Some criticism and some commendation were heard about the ordinance which prohibited the sale or shooting of fireworks in the city. It was difficult to enforce the shooting part of the ordinance, but many brought in fireworks, bought outside, and thus local merchants, it is claimed, did not get the business, but many fireworks were shot off just the same.

It is said that the council may consider repealing or amending the ordinance in the near future.

DRILLERS FIND NEW OIL SAND IN BEACH WELL

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 7.—The Barnsdall oil well on the Newland Borchard passed out of the oil sand yesterday and went into a brown shale. The drill cut about 15 to 18 feet of sand according to the core barrel tests, it is reported. Indications are that a major oil zone has been reached and the cmopany will explore deeper into the zone to determine its thickness. This is the second oil sand to be discovered below the 5000 foot depth. The first sand was found at around 5600 feet and the second sand at about 6600 feet, the drill passing through about 1000 feet of barren territory. In this barren zone, one heavy water sand was encountered. It is claimed this 6600 foot sand is protected by hundreds of feet of hard shale below the water sand, affording plenty of room to effect a water shutoff. Oil men claim the Barnsdall can back up to this sand and make a production test if no better sand is found at a lower depth. The discovery of oil sand at 6600 feet in this field is likely to have an important bearing on future development here and gives a better prospective oil value to the field.

John Woodson, 200 South Lucerne street, Los Angeles, has taken over the well at Sixteenth and Ocean on the site of the old Boulevard Manor and will redrill the well. He will either land in the sand in the sand above 5000 feet if a good showing is obtained there, or will drill deeper.

Murphine.

NEWPORT BEACH LIGHT TOURNEY GOES OVER AIR

NEWPORT BEACH, July 7.—By arrangement with the Pacific Electric railway and Motor Transit Stages, which serve Newport and Balboa, the 12th annual Tournament of Lights, to be staged in Newport Bay Saturday night, will be on the air three days this week, it was announced today by the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce. General news of this community as a recreational rendezvous will also be given in the broadcast, it was said.

The Tournament of Lights and Newport Bay air program is as follows. Tuesday and Wednesday: KNX—9:10 to 9:20 a. m.; KFWB, 10:45 to 10:55 a. m.; KECA, 12 to 12:15 noon; KFI, 12:30 to 12:45 p. m.; and KFOX, 3:45 to 3:55 p. m. and Thursday, KNX, 5 to 5:15 p. m.

Chairman W. L. Jordan and his entries committee are bending every effort to secure more entries in the "big parade." They emphasized again today that anything that floats, from canoes to cruisers, is eligible, an dthat the cost of lighting an entry is small, and aid will be given.

General Chairman H. L. Sherman has laid out the route for the parade and the chamber has issued circulars showing it. The parade will start at the west end of Balboa Island, proceed eastward along the south side of the island, then turn toward the Peninsula, and proceed westward along the south shore of the bay, skirting Bay Island, as far as Twenty-sixth street, then turn north to the south shore of Lido Isle, proceeding eastward to the eastern end of that island, where it will finish.

SAN CLEMENTE HOST TO CROWD OVER HOLIDAYS

SAN CLEMENTE, July 7.—Southern California went on a play spree over the holiday week-end with San Clemente, like every other South Coast town, playing to thousands seeking recreation and quiet. The beaches, fishing fleet, pier, baseball diamond and golf course of the Spanish Village made hundreds of new friends. Although no formal celebration was planned for the city and its guests they came came anyway.

Business men of San Clemente reported the biggest day of the year. Restaurant men reported a greater Fourth than last year and the holiday week-end was one for prosperity for coast towns and merchants.

Chief of Police L. A. Warren and Officer Harry Comber reported the greatest three days of traffic in San Clemente history, even greater than last Labor Day. The opening of the summer racing program at Agua Caliente was held partly responsible for the heavy traffic.

San Clemente's Fourth was a quiet one. Sailing, fishing, golf and horseback riding parties were the order of the week-end with the Mrs. Ole Hanson party at her beach front home on the ocean the social highlight of the week.

On Friday the San Clemente band played at San Juan Capistrano's annual celebration. Spanish Village runners and horsemen helped make the Mission City holiday a success. San Juan won the tri-city relay with Laguna Beach second and San Clemente's team of Bob Callis, Tim Cleugh, Ralph Young and Harold Brown, third. T. Ramoss of the Ole Hanson jr., stables won honors at the horse events at the Mission City, being adjudged the best dressed and mounted at the show.

Ted Hanson assisted Bob Anderson in putting over the San Diego rodeo while Ole Hanson jr., director of the El Rodeo Riding Club of Orange County, was one of the leaders of the second day of the Huntington Beach rodeo.

Mrs. Ray Walter Was Hostess to Arbor Vitae Members

Coming as a delightful conclusion to their meetings of the past season, was the afternoon party of recent rate when members and guests of the Arbor Vitae club were entertained in the home of Mrs. Ray Walter, 907 West Highland street. Although the little group will not meet again until September, fall parties are expected to begin with an exceptional vim, carrying out the idea of "unchanging friendships" which the club title signifies.

Bridge was played, and on checking the tallies it was found that Mrs. H. D. McIlvain held high score, and Mrs. William Campbell, low. Lovely pieces of rose-colored glass were the contents of the daintily wrapped packages presented the winners. Sharing in the prize awards was Mrs. Arthur Brooks, who received the special guest gift, a beautiful georgette handkerchief.

During the refreshment course the patriotic motif was carried out, and centering the tables covered with crisp white linens, were unique bouquets of fuchsias in deep tones of red fringed with creamy white. The little nut cups too, were in red and white.

Guests of the day were Mrs. Arthur Brooks, and Mrs. Carl Huer sr., and Mrs. Carl Huer jr., of Pomona. Members present other than the hostess, Mrs. Ray Walter, were Mesdames Ralph Fuller, Peter McIntosh, H. D. McIlvain, William Campbell, William Maderia, G. N. Coon, E. V. Swan, John Zulauf and James Almas

MOTHER TO BE IS TAKEN FROM PRISON

SAN QUENTIN, July 7.—(UP)—Mrs. Mary Kavanaugh, San Quentin's second convict mother-to-be, was removed to the cottage hospital in San Rafael today.

Birth of her child is expected hourly.

While Mrs. Kavanaugh, 24, bore up stoically as the hour approached, her husband, also a convict in San Quentin, showed signs of nervousness, not having seen his wife before she was taken to the hospital.

Mrs. Kavanaugh and her husband Edward, entered the penitentiary on January 18, 1930, to serve consecutive sentences of 1 to 15 years and 1 to 10 years for grand theft and second degree burglary. Both offenses were committed in Los Angeles.

NEW YORK CURB

NEW YORK, July 7—(UP)—Heavy selling of of the leading public utilities unsettled the list on the curb market in the post-holiday session today, and, with fsw exceptions, prices worked further below last week's final levels.

Electric Bond and Share was a particular bear target, the issue slumping almost 3 points on heavy offernigs. Fractional declines took place in American Superpower, Cities Service, St. Regis paper, United Gas Corporation, Niagara Hudson and Brazilian traction.

Dere and Company had some wide price fluctuations in the general list, selling off more than 2 points after running up an equal amount in the early trading. Industrials generally weakened, with such issues as Fokker Aircraft, Ford Ltd., and Technicolor in supply.

Oils displayed narrow and irregular price changes. Houston and Gulf were well supported and advanced fractionally. Selling came into Standard of Indiana, Vacuum, and Missouri Kanssa Pipe Line. Investment Trusts fell under the lead of Goldman Sachs, which was depressed almost a point, while Newmont headed a downturn in mining shares.

NEW YORK BONDS

NEW YORK, July 7.—(UP)—Irregular tendencies developed in bond trading today, as Standard Issues held close to previous closing levels, while sceond grade and convertible securities continued to give ground under pressure.

In the foreign section, small gains were recorded in such issues as Bolivia 7s, Chile Bank 6s, German Annunty 5½s and French 7s while Austria 5s, Argentine 5½s and Rome 6½s sold off fractionally. Strong demand sent Haiti 6s up nearly 2 points.

Inactivity marked the railroad section, wher convertible obligations wer under continued heavy pressure. Losses ranging from ¼ to more than a point were recorded in such bonds as New York, New Haven and Hartford 6s, St. Louis-San Francisco 4½s and Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific 4½s, while Standard bonds held fairly steady.

Industrial securities backed and filled in a narrow range during morning trading, as did most of the principal oil bonds. Phillips Petroleum 5½s firmed up ½ and continued in fair demand.

Utility issues were irregularly lower, with International Telephone and Telegraph 4½s well taken and fractionally hgihr. Prices of United States government loans shaded slightly in sluggish trading.

FINANCIAL AND MARKET NEWS

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, July 7.—(UP)—Wall Stret traders came back from their long week-end holiday bearish-minded and proceeded to depress prices on the stock exchange vigorously for a tmie, all leaders making new lows on the movement and many making new minimum levels for the year or longer.

CHICAGO BD. OF TRADE

CHICAGO, July 7.—(UP)—Wheat closed sharply lower on the Board of Trade today after setting new low prices on September and July under persistent pressure resulting from a combination of depressing factors. Heavier receipts from the southwest over the holidays, reported hedging pressure, weakness at Kansas City on Saturday and a larg increase in the visible supply swamping the market with sales. Corn showed resistance but was off fractionally while all oats deliveries were a new lows for the season.

At the close wheat was 2⅜ to 2¾c lower, corn was ⅞ to 1⅝c lower and oats were ⅜ to 1 cent lower. Provisions were steady to weak.

EVENING SALUTATION

"During the past year I have made very great progress. No one knows as yet how far I have gone. I do not myself."
—Professor Albert Einstein, physicist.

THE PURPOSE OF THE DRYS

The "dry" leaders of Orange county have had several meetings and have perfected an organization. These people, while not representative of the church organically or ecclesiastically, are members of the church and recognize the obligation of the teachings of religion and ethics in the lives of men.

There is no group that has a higher right to participate in the political activities of the hour. They approach them from no selfish motive. They are not interested in the personalities of candidates. A campaign for sobriety and the severance of the ties between the government and drunkard-making has been carried on by the forces which they represent for 75 years. There are those who complain the moment that such forces become active in political life, but the complaint comes from persons, as a rule, who are hostile to some policy which the church strongly supports, usually prohibition. The Christian Century of a recent date very pertinently says:

> A church with any social conscience at all develops convictions in opposition to current evils which exist under the sanction and shelter of law. It was so with duelling, with slavery, with legalized lotteries, with the liquor traffic, with war. To fight these evils is to fight for the repeal of the laws by which they are protected and sustained; and when these have been repealed, or contrary laws enacted, it is to fight for the maintenance and enforcement of the legislation by which these deadly institutions are banned. If any political party or any candidate espouses one of these causes which the common Christian mind deems harmful to humanity and therefore morally wrong, the issue is joined right there between that party or candidate and the church through which the common Christian mind finds expression.

This condition not only the church people are facing, but others who are not allied with the church but who recognize that organized religious groups in the country uphold the highest standards of moral and civic life, and hence endeavor to govern themselves by those standards. But not only is this true—there are thousands of others, and in the nation millions, who during the decades of contests have at times joined with the forces that would prohibit the exploitation of human weakness because they themselves were weak and desired the existence of the mandates of society to protect themselves from being exploited.

We recall at a prohibition meeting a number of years ago listening to the testimony of a wife as she told the story of a local option fight in her town and of the weakness of her husband for drink—of how he stood all day at the polls distributing ballots, begging the people to vote for the elimination of the saloon from their town to protect him and other men like him. She told of how he waited until the votes were counted and he came home with spirits crushed and threw himself down and declared, calling her by name—"We might have won today if every Christian man had done his duty." But, as she said, they did not do their duty, and the life went out in darkness.

A few months ago an item appeared in our paper concerning the arrest of a young man for drunken driving, and it received the usual notoriety that kind of an item does receive. The next day we received a letter from the mother of that boy, and it was a most pitiful epistle. She called attention to the fact that drunken driving was news, but that her boy, under age, was furnished liquor by bootleggers was not news—that it was so common and was such common knowledge that it ceased to be news.

This is a condition that this league for law enforcement must aid in correcting. This boy and other boys must be rendered as safe as the votes of citizens can make them safe. The highway of life should be as free from him who would destroy the boys' soberness as from those who would destroy their lives. In fact, to that mother the soberness of her boy may be more precious than his life.

LOWERING THE FLAG

When Sharkey in the recent bout with the German, Schmeling, stepped into the ring wrapped in the American flag he was greeted with a loud chorus of boos and hisses. Even in a crowd gathered to witness a prizefigiit there was an instinctive revulsion against trailing the flag amid such surroundings. It was a wholesome manifestation. To exploit the flag to give respectability to such an affair is not to pay it honor.

The report has since gone forth that Sharkey objected to the use of the flag, but that he was compelled to submit to the wishes of his backers. These backers evidently thought that it would meet with a popular response. Whatever may have been the reason for Sharkey's aversion to the use of the flag in this way, he showed much better judgment than his backers. There are some things that even fight fans will not stand for, and this use of the flag is one of them.

A FIRECRACKER AT LA JOLLA

One firecracker can do a lot of damage. It was a firecracker which started the $20,000 fire which wiped out the business block of La Jolla. It is quite tragic to come home from a day's outing and find your house gutted by fire and find only a few forlorn pieces of furniture, saved from the holocaust, standing around in the yard.

Such things probably serve to keep us aware of the hardships of the war for Independence. It is too bad, though, to prolong the tragic phases of that occasion for more than 150 years.

SIR ARTHUR CONAN DOYLE

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, creator of Sherlock Holmes, has started on his last and greatest adventure, for he passed away this morning at Sussex, England. He had been in ill-health since he returned from South America some months ago.

It was in 1887 that Sir Arthur created Sherlock Holmes and Watson. The first book about these characters was a tremendous success and was followed with a long list of other detective stories including. "Adventures of Sherlock Holmes," "The Memoirs of Sherlock Holmes," and "The Case Book of Sherlock Holmes." Not so long ago Sherlock Holmes was killed by the author, but was subsequently revived because of the popular interest in Holmes, who is probably the best-known character in literature. Conan Doyle's detective works were the forerunners of all the modern mystery stories. Authors have imitated Sir Arthur's mystery creations but have never overshadowed them.

A son of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's was lost in the Great war and from that tragedy dates the author's interest in spiritualism. Spiritualism, as with Sir Oliver Lodge, offered to the learned man the one means of bridging the gap between life and death and the hope of some day making contact with his son. One of the results of his studies in spiritualism was a "History of Spiritualism" in two volumes, published in 1926. His most recent lecture tour in South America and his lecture tour in the United States several years ago were chiefly devoted to the subject of spiritualism.

No man would try harder to communicate from the spirit world with mortals than will Sir Arthur. In any case the sorrow over the loss of his son which has motivated so many of his activities since the death, is ended.

The mystery stories by this author will be found well-thumbed on library shelves. Many copies have been literally worn out with reading. His death will bring about a revival of interest in his books, for parents who remember being thrilled with their plots will introduce them to their young people who have been enthralled by the moderns, who have but followed in the footsteps of a great creator: Sir Arthur Conan Doyle.

M. R. DODDS

So familiar are the aeroplanes flying up and down the Orange county coast that the hundreds along the beach hardly accord them a passing glance nowadays. Yet one of those planes yesterday crashed and killed the pilot, "Dick" Dodds, at Crescent Bay, near Laguna Beach.

An occasional tragedy such as this should be no drawback to aviation, any more than a fatality in an automobile accident keeps us from using our cars on the next occasion for they say that flying is safer, in proportion to miles traveled, than is motoring.

But flying is so spectacular, it is evidence of so great a conquest over elements, that when a death occurs we are awed. The difference between glorious adventure and stark tragedy is impressive and it is sad indeed when a birdman falls.

The Census As News

New York Times

When a city reaches New York's advanced years and swollen population, it takes its census returns quietly. Its position as the country's greatest metropolis is assured. A preliminary announcement that New York has gained 1,126,515 persons in the last ten years is a news item of only mild interest.

In the West, where growth and development are two of the most overworked words in the native vocabulary, the case is different. Census returns, day after day, are front page stuff. Rivalry between San Francisco and Los Angeles is lively, though the southern city has long ago outdistanced the northern.

Los Angeles expands her city limits like an umbrella to include every countable soul, and then waxes hysterical with delight when the newspapers announce that her population tops a million. Final estimates may change the figure a bit, and loyal Angelenos await with bated breath the addition of at least a few hundred more to their number.

Excitement over the startling gain of Beverly Hills was so great that reporters on four different newspapers seized paper and pencil and figured out four different rates of increase. Youthful cities find rapid growing a deliriously exciting business.

Zaro Agha Comes Visiting

Zaro Agha, counting his years, lays claim to 156. He is on the high seas now, bound for America and the chance to pay his respects to a nation which he admires, first, because of its prohibition laws. Zaro Agha is a teetotaler and the champion old man of the world.

Zaro Agha comes to a country which, in many ways is suspicious of the claims of men of other nations. He may expect our senate to investigate the story he is 156 or to hear assertions that once in his lifetime, when he was a mere lad of 80 or 90, he did sneak into his innards a concoction fortified with alcohol. So must he be trained to the ordeal of the camera and the talkies, be prepared to endorse this and that, and speak before the civic organizations. Zaro Agha may even discover the falsity of the old assertion that the first hundred years are the hardest.

Free and Easy

San Diego Union

The railroads are making headway in accident prevention. Industry is making progress in this work. The motoring public lags far behind. The reason is not far to seek. In industry there are specific objectives in view, and there is authority charged with accomplishing them. Obstacles must be ironed out. For the motoring public, though, neither corrective exists. Much of the traffic movement is relatively aimless—i. e., without fixed schedules, required hours of operation, mileage and the like. Each driver is his own authority. If the toll of traffic is to be cut down, the public will have to submit to a more stringent control.

Liberty is a fine thing, in principle, but surprisingly few individuals are fit to be trusted with it.

A Little Mistake Some Parents Are Apt To Make!

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

ANDEAN ANTIS

The Incas, I always believed,
Ruled a great and glorious nation,
Which high in the Andes achieved
A marvelous civilization,
And built many fine and imposing abodes,
On the tall South American ridges
Constructing great temples, and hard surfaced roads
And infinite numbers of bridges.

I suppose that this primitive race
Must possess a great deal of good sense,
And be free from the tiniest trace
Of our latter day sham and pretense.
But though in the making of statutes and laws
Their leaders were highly prolific,
I can give them small credit for morals, because
They invented a snake-bite specific.

A snake bite specific indeed!
We used to beg that—with a wink—
Whenever we felt in the need
Of beverage known as strong drink.
After law put intoxicants under the ban
And a thirst for a nip of them racked us,
We used to declare to the grocery man
That an adder or asp had attacked us.

If these Incas put up the same plea
As these recent disclosures have shown,
They were not a bit better than we,
For they must have laws like our own.
In an eager attempt to get power and votes
The Incan Congressmen made them,
And then, when a dryness rose up in their throats,
They hit on a scheme to evade them.

Why Is the Stock Market Weak?

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

What is the cause of the latest slump in the stock market? It is chiefly the fact that business has dragged along so many months at ten per cent below normal, with no convincing sign of an up-turn.

What, then, is the trouble with business? Chiefly a lack of buyers.

Why does business lack buyers? Chiefly because the flow of money to consumers has not kept up with the flow of consumers' goods.

Consumption has been falling off for many months, and consumption regulates production. That is necessarily so, because the end of all economic activity is consumption. All our elaborate agencies of production and distribution exist for that sole purpose. Wheat is not raised to fill warehouses; goods are not assembled to stock shops; ships are not built to rot in shipyards. Money spent by consumers, therefore, is the force that keeps the wheels of industry moving.

Current consumption is the chief incentive to current production; deficiency of current consumer buying is the chief cause of unemployment. Failure of consumers to buy summer goods checks the production of fall goods, not only because it dsipels confidence, but also because it ties up capital.

In other words, production looks to distribution for its regulator; and distribution in turn is regulated by the flow of money through consumers' markets.

This flow of money, therefore, is the most fundamental of the many factors that have caused the present business depression.

There is no doubt that people would buy, and continue to buy, a constantly increasing volume of goods, if they had the money; and there is no doubt that producers would provide the goods, and keep employment at a maximum, if they were sure that an increased flow of money to consumers would match the increased flow of goods into consumers' markets. See that the consumers have enough money to consume, and producers can easily get enough money to produce; but the reverse is not true.

Everything we can do right now to increase consumer buying will help us out of the present depression. Scarcely anything else is of any help whatever.

Little Benny's Note Book by Lee Pape

Sunday afternoon pop was writing a letter at ma's desk in the living room and I was wawking around trying to see how neer I could come to tripping over things without axualy falling over them, and pop sed, Halt, ceese firing. What's the good of my trying to concentrate with this sort of thing going on? Now you may make your selection between leeving the room indefinitely or sitting perfeckly still for 5 minnits, he sed. Although I have serious doubts as to weather it is a fizzical possibility for a boy of your age to sit perfeckly still for 5 minnits, he sed.

I bet I can, pop, I bet it would be a cintch for me, I sed, and pop sed, Well then partly in the intrist of science and partly in the intrist of this letter, I wish you would make the ixperiment.

Wich I started to, sititng on one of the narrow chairs with the skinny legs and folding my arms and not even hardly winking my eyes. Being pritty easy for about a minnit and then getting harder nad harder and almost impossible, and pop sed, Is there anybody remarkable up there on the ceeling?

No sir, I sed, and pop sed, Well then whats the ideer of looking around up there like a dubble jointed astronomer on the trale of a new planet?

And he kepp on writing and I stopped looking up at the ceeling and pritty soon he sed, Do your legs and arms and ribs itch?

No sir, I sed, and he sed, Well then why scratch them?

I wasent exackly scratching them, I sed, and pop sed, O, it mut of been somebody elts.

And he started to write again, and I moved ferther and ferther tords the frunt edge of the chair, and all of a sudden I fell off on account of the chair losing its ballents, pop saying, That will do, the ixperiment was very successful, it has proved my claim exackly.

Wich maybe he cant.

Improvements that will cost $5000 will be started Monday by the Odd Fellows' lodge upon its building on Main street between Third and Fourth streets.

The Misses Helen Sylvester, Arvilla Ball, Muriel Lee, Ramona Clevenger, Elizabeth Givens and Helen Remsberg were those present at a club party given by Mrs. George Faul jr. yesterday afternoon.

One hundred and ninety-two building permits were issued between January 1 and June 30,, this year, 48 of which were for new residences.

Last year 90,000 tons of beets were handled at the Los Alamitos factory, which will be the first to start the season's grind, and has been thoroughly overhauled for the four and one-half months of continuous day and night work.

C. M. Jordan is erecting for J. P. Baumgartner, on West Eighteenth street, a six-room bungalow, with open plumbing, built-in buffet, bookcases, hardwood floors, and every modern convenience.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

UNFINISHED BUSINESS

We have done a magnificent job in the protection and promotion of public health.

But despite the doing of this magnificent job there is a staggering amount of unfinished business in this field.

In addressing the spring meeting of the Committee on the Costs of Medical Care, Ray Lyman Wilbur, the secretary of the interior, presented a challenging list of unnecessary diseases that are persistent in national life.

I commend this list for the careful consideration of the nation:

"One million persons are sick with malaria each year. We know that we do not have to have malaria if we want to pay the price to get rid of it, and that price is practically one of dollars. It does not take very much skill in most cases.

"Seven hundred thousand persons are sick with tuberculosis at any one time, most of it preventable.

"Four million persons in the south a few years ago were affected by hookworm disease. There are probably not so many now; they have more shoes, and more of other things there now. But the number affected is still great.

"Thousands of women are sterile or semi-invalids because of gonorrhea. There is much paralysis, locomotor ataxia and mental disease, and there are many handicapped children because of syphilis. All this is correctible, and should be corrected. It is a scientific error, if not a crime, for a child to be born with congenital syphilis.

"We still have 30,000 to 100,000 cases of smallpox each year, in spite of the work of Jenner. Of course that is just plain, outright carelessness and ignorance.

"We have had approximately 26,000 cases and 5700 deaths due to typhoid fever. These were the figures for 1928. They would not be greatly different now. Typhoid fever, of course, is another preventable disease.

"There were about 90,000 cases and 8300 deaths due to diphtheria in 1928. In the case of this disease, also, but little improvement has been made during the past few years. Diphtheria still claims its regular number of little children. Were the skill of organization shown by some of the health departments applied very generally throughout the country, there would be immediately a marked and rapid reduction in cases and deaths.

"People suffer much unnecessary pain because of their failure to visit a dentist regularly; and many obscure disorders are due to bad teeth. Probably not more than 20 per cent of the people go periodically to dentists for examination and repair; most of them go only for the relief of pain."

Until this unfinished business is completed, we should feel ourselves under indictment for criminal negligence.

OUR CHILDREN

WORK FOR OUR CHILDREN

Children must be occupied completely if they are to grow wholesomely. In early years play ought to supply that occupation but as they grow older work gradually edges in and play changes into some kind of self activity, some kind of serious occupation. If that change does not begin in adolescence the child is in danger.

Now it is not possible for a child to change his nature overnight. We often say, "And suddenly he changed." No change is sudden. The roots of the growth that the change indicates, are very deep and took a long time to grow. This change of play to work, this change from rather aimless activity to purposeful activity, did not come, cannot come, without a series of experiences that led to and encouraged the growth.

Children are thoughtless. They can live in a household seething with jobs under way, jobs waiting to be done, ojbs everywhere, and never lift a hand to help. Their attention must be directed to them. When you are doing anything about the house and the small boy or girl stops to watch, explain what it is you are doing and press them into service for a short time. Gradually increase the time and vary the experience until the child can do that one thing independently.

It is astonishing how soon one well-set activity helps to engender another, how soon one mind of power will give a child a start on the next. Very soon the child is useful and able to carry some bit of responsibility confidently and well. This is necessary for the next phase of growth. It is not easy to work with a child hanging to you but that is the way one has to work if one has children.

Indeed, the children often supply the motive for the working. Then let them have their share in the work that means so much to their growth and their intelligence.

All opportunities for useful work did not pass with the passing of the country home. The city and town-home offer work, and good work for children. It will train a girl's hand and mind to run a vacuum cleaner, thoroughly cleaning a room, floor and walls, cushions and cracks. Nor will it hurt a boy any to clean and polish a car. And answering the telephone, keeping a bathroom bright, polishing faucets and mirrors, bringing in the newspapers and the milk, attending to waste papers and washing the bottles, are good beginnings for serious work. It is not necessary that work be labor. It should be real, it should mean something to the family, it should count.

It is rarely wise to pay a child for work done about the house. Better give him his allowance and teach him to use it in wise spending, but permit him to earn money outside the home so soon as possible. Work for strangers is worthy of pay. Work for the family is the labor of love and service and no money can pay for that.

But watch to make certain that play is merging into work so that when the great urge for personal expression and personal experience is upon the child, he will not be found with the hands and vague desires for achievement of an infant.

Guide him a little and he will prepare himself for the working days ahead.

ANNEXATION OF HAWAII

On July 7, 1898, the United States annexed the Hawaiian Islands in response to an appeal made by leading residents.

The first appeal for annexation was rejected by President Cleveland but President McKinley approved the second. The move for annexation was launched by the progressive party, consisting of Americans and the better elements among the foreigners and natives who were displeased with the existing government. They objected chiefly to the reign of Queen Liliuokalani who sought to nullify the constitution and secure absolute power. The queen was ultimately deposed and a provisional governmen: organized.

After the United States sent commissioners to the island to investigate conditions it was decided at first not to interfere. This heartened the deposed queen to seek a restoration but when she refused to grant a general amnesty this country proceeded to carry out the annexation.

In 1900 the islands were formally organized into the territory of Hawaii, and a territorial governor was appointed by the president.
